CORRIGAN'S STORY OF FLIGHT

MORGAN AT TVA QUIZ CLASHES WITH ENGINEER

Tells of Long Feud Over Policies.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., July 18.—[Special.]—Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed head of the Tennessee Valley authority, today started his testimony before a congressional committee. He asserted that differences between him and his fellow directors, Harcourt A. Morgan and David Lilienthal, became acute less than a month after TVA was formed in 1933.

Dr. Morgan said that his efforts to prevent real estate exploitation and his anxiety to hurry up the valley authority's activities were regarded by his associates as visionary. He added that he wanted speed, in line with President Roosevelt's emergency relief program, but that the others demanded a long range program.

"We were far apart in philosophy," he declared.

Reads Letter of Protest.

The hearing was marked by a clash between Dr. Morgan and Thomas A. Panter of Los Angeles, who has been chosen chief engineer for the investigating committee. The ousted chairman had protested, in a letter presented to the investigators, that Panter's appointment was improper. This letter was entered into the record before he took the stand.

In it Dr. Morgan said that Panter has been working under E. F. Scattergood, general manager of the Los Angeles power system, and that Scattergood had written letters scolding him and upholding Lilienthal.

"I have never met Mr. Panter," Dr. Morgan then testified, "but certain very controversial questions are to be presented and in the technical phases of investigation this committee must depend on its engineer."

Once Worked for TVA.

Dr. Morgan said that Panter's superior and two of his subordinates had worked for TVA and that Panter served with the rural electrification administration. He said it was his understanding that Panter represented the REA in its relations with TVA, but that he was willing to be corrected on that.

Panter, who was present, asked to be allowed to make a statement. The request was granted.

"I was four months with REA," he said, "but had no connection with TVA. I'm willing to be criticized, but does a man have to be a yes-man?"

Insists He's Unprejudiced.

"No man can control my opinions," asserted Panter. "I have my own personality, which I shall always defend. Any judgment I make will be my own. I met Mr. Lilienthal just once, and I am not beholden to Mr. Scattergood in any way. His place is appointive; mine is civil service."

It was Dr. Morgan's contention that the committee must decide the value of the TVA yardstick for private power rates, and that a thoroughly unprejudiced engineer is need as adviser.

The former chairman said that in the early TVA days he had visited Scattergood, who had been mentioned for a TVA post, but after making inquiries he decided he should not be appointed. He added that Director Lilienthal had sought to have Scattergood appointed as consultant. Scattergood himself, Dr. Morgan declared, had asked to be appointed "a sort of special agent for the President."

Tells of TVA Aims.

Harcourt Morgan, who now is TVA chairman, appeared before the committee at the start of the hearing. He read a statement of the TVA aims in which he said the President was guided by Providence when he selected the Tennessee valley for a vast federal experiment in social and economic planning. He dwelt on soil erosion, took up flood control and navigation, national defense and hydro-electric power. He avoided reference to any difficulties with Dr. Arthur Morgan. The TVA, he said, was designed to cure a "cancerous growth which must affect the entire national well being."

Questioned, Harcourt Morgan said he was Canadian born, but was naturalized before he was appointed director of TVA. He also testified he was not interested in any fertilizer plant of company whose business might be injured by TVA.

QUEEN MARIE OF RUMANIA DIES IN HER 63D YEAR

Rare Malady Fatal; King at Bedside.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 18.—Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania, once widely entertained in the United States, died today at her summer residence. The queen mother, who was 62 years old, had been seriously ill for a year with a rare form of cirrhosis of the liver. The royal physicians said only about fifty such cases have come to the attention of medical science. She died in the same bed where her husband, King Ferdinand, died in 1927.

King Carol was at his mother's bedside when she died. Prime Minister Miron Cristea, who also is patriarch of the Rumanian Orthodox church, celebrated mass in the palace chapel immediately. The flag was lowered to half staf on all public buildings.

Many private residences displayed signs of mourning. Bells of churches and monasteries tolled the news of the bereavement to the nation. Music was forbidden all over the land. All places of amusement were ordered closed.

Expresses Love for People.

In a last message the dying queen reminded her people of the "love and confidence which have united us for so many years." Rumanians — from prince to peasant — loved the queen particularly for her Rumanian outlook and sympathies despite her Russian blood and English birthright.

It was announced she will be buried beside King Ferdinand in the Curcia de Argesh church, where all former rulers of Rumania have been laid to rest.

Queen Marie had made a valiant fight for health. Only last Saturday she returned to a ceremonious welcome from a sanitarium at Dresden, Germany. Yesterday she suffered a serious relapse and physicians revealed she had suffered a hemorrhage. When another occurred today the prime minister-patriarch administered extreme unction. She died at 11:25 a. m. [Chicago time].

"A MODERN QUEEN."

The English born Dowager Queen Marie, widely acclaimed at the height of her power in Rumania for her beauty, resourcefulness, and versatility, had been called the world's most striking example of a modern queen. Although regarded as a democratic and "human" sovereign, she wielded during the reign of her husband, King Ferdinand, an influence such as few royal consorts attain.

Her great interest in Rumania, her adopted country, and its development began when she took up her residence in the kingdom after her marriage to Ferdinand when he was still a prince.

It was during the world war, however, and the troublesome years after the conflict that Queen Marie by her conspicuous activities attained international prominence. Ferdinand, who had been a prince of the house of Hohenzollern, ascended the Rumanian throne in 1914. His queen was a former princess of Great Britain.

Sways Momentous Decision.

At the outbreak of the war the king announced that Rumania would remain neutral unless attacked, but his government's sympathy in the conflict was indicated when the king was shouted down during a speech from the throne in November, 1915.

Early in the next year the kaiser sent a note to King Ferdinand declaring his intention to send a special envoy to Rumania relative to the latter's position in the war. A few days later Rumania entered the conflict on the side of the allies by declaring war against Austria. That decision was said to have been influenced by Queen Marie.

After two years of fighting two-thirds of Rumania was overrun by the enemy. The country cut off from outside aid, was forced to accept drastic peace terms sent by Germany with an ultimatum that they be accepted in 24 hours.

Leads Move to Reënter War.

Queen Marie insisted that she never would recognize the treaty that had been forced upon her country and immediately took the lead in a movement to have Rumania reënter the war on the side of the allies. With the collapse of the German army on the western front a few months later the treaty that forced Rumania out of the war became ineffective.

During the war the queen was ac-

Surface Lines Told to Settle Row or Be Sold

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

The Chicago Surface Lines were warned yesterday that neither the city nor the federal court will stand for further delay in the cleaning up of Chicago's traction ordinance muddle.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson issued a strongly worded memorandum which in effect was an ultimatum. He indicated that unless the car lines settle their differences with the city by next September the properties will be put on the block at a foreclosure sale.

City Firm in Its Demands.

As Judge Wilkerson issued his statement, receivers and attorneys for the surface lines were attending a city hall hearing on a proposed new temporary franchise to replace the old 1907 ordinances which expired last Friday. They were told that the city is going ahead with a proposed ordinance requiring the street car companies to pay compensation for the use of Chicago's streets and that the city will ask the court to order the receivers to accept it.

Judge Wilkerson fixed Sept. 26 as the date on which he would determine his course in disposing of the surface lines receivership. Walter A. Shaw, his traction adviser, is under instructions to bring in on that date a plan for unification of the street railways, elevated and motor coach companies.

The court reviewed the eleven year receivership of the car lines. The extended litigation was permitted, he said, only on representations that the case should be held up as a unification settlement was being worked out.

Liquidation Threat Hurled.

Now, he continued, there must be some action. Either the surface lines must work out a settlement with the city or the court will proceed to liquidate the properties.

He warned that a satisfactory reorganization of the properties can be brought about only through an agreement with the city.

"Litigation over real or imaginary rights of the companies under the ordinances which have expired can result in nothing but disaster to junior security holders and injury to the public which is entitled to good transportation," he said.

"This court cannot be used indefinitly as a shield behind which these utilities may carry on their warfare

POLAR BEAR DROWNS; STRANGE DEATH DUE TO CHILD'S RUBBER TOY

Although polar bears spend more time in the water than out of it, Silver, a six year old male at Lincoln park zoo, drowned yesterday afternoon.

The bear, weighing about 500 pounds, fell into the pool as a result of a sudden convulsion, during which he dashed against the iron bars of his enclosure and stunned himself. Before attendants could reach him, he had drowned.

An autopsy revealed a rubber ball, three inches in diameter, in his stomach. It no doubt caused the convulsion, Director Floyd Young said, and probably would have caused Silver's eventual death even if he had not fallen into the pool.

QUITS WEED AT 4; SHUNS DRINK 'TIL 91—IS SPRY AT 94

Rollin B. Organ, 920 East 44th street, who served as coxswain on a Union gunboat at the siege of Vicksburg, will celebrate his 94th birthday today.

Still able to play an exciting game of billiards, Mr. Organ, now the last surviving member of Farragut post of the G. A. R., traces his good health to an abstemious life. He forswore tobacco at the age of four, he says, and took up liquor three years ago, but only light wines upon his physician's orders.

Mr. Organ enlisted at the beginning of the civil war at a recruiting station where the Merchandise Mart now stands. He was wounded during the Red river campaign of 1864, but his happiest memory of the '60s is the three day trip he made on a wood-burning train at the close of the war to see Lincoln. His round trip fare from Rock Island to Washington, he recalled, was $12.

He will celebrate at a dinner tonight in the home of Dr. William R. Cubbins, 425 Arlington place.

Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt Jr. Enters Lying-in Hospital

Philadelphia, Pa., July 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the former Ethel du Pont, was admitted to the Pennsylvania Lying-in hospital today. She was brought to the hospital by her husband, the third son of President and Mrs. Roosevelt. Mrs. Roosevelt has been staying recently at the home of her parents at Owl's Nest, near Wilmington, Del., where she was married on June 30, last year. President and Mrs. Roosevelt now have seven grandchildren.

King's Doctor Aids Defense in Baby Case

LONDON, July 18.—(AP)—Baron Horder, physician to King George VI., tonight headed a brilliant array of medical men backing Dr. Alack William Bourne, one of London's foremost obstetricians, in his trial for keeping a young assault victim, 15 years old, from motherhood.

Testifying in a test case through which medical circles hoped to bring more liberal legislation, Horder defended on humanitarian grounds the operation performed by Dr. Bourne. Admitting it was unusual for him to express an opinion without examining the patient, the famous physician said "as far as I can judge . . . the factions would have led me to the same conclusion as Dr. Bourne."

Arranged Own Prosecution.

Dr. Bourne, accused of performing an illegal operation on the young girl, victim of assault by soldiers, deliberately sought prosecution in an effort to liberalize medical laws. London's most fashionable physicians and socialites jammed Old Bailey court for the trial.

Other of Dr. Bourne's colleagues supported his contention that while the operation was not necessary to save the girl's life, it was justified for the sake of her mental condition and future. The jury includes two women.

Dr. Bourne disclosed in his testimony that he had performed a similar operation in 1935 on another 15 year old girl and that the house surgeon refused to assist him. He said he decided that on the next occasion he would get a court ruling.

"That's why we are here," Dr. Bourne said.

Life Not at Stake.

Attorney General Sir Donald Somervell said that if the operation involved the question of life or death for the girl he would not regard it as an offense under the law. Dr. Bourne admitted this was not the case, but said he believed the girl's nervous system would have been greatly affected without the operation.

"When I am speaking of derangement of the nervous system," Dr. Bourne said, "I know, and most medical men know, that it sooner or later would undermine her physical health and produce symptoms which might wreck her whole life."

Three troopers were jailed June 30 as a result of the attack. One was sentenced to four years' penal servitude for assault, one got four years for abetting the assault, and the third was imprisoned for twenty-two months for attempted assault.

NONE KNEW HIM SUNDAY; NOW ALL OFFER THEIR AID

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Here are some lately discovered facts about an audacious young airman who became famous overnight by breaking all the rules in his flight from New York to Dublin:

The Advertising Club of New York offered to pay expenses for Douglas Corrigan's return from Europe—by boat. . . .

William B. Leeds, the tinplate king, upon discovering Corrigan once worked for him as a mechanic, telephoned his European representative to go at once to Ireland and help him out of any difficulties encountered. . . .

Oil companies' representatives scrambled all over Floyd Bennett field attempting to discover whether Corrigan used their products. . . . He used several brands of fuel and lubrication. . . . One had offered five gallons of oil if Corrigan would sign a release permitting use of his name in advertising. . . . Corrigan refused, offered to pay for the oil and got it free. . . .

American Air Lines has a contract which would have paid Corrigan $500 to fly its line one trip, making all stops, in his old plane, if he completed the transcontinental round trip from New York to California nonstop. . . .

He skipped a radio rehersal scheduled for Sunday afternoon when he was far out over the Atlantic. . . .

Corrigan got his weather reports out of a Saturday evening newspaper, just like you and me. . . .

After the bureau of air commerce refused him permission to fly the ocean last summer, he spent some time in New England, as far up as Maine, unsuccessfully seeking a field for a quiet takeoff against the rules. . . .

After reading that Howard Hughes' motors heated up on the round-the-world flight, Corrigan punched two extra holes in the cowling of his crate near the magnetos. . . .

He purchased two five cent boxes of cookies in a restaurant as supplies Saturday afternoon. . . . His daily menu as reconstructed by pals around the hotdog stands: Breakfast—glass of water; lunch—chocolate bar with nuts; supper—two hotdogs [with mustard] and a candy bar for dessert.

The nameless, obsolete crate that Douglas P. [Nonstop] Corrigan jockeyed overseas to Ireland once had a name—"Sunshine."

Friends at Roosevelt field here gibed at him about having no name for his $900 aerial jallopy until one day last summer he barnstormed in and displayed a neatly lettered "Sunshine" on the fuselage. It was copied off a billboard advertisment.

When Nonstop ferried his ship in to New York from Long Beach, Cal., more than a week ago on his 5,850 mile one stop flight from California to Ireland the name was gone and the flyer grinned:

"It rained like hell everywhere I went last summer."

TELLS HOW HE FLEW TO DUBLIN IN $900 'CRATE'

CORRIGAN IN PICTURES.

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Ireland, July 18.—Douglas G. Corrigan, the 31 year old airplane mechanic from Los Angeles who flew the Atlantic alone by "mistake," was the guest of the United States legation here tonight. Meanwhile all Irishmen acclaimed his feat and chuckled over the story he told with a twinkle in his eye.

"I thought I was going to California," he repeated time and again.

Corrigan slept at the legation, the guest of John Cudahy, the United States minister. What his future plans are he just does not know. With only $15 and no wardrobe, he retired weary but quietly happy, not so much in his own personal achievement as that of his single motor plane.

He'll Return by Boat.

One thing was decided. Corrigan is not going to attempt to return to New York in the $900 nine year old "crate" which he flew 3,150 miles across the ocean in 28 hours and 13 minutes. He's going to return by boat.

Corrigan had arrived in New York on July 9 after a 2,700 mile flight from Los Angeles in 27 hours 50 minutes. He was little noticed in the stir attending Howard Hughes' flight around the world. Early yesterday he loaded his high wing monoplane with 350 gallons of gasoline and told Floyd Bennett airport officials he intended to fly back to Los Angeles. He took off at 4:17 a. m., Chicago time, and with no permit for a long distance flight or for a landing in Ireland.

A Little Grease Only Need.

"I'm Douglas Corrigan. Just got in from New York," he told astounded Baldonnel airport officials as he landed here at 2:30 p. m. [8:30 a. m. Chicago time] today. That was the first news that another American had flown the Atlantic solo.

The officials asked so many questions they almost forgot to ask him for his landing papers.

"Forget it," he grinned when they did get around to that. "Really, I thought I was going to California."

He patted his Curtiss Robin plane and said, "All she needs is a little grease and she could fly back again."

"I think my trip from California to New York was a bigger thing, it was much more dangerous," he commented as if minimizing his long lone flight over the Atlantic. He had no radio or maps, and only a few instruments.

He Explains the "Accident."

Corrigan's explanation of the "accident" that landed him in Ireland instead of California was that he had a magnetic compass and made a mistake when he set it on the course to be followed. It was an easy mistake to fly backwards on the course he intended to take, he said, and claimed that is what happened.

"When I left New York I had to run about 2,500 feet to take off. It was slow business, but I got off without a hitch. When up about 5,000 feet I came into a bank of clouds. For almost twenty-six hours I was in the clouds all the time at an altitude of 5,000 to 6,000 feet.

"There was some rain but no icing conditions. Taken all in all, it wasn't a tough hop, especially when you consider there's more than 1,000 hours on that Wright J-6. [He referred to his 175 horse power engine.] Only complaint I'd make was that we had a little drift.

Catches Glimpse of Water.

"It was impossible to try to get my bearings from anything around me so I flew by compass and only came down to 1,500 feet when I ran into rain. I caught a glimpse of water then, but rose back to 5,000 feet. The light was good when I came down again and the first thing I saw were fishing boats, but even then I thought I was off the Pacific coast.

"About a half hour later I sighted land. Then when I saw the layout of the country—little white houses dotted here and there and mountains that were not rugged enough for California—I realized it did not look like what it should look like to me.

"I realized then that I was over Ireland and that the old compass had let me down—or rather that I had done it by making that initial mistake. After studying the contours I decided I probably was over the northern part."

He knew the Irish coast, he explained, because he had studied maps of it a year ago when he intended to make a flight to Ireland. Authorities twice refused him a permit for the flight.

Passes Up Two Airports.

"I reckoned I knew where Baldonnel lay and headed for it," he said. He had passed over two landing fields because he said they "didn't look big enough for Baldonnel."

"I kept on over land and hit water again. Then I decided to hug the coastline until I struck some big town. The old bus was running fine and I had no worries, though feeling just a little sleepy and deaf from the noise of the engine.

"Along the coast I sighted several small towns, but kept on until I came over a city. It took me some time coasting around to find this airdrome. The plane came down nicely and here I am."

He had about 30 gallons of gasoline left when he landed.

That his whole flight was illegal did not appear to worry Corrigan. He had broken American regulations at the takeoff and he broke Irish regulations by landing without a passport. To the people who greeted him in Dublin tonight this was only a minor detail—the name of Corrigan and his long shot gamble with death were good enough for the authorities.

Regards Hop as Another Flight.

Surrounded by a battery of cameramen and newspaper men at the American legation the slim, small set lad in his oil stained gray pants, lether jacket and open necked gray shirt, had no idea of posing as a figure of world importance in the news. He regarded his hop as just another flight.

"Yes, I feel all right, in fact fine," he said. "Not a bit tired. I had something to eat during the hop. Two boxes of fig bars, so I'm not hungry. I had two chocolate bars, too, but the fig bars were all I wanted. I still have the chocolate bars. I had some water, too.

"That was a swell job of navigation you did," he was told. "No—o, it wasn't. Just dumb luck I got here. Say—I told you I was going to California. That wasn't very good navigating when you're going to California and land in Ireland. I was just dumb luck.

Takes Extra Flying Lessons.

"The bureau of air commerce turned me down twice when I asked for permission to make a trans-Atlantic hop. Once they said I needed some blind flying, so I learned that. Then they said I didn't have tanks big enough. So I put these tanks in myself. I'm a welder as well as a mech [mechanic].

"No, I'm not married, not engaged and got no girl.

"Where did I make my landfall on the Irish coast? I don't know. I didn't have a map. I guess I'll look that up. My folks came from Northern Ireland, but I happened to land in Dublin because it was the first big town I saw.

"No, I haven't the exact figure, but the trip here cost me about $69, for gas and oil. There wasn't anything else; $69 would cover it all."

Sighted Once on Trip.

The first intimation of Corrigan's whereabouts today was at 7:08 a. m. [Chicago time], when he flew over Belfast. Officials of Belfast harbor airport noticed its American registration markings. But they were unaware of a trans-Atlantic hop and did not immediately report his arrival.

Veterans flyers said Corrigan's feat was accomplished against odds of 100 to 1. He apparently had aimed straight and unerringly for the goal he long had cherished.

CORRIGAN MADE A LIFE MEMBER OF LIARS' CLUB

Burlington, Wis., July 18.—(AP)—O. C. Hulett, president of the Burlington Liars' club, solemnly affirmed he was telling the truth tonight when he said Aviator Douglas Corrigan, who flew to Ireland under his avowed belief he was headed for California, had been made a life member of the club.

"After the one he pulled," Hulett said, "I think he deserves it. Anyway, it's a good story."

Corrigan, when he landed in Ireland, said, "I thought it was California all the time, until I saw your mountains here."

Hulett declared Corrigan is automatically qualified as an entrant for the 1939 liars' marathon, decided next New Year's day. Liars' club members receive a card giving them license and recognition of superior ability.

CORRIGAN BROKE LAW BUT—AIR CHIEF IS IRISH

Officials Seem Willing to Forgive Flyer.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—A man named Mulligan was torn between pride and duty today on learning that a broth of a lad named Corrigan had flown the Atlantic to Dublin in an old "crate."

The first reaction of Denis Mulligan, chief of the air commerce bureau, on hearing the news, was joy and he gave vent to it with a hearty exclamation "it's a great day for the Irish!"

But Mulligan was a bit flabbergasted when, as head of a government bureau, he remembered that Corrigan had no permit to fly the Atlantic, no passport, no visa—that, in fact, the whole flight was a jaunty, nose thumbing gesture toward federal authority.

May Forgive and Forget.

It was apparent that Mulligan's impulse was to forgive and forget, but he couldn't quite bring himself to say so. He said something about "considering the case." The maximum penalty for flying the ocean without a permit is a $500 fine and loss of pilot's license, but it was indicated that Corrigan's punishment, if any, would be nothing so severe as that.

Officials of the air commerce bureau expressed fervent hope that Corrigan, having accomplished his feat safely, would not try to fly back, and they warned other flyers of trying to emulate him.

Must Return Plane Quickly.

Whether or not he flies back, Corrigan will have to return his plane to this country quickly, or be liable to prosecution under the national munitions control act. This act requires that a permit be obtained from the national munitions control board of the state department before any airplane, military or civil, can be exported.

Exportation of an airplane may be made either by sending it by boat, or train, or by flying it.

State Department Silent.

The state department is taking no action in Corrigan's case, although he apparently left the United States without a passport. The department said this was not actionable and that he could be granted a passport even while abroad.

Corrigan holds both pilot's and mechanic's licenses and has also been given the air commerce bureau's instrument flying and flight instructor ratings. He obtained his first license in 1928 and his transport license in 1929. Bureau records show that as of June this year he had 1,200 hours in the air to his credit.

GETS AIR DOPE FROM RUTH NICHOLS, THEN FLIES THE OTHER WAY

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Douglas Corrigan, the sly, shy trans-Atlantic crate flyer, listened solemnly when told how to fly home to Long Beach, Cal., before his "compass went wrong" and he landed in Ireland.

The advice was imparted by Ruth Nichols of Rye, N. Y., who has a monopoly on women's flying records in the United States.

Last week, she disclosed today, she approached Corrigan, who had worked as a mechanic here on the plane she flew on transcontinental speed flights in 1931, admonished him to "be careful" flying over the mountains and insisted that he take along her parachute.

Corrigan promised to be careful, but refused the 'chute. Like all other confidantes of the airman, she was dumfounded today to learn he had spanned the north Atlantic. She cabled:

"So you didn't need my parachute. Have been wanting to fly that route impromptu myself. Much congratulation."

CORRIGAN FLIGHT MADE IN FACE OF ALL THE 'DON'TS'

Stands Out for Disregard of Usual Precautions.

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—The annals of aviation since the barnstorming days of the post-war period—when pilots mended their rickety craft with friction tape, string, and baling wire—show no such ill-equipped machines or haphazard plans for a long flight as that of the hop to Ireland completed today by Douglas P. Corrigan.

Of more than 125 successful and unsuccessful expeditions over the North Atlantic since 1919, the Corrigan flight is one of eight solo attempts. Several others were planned but never left the ground.

The most amazing part of the Corrigan flight, coming as it did close on the heels of the Howard Hughes flight around the world, is its sharp contrast to that record making aerial expedition. Hughes took advantage of every known scientific development while Corrigan ignored the most fundamental aviation safety precautions.

Sixth West-East Solo.

Even the experimental days of 1927, when the best known pilots in the country tested their craft for months and awaited weather for weeks, can be regarded as "scientific" when compared with Corrigan's nonchalant hop over the Atlantic to become the sixth to make the solo crossing from west to east. In the reverse direction only two—Capt. James A. Mollison and Mrs. Beryl Markham, both of Great Britain—were successful.

On May 22, 1927, Charles A. Lindbergh staggered off from Roosevelt field, N. Y., and landed 33½ hours later in Paris. Lindbergh, a close student of aeronautical development, had the plane built specially for the task.

The subsequent flights of Chamberlan and Levine, Admiral Byrd and his crew, Williams and Yancey, the three French flyers, Assolant, Lefevre, and Lotti; Lou Gordon, Wilmer Stultz, and Amelia Earhart, all made aviation news and records.

Ignored All Data.

The data collected from all the flights was compiled carefully and consulted by the others who followed them. According to information available here today, Corrigan ignored the data and left for Europe on a weather report for the middle west and the Pacific coast.

The five who preceded Corrigan alone over the ocean were Lindbergh, in 1927; Amelia Earhart, who in 1932 flew from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to Londonderry, Ireland, where she was forced down; James Mattern, who went in 1933 from New York to Norway on the first leg of an unsuccessful assault on the round the world record of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty; Post himself, who lowered that record the same year and flew from New York to Berlin in 25 hours and 45 minutes, and Felix Waitkus, who in 1935 was forced down at Ballinrobe, Ireland, on an attempt to fly nonstop from New York to Lithuania.

Two Flights Compared.

Lindbergh, after months of preparation backed by a powerful group of St. Louis boosters and aided by the best aeronautical and meteorological brains in the country, competed for the Orteig prize of $25,000 for the first flight to Paris. Corrigan, without any previous preparation in public, had no prize offer and left without an Atlantic weather report, a passport, or even a flying permit.

Lindbergh's airplane, built especially for the task, cost more than $13,000. Corrigan used a second hand commercial type which was copied from the average plane of 1927, when Lindbergh flew, and had only what structural improvements had been made up to 1930. Lindbergh carried 451 gallons of fuel, Corrigan 320.

For navigating Lindbergh used an earth inductor compass, believed in 1927 to be the final word in accuracy. Corrigan used only an old spirit compass and relied on torn pages from an Atlas for maps. Neither had any radio aids. The cruising speeds of the two airplanes were within a few miles of each other.

HUGHES' FLIGHT AID SAYS 'IT'S CRAZY, BUT DAMNED GOOD FLYING'

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—"Very remarkable," was the comment of Howard Hughes, world champion globe girdler, when asked for comment today on the flight of Douglas P. Corrigan alone from New York to Ireland.

Harry P. M. Connor, navigator of Howard Hughes' round the world plane, said the flight to Ireland was "plain crazy but damned good flying."

Commander George F. Chapline, vice president of the Wright Areonautical corporation in Patterson, N. J., builders of the engine in Corrigan's plane, said he could see nothing foolish in the flight, but that its suddenness had taken away the breaths of more experienced pilots. Commander Chapline was formerly one of the leading pilots of the naval air service.

Italian Riviera Is Shaken by a Strong Earthquake

MILAN, Italy, July 19.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—The Italian Riviera and Piedmont mountain section were shaken by a strong earthquake which sent thousands of persons fleeing into the streets early today.

AIRPORT HEADS SURPRISED THAT SHIP WOULD FLY

Corrigan's Old Robin Is Heavily Overloaded.

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Aviation circles today hailed the flight of Douglas Corrigan to Ireland as one of the most remarkable in all the history of trans-Atlantic aviation, because of the conditions under which he flew.

Heretofore, considerable ballyhoo and the most careful preparations have preceded the flights—even the bad ones that ended in silence somewhere in mid-Atlantic. This time, there was no more preparation than an ordinary pilot would give to a casual hop of a few hundred miles, so far as observers at Floyd Bennett field knew.

There wasn't much excitement when Corrigan arrived here nine days ago after a nonstop flight of 2,700 miles from Los Angeles, any more than there was when the unknown Lindbergh flew in from San Diego to Roosevelt field in 1927 to join the squadron of pilots then awaiting good weather reports to attempt an Atlantic crossing for a $25,000 prize.

Denied Clearance in Dark.

Saturday night Corrigan showed up at the air field and took a nap on a cot. After a few hours he got up and started preparations to leave about 2 a. m. But Kenneth Behr, head of the airport, wouldn't permit the risk of a hop until dawn. The plane was overloaded with 320 gallons of gasoline, and many persons at the field doubted that Corrigan could get it into the air. The fire department and crash wagons were sent to the end of the runway.

Corrigan taxied 3,000 feet and the plane lifted. Airport attendants waited for it to bank and head southward, as Corrigan had indicated that he intended to fly to Los Angeles by way of Atlanta.

But the plane did not bank. It faded away to the east over the Long Island coast—the path to Europe.

Speed Ninety Miles an Hour.

Still nobody believed Corrigan could be headed across the sea in his old Curtiss-Robin ship, with its cruising speed of ninety miles an hour.

Behr called the weather bureau and found Corrigan had not asked for a weather report.

He had made a routine check with weather experts at Floyd Bennett, but only on weather from New York to Atlanta to Los Angeles. He also obtained an atlas, it was learned, and tore out a couple of maps, which he pinned to the plane's instrument board. He had no aviation charts.

This morning Belfast, Ireland, reported that a plane with American markings had passed over. An hour and a half later his plane came down at Baldonnel.

Has Few Instruments.

Corrigan, an expert airplane mechanic, installed extra gasoline tanks in his plane before he left California. He had only the fewest instruments necessary for flying and no radio. The gasoline tanks lacked dump valves for an emergency and he had no parachute.

On his flight here from California, Corrigan spent $110.15. Of this, $110 was for gasoline and oil. Ten cents was bar chocolate. The nickel was a deposit on a milk bottle to carry drinking water. Bennett field employés calculated he had $57.60 worth of gasoline and $12.80 worth of oil—$70.40 in all—when he left there.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, July 18.—The German press features Douglas Corrigan's trans-Atlantic flight as the senseless escapade of a foolhardy youth, emphasizes the plane's age and contrasts its cheapness with Howard Hughes' expensive machine.

Corrigan's statement that he thought he was flying back to California is printed in full.

The Lokal-Anzeiger states that after years of pioneering and Hughes' scientific flight, "along comes a boy from California, buys himself an old 'kiste' at an airplane graveyard for laughingly little money, gets in, and flies over the North Atlantic as though that was the easiest thing in the world."

NEW YORK IRISH RALLY 'ROUND TO HELP OUT FLYER

New York, July 18.—(AP)—The considerable Irish population of New York rallied 'round tonight to put up any necessary defense Douglas Corrigan may need for flying to Ireland without official sanction.

"Congratulations," cabled Charles V. Halley Jr., commissioner of transportation, "on your wonderful flight. Your error in landing in Dublin instead of California pleased many people. If you are in difficulties, be assured that there are many thousands here who will be glad to render any assistance possible. . . ."

Halley's list of influential citizens of Hibernian origin who have promised legal and other help reads like a page out of the voting register of County Cork:—McGurrin, Hines, McLaughlin, Walsh, Ryan, Connelly, Sullivan, McDermott. . . .

A PAL TELLS HOW 'CRATE' GREW OUT OF JUNKED PARTS

No Forward Vision; Door to Cabin Wired Shut.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 18.—[Special.]—"The Corrigan Clipper"—that's what the airport gang calls Douglas Corrigan's rejuvenated 1929 "crate" in which he hopped the Atlantic.

"It took Doug thirteen days to fly the ship back from New York, where he bought it in 1935," said Larry Connor, a mechanic who helped Corrigan rebuild the ship. "He landed in cow pastures all along the route and had to work on the crate all night so he could fly it the next day."

Connor described Corrigan as a "depression aviator"—a quiet chap who "flies by the seat of his trousers and puts every dime he's got into his plane."

"When he got 'The Clipper' back to San Diego, he tore down the ship, trimmed it up and recovered it at night," Connor explained.

Made Engine from Two Culls.

"He pulled out the 90 horsepower motor for which the plane was built, traded some stuff for two used Wright engines and put the best parts of each into the power plant which hauled him across the continent and the Atlantic.

"He used to take us up at night and we'd test 'The Clipper' all over San Diego, landing at an abandoned airport on Camp Kearney Mesa with the aid of a flashlight.

"Doug never spoke more than five words all day, but we knew he had the Atlantic hop in mind. To save money for the flight he would eat a half pecan roll and drink a half bottle of milk for breakfast and finish the remainder off for supper.

"Corrigan made six flights across the country to practice the navigation principles he'd been studying in books."

Has Had Many Owners.

Corrigan's plane is a Curtiss Robin high wing monoplane, originally delivered to the Curtiss Wright Flying service at Garden City, N. Y., on Aug. 17, 1929. It changed hands several times before it was purchased by Corrigan.

A four-place externally braced cabin plane, fabric covered, it has a span of 41 feet, a length of 26½ feet, and a wing area of 224 square feet. How much it was overloaded when the young Texan pulled it from the long runway at Floyd Bennett field at dawn Sunday may be realized from the fact that its gross normal weight is 2,523 pounds, while its takeoff, not counting Corrigan himself or the sheet metal tanks which he installed, was 3,595 pounds.

The maximum normal speed of the Robin is 118 miles an hour and the cruising speed between 90 and 100 miles an hour. Normal cruising range is only 838 miles.

Vision Blocked by Tanks.

His extra fuel tanks were so placed that the pilot had no forward vision when the plane was flying in a normal level altitude. He had to bank about 40 degrees and look out of the side windows in order to see ahead.

Before the take-off, it was learned today, he removed the covers of the rocker boxes which house the valve mechanism and stuffed them with handfuls of grease, a proceedure contrasting sharply with the lubrication of the valves on Howard Hughes' round-the-world plane, which are automatically oiled by the engine itself.

The door to the cabin did not work well and the young flyer fastened it with a piece of wire after he got into the plane.

Type Holds Endurance Mark.

Corrigan's plane and engine were of the same type with which Al and Fred Keys set the world's endurance record for refueling in the air, which still stands, when between June 4 and July 1 at Meridian, Miss., they flew for 653 hours and 34 minutes over a closed course.

The engine of the plane is a Wright whirlwind five cylinder J-6, air-cooled radial, with 175 horse power—the smallest of this series. Its normal gasoline consumption is about 9 gallons an hour, although this, of course, was greatly exceeded in the early stages of the trans-Atlantic hop due to the great overload. The engine burns about three pints of oil an hour and for his flight Corrigan took along 16 gallons.

Before the Takeoff

Douglas Corrigan of Long Beach, Cal., before takeoff in 1929 "crate" which spanned Atlantic from New York to Dublin, Ireland, in 28 hours 13 minutes.

KIN MORE PROUD THAN SURPRISED AT OCEAN FLIGHT

Learned of Exploit When They Read Papers.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 18.—[Special.]—Douglas Corrigan, who flew the Atlantic on a whim, "just doesn't know what fear is," according to his uncle, the Rev. Fraser Langford, pastor of the First Baptist church of Santa Monica.

Describing the personality and career of young Corrigan, the Rev. Mr. Langford told of Corrigan's takeoff last week for what he told his family was a "little jaunt to San Diego."

"Next thing we knew, we got a postcard from New York, saying we'd see him in a few days," the minister continued. "We didn't know a thing about this Atlantic crossing until we read it in the papers."

Helped Build Lindy's Ship.

Corrigan has been an admirer of Charles A. Lindbergh ever since he helped build the "Spirit of St. Louis" at the Ryan Aircraft company in San Diego, in 1927. Prior to the Dublin flight he was employed as an electric welder at the Northrop Aircraft company.

"Douglas is a happy-go-lucky chap," said Mr. Langford. "Lindy was his ideal. He lives cleanly and he's shy and fearless.

"Surprised? No, not a bit, and I'm proud of him. I rather suspected what he was going to do, because he had talked about flying to Hawaii. I talked him out of that.

"After he left here, I found some gasoline calculations on his desk. He had been doing a lot of figuring and I guessed he had some kind of long flight in mind.

Faith in His Skill.

"Even so, I knew if his gas held out and he had no trouble with his oil lines, his courage and skill would carry him through."

"His folks came from northern Ireland," said Mrs. Langord. "I wonder why he landed in Dublin?"

Corrigan has made his home with the Langfords since he lost his father and mother. His father, Clyde S. Corrigan, was killed in New York by a switch engine 15 years ago. The boy's mother died in Los Angeles a few years before. Douglas was graduated from a Los Angeles high school and went to work around airports near Los Angeles, but his first good job was with the Ryan company in San Diego.

Helps Brother Through College.

The Corrigans are of German-Irish descent and Douglas was born in Galveston, Tex., 31 years ago. Douglas worked and helped his younger brother, Harry, through the University of California at Berkeley. Harry now is with the Martin Aircraft firm in Baltimore.

Douglas' sister, Mrs. Evelyn McGlish, gave birth to a baby this morning just about the time Douglas landed in Ireland. With Mr. Langford also lives the boy's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Corrigan, who is 90 years old and blind.

Today his uncle, aunt, and grandmother talked to him over the air from the NBC studios to Dublin.

"Hello, kid," said his uncle. "You'll need some money and you can draw on me for whatever you need. Don't fly back; come back on the boat, even if you have to sell that old crate. We'll get you another one."

"Are you going to see Lindbergh while you are over there?" his grandmother asked.

Douglas first got training in navigation from Mr. Langford. They used to sail up and down the Pacific coast in a thirty foot yawl and had all kinds of experience in fogs and high winds. Once they ran into a couple of high school boys who had lost their sails in a storm. The boys were drifting and with heroic effort Douglas rescued them, getting them aboard his uncle's craft in high seas. His uncle is a cripple and could do no more than handle the tiller.

"Douglas came nearer to drowning that day than he did in flying the Atlantic, I guess," said Mr. Langford.

TURFMAN, FAMILY TERRORIZED BY 2 MASKED BANDITS

A. G. Tarn, Canadian turfman, his wife, Gladys, and their son, Clifford, were terrorized for half an hour last night by two masked gunmen in their cottage in Lake Zurich. For a time the robbers threatened to kidnap the son, who is 19 years old. They finally abandoned that plan, and escaped with $580.

Tarn had cashed a check for $500 at the Arlington Park race track yesterday. The robbers had evidently seen that, and trailed him. They walked into the cottage without warning, and forced the Tarns into a rear bedroom. After tying all three with ties and stockings, they took $580 from Tarn's pockets, but threatened to kidnap Clifford when Tarn protested $580 was all he had. He convinced them he had no more money, and they left.

Rumanian Flyer Will Try N. Y. to Bucharest Hop

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Capt. Alexander Papana of the Rumanian royal air force announced tonight that if the weather permitted he would take off from Floyd Bennett field Thursday morning in an attempt to fly nonstop to Bucharest. The flyer arrived at the field tonight from Detroit, where his low winged twin engined Barkley-Grow monoplane underwent a series of tests. He plans to fly to Hartford tomorrow for further tests and return to Floyd Bennett field late Wednesday.

DIES WHILE SWIMMING.

St. Joseph, Mich., July 18.—[Special.]—Sidney Smith, 24 years old, former House of David member, was drowned while swimming in Lake Michigan seven miles south of St. Joseph this afternoon.

KIDNAP VICTIM DROPS A NOTE, AND IS FOUND

At noon the man who wrote the note was found, bound, in his car on a lonely road near Elburn, 10 miles west of Geneva. He is Lawrence M. Kent, 29 years old, of 344 Naperville road, Downers Grove. He said two bandits had stepped into his car at the stop light and robbed him of $1.50. Then they forced him to accompany them to the hamburger stand, where he feared to call for help. Eventually they tied him up and left the car.

Kent identified the robbers from pictures as John Hritz and Leonard Latos, the prisoners who escaped Saturday from the Will county jail at Joliet.

BECOMES ILL IN LOOP; DIES.

Miss Catherine Martin, 24 years old, 2451 Marquette road, became ill yesterday in a loop store and died soon afterward in the Holy Cross hospital. Death apparently was caused by heart disease.

THE MOSQUITOES WILL NOT SING AT THIS CONCERT

The mosquitoes that have annoyed audiences at free concerts in the Wilmette amphitheater in Washington park, Wilmette, will meet with resistance tomorrow night.

Persons who want to hear the Illinois WPA orchestra at that time need not be afraid of being eaten by hordes of aedes vexans, officials announced. A truck with special spray equipment will move into the park during the day and fill the air with a mosquito destroyer.

But the north shore mosquito abatement district will not stop at that. It will send men operating hand sprays into the park areas adjacent to the amphitheater to spray suspicious shrubbery during the concert.

YOUTH IS HURLED TO DEATH FROM CARNIVAL RIDE

Newton Roberts, 19 years old, was killed last night when he was hurled from an aerial merry-go-round at a street carnival at Prairie avenue and Simpson street in Niles Center.

A safety chain protected Roberts as he sat in a seat of the device, known as a chairplane. While it revolved at high speed the chain broke, according to the police. Roberts was hurled thirty feet against an automobile. David Calvin, 725 Hunter street, Glenview, and Lloyd Johnson, 127 Church street, Elmwood Park, were on the machine at the same time.

A. Latto, 154 West North avenue, manager of the concession, and Phil Stagnola, 2914 North 74th avenue, Elmwood Park, the operator, were held for the inquest. Roberts lived at 165 Pine avenue.

CENTRAL RELIEF OFFICE PLAN TO BE GIVEN TRIAL

Business Men's Group Gets CRA to Act.

Spokesmen for the city's professional social workers last night tentatively accepted a business man's proposal to reform the Chicago Relief administration [CRA].

At a meeting of private and public welfare leaders in the Merchandise mart, Walter L. Gregory, chairman of the Illinois council on public assistance and unemployment, recommended that a central intake system for relief applications be adopted by the CRA on a trial basis.

Predicts $4,000 Saving Monthly.

Under this system Chicagoans seeking relief would go to a central office instead of applying to one of the nineteen district offices now in operation. Gregory, whose group is composed of business men, predicted that the system would save $4,000 a month in operating costs and increase efficiency through the CRA.

The meeting was called by Leo M. Lyons, CRA administrator, to determine the attitude of coöpertaing social agencies. In response to the Gregory investigation, Lyons announced last wee kthat five relief districts would be combined into one within the next month to give the central intake system a trial.

Express Little Opposition.

According to reports, surprisingly little opposition to the plan was expressed, although city-wide application would reduce the part played by the individual social worker in administering relief.

Wilfred S. Reynolds, director of the council of social agencies, and Joel D. Hunter, general superintendent of the United Charities, referred all comment to Lyons.

Lyons said he approached the experiment "with an open mind and of the opinion that many advances can be made."

One goal, he disclosed, is to find jobs for able bodied relief applicants before they get on the dole.

Job Coördination Sought.

"It is hoped," he said, "that facilities can be supplied to bring about a closer coördination between relief intake and job placement with the aid of the Illinois State Employment Service and the WPA. We would like to make the CRA the last recourse of the able bodied unemployed."

He said that the experimental intake office will be centrally situated in the city, but was not ready to announce the five districts involved. He discounted the objection that a central intake office raises a greater transportation problem, pointing out that many relief clients take street cars to their district offices.

Gregory pointed to the success with central intake in Milwaukee, where, he said, "10 per cent of the entire case load vanished and nobody in the county went hungry" when district offices were abolished in 1933.

DEMOCRATS TRY TO HIDE FAILURE, LYONS DECLARES

Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, wound up a trailer tour of Will county with four appearances last night in Joliet. He asserted that the Democrats are trying to conceal their own failures by charging that the Republicans have no constructive program to meet the problems of industry and labor.

During the day Lyons and his associates on the Republican ticket traveling with him visited a dozen smaller communities in the county.

Lyons denied the Democratic charge that the G. O. P. has no program of its own.

"If you will look up the congressional records for the last few years," he said, "you will find that the Republican members, although numerically weak, had a program and did submit alternative measures for every part of the New Deal program."

MRS. ROOSEVELT AND SON JAMES IN CITY FEW HOURS

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and her son, James, presidential secretary and insurance executive, paused briefly at the Chicago airport yesterday on their way to Newark, N. J., from Rochester, Minn. James, although pale from his confinement at the Mayo clinic, where he has been receiving treatment since June 21 for a small gastric ulcer, seemed in high spirits. Mrs. Roosevelt flew to Rochester from Washington Saturday, spending the week-end as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Will J. Mayo.

Shooting Inquest Delayed Pending Further Inquiry

An inquest into the death of Charles Makal, 54 years old, who was found shot to death early Sunday in his home at 5817 88th place, Worth township, was continued yesterday until Aug. 3, pending further investigation by the Willow Springs county highway police. Makal's widow, Florence, and her son by a former marriage, Harry Pilcher, 24 years old, were held in bond of $5,000 each by Deputy Coroner Sylvester Vyzral.

Tells of His Long Feud Over Policies.

quietly, with some sarcasm at times, took up the accusations made against him by the other tow directors before he was deprived of his post. Speaking of the danger of real estate promotions he said:

"There had been unconscionable exploitations of poor people at one time. At Muscle Shoals we found 98,000 lots had been laid out in one promotion period. A program was built up to sell lots in Chicago and other cities I sought to stop this.

Kills off Real Estate Deal.

"I made radio talks against exploitation. We killed it off. Knoxville real estate men coöperated. That proposition Harcourt Morgan called 'visionary.' I was also afraid some one might get into the reservoir area lands and acquire property on which to base large claims, as happened in the Berry case [the Senator George L. Berry marble claims for vast sums].

"One of what Harcourt Morgan calls vagaries was when we took up building of transmission lines. I discussed transmission with Dr. Compton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He told me he believed research laboratories were near a great transmission development and suggested we look into this.

"I took it up with the board on several occasions. Mr. Lilienthal in July, 1933, was quoted in a Knoxville paper as saying TVA was making researches and it might mean electric current might be transmitted halfway around the world.

Made Sport of, He Insists.

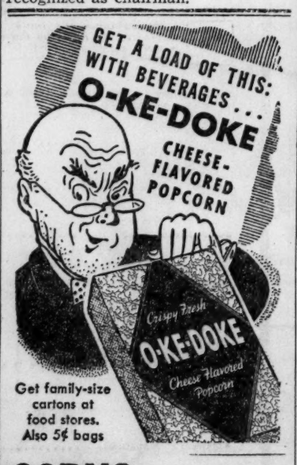

"In the summer of 1933 a series of articles appeared in the press, apparently coming from persons close to the TVA board, making sport of me and my 'vagaries.' I don't see where they could have come from, anywhere but in the board.

"That contest has gone on since the summer of 1933. In the first month of TVA I prepared a memorandum on a train. I had two copies made and gave them to the other directors. I didn't show them to anybody else. Son a derisive article appeared. That has gone on for five years.

"In Washington, on Aug. 2 1933, I received a telegram from the TVA board. I had suggested that Llewellyn Evans, assistant to Lilienthal, confer with Dr. Compton on transmission research. The telegram said the two directors had decided transmission research should be postponed until the board had adopted a program of administration and division of duties. This was the first suggestion I had the other members were planning to divide board functions."

One development outside the hearings came today with the transfer of Dr. Morgan's suit, challenging President Roosevelt's order ousting him as Tennessee Valley Authority's chairman, on a charge of contumacy from state to federal court. Arthur Morgan, in his suit, demands that he be recognized as chairman.

D'ORSAY PALMER IS SUED BY THIRD WIFE IN FLORIDA

Chicago Heir's Marriage Lasts 13 Months.

Thirteen months after their marriage, Potter d'Orsay Palmer, an heir to the millions of his grandfather, the first Potter Palmer, was sued for divorce yesterday by his third wife, the former Pauline Warren of New York.

The suit was filed at Sarasota, Fla., where D'Orsay Palmer, who is 32 years old, is engaged in citrus fruit farming. It was indicated that divorce action would not be contested. Mrs. Palmer's lawyer withdrew papers in the suit as soon as it was filed, thus suppressing her charges and other details of the case.

Heir to Fourth of Fortune.

D'Orsay Palmer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Honore Palmer. Upon his father's death D'Orsay will inherit one-fourth of his grandmother's estate, which includes the Palmer house.

Mrs. Palmer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Warren. Mr. Warren has extensive holdings in the Atlantic and Pacific Tea company. Since her debut in the season of 1933-'34, Mrs. Palmer has been popular in younger New York society.

D'Orsay and Miss Warren surprised their friends with a sudden marriage on June 16, 1937, at Mamaroneck, N. Y., the day after their engagement was announced. They spent their honeymoon in Bermuda.

Divorced 3 Days Before.

Three days before D'Orsay Palmer's third marriage he was divorced here by his second wife, Mrs. Maria Martinez de Hoz Palmer. She is the daughter of M. and Mme. Marcisco Martinez de Hoz of Argentina and Paris. M. de Hoz is a wealthy Argentine landowner and possessor of a large racing stable.

The Argentinian's divorce had been awaited for seventeen months, the final decree having been held up for an agreement on a financial settlement. The second Mrs. Palmer received $475,000—$175,000 outright, and the balance when young Palmer comes into his inheritance.

Palmer's second marriage took place in Paris in 1930, a year after he was divorced by his first wife, who was Miss Eleanor Goldsmith, daughter of a Sarasota, Fla., truck driver. They eloped in 1928 when she was 16 years old.

ROOSEVELT TRIES HIS LUCK; LANDS A 38 POUND FISH

ABOARD U. S. S. HOUSTON, EN ROUTE TO PANAMA, July 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt tried his luck as the nation's first fisherman today and was rewarded with a 38 pound yellowtail.

The big fish nipped at the presidential bait in Magdalena bay, near the tip of lower California, where the Houston dropped anchor this forenoon.

Honors for the day's biggest catch, however, went to Col. E. M. Watson, who landed a 60 pound grouper and a large California white sea bass.

Sunny weather and a calm sea greeted President Roosevelt on the third day of his leisurely vacation cruise after a transcontinental tour. Various official messages were exchanged today between the President and government officials. Most of them were of a routine nature.

Roosevelt to Get Honorary Degree from Canadian U.

KINGSTON, Ontario, July 18.—(AP)—Queen's university announced today it would confer the degree of doctor of laws on President Roosevelt at a special convocation here Aug. 18. The President will receive the degree at 11 a. m. and then go to Ivy Lea to open the new Thousand Islands bridge across the St. Lawrence river. University officials said this would be the President's first honorary degree from a Canadian university.

ALL GOODS CAN BE SEIZED FOR ARMY, HITLER DECREES

Citizens Must Give Aid When Called Upon.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 18.—All residents of the German reich are liable to surrender their personal goods for military purposes if called upon to do so under a new law which the press tonight described as the "most important military law since the reintroduction of conscription in 1935."

The press added that the law brings the previous less comprehensive regulations up to modern requirements in conformity with the Nazi principle that the "common welfare ranks private welfare."

The supreme military command, in conjunction with the home ministry, will appoint officials throughout the country to determine which goods will be requisitioned in accordance with the needs of the armed forces.

Entitled to Payment.

The owners of the commandeered goods will be entitled to remuneration "unless delivery can be expected reasonably without pay."

The law details the requirements of the armed forces when marching or engaged in maneuvers and exercises, especially in regard to food and lodging and the requisitioning of forage for mounted troops and gasoline for mototrized units. Provision also is made for use by the armed forces of water, gas, electricity, workshops and signalling apparatus and also for the commandeering of horses, vehicles of all kinds and other means of transportation.

While prominently displaying the new military law, German newspapers at the same time accused Czechoslovakia of war preparations. Among the headlines tonight were these:

"Czechs store grain reserves for the event of war"; "Czechs considering extension of military service to three years"; "Prague's military preparations are evident despite camouflaging attempts."

Impatient Over Statute.

The newspapers also show increasing signs of impatience and skepticism regarding the nationalities statute now being drafted by the Czech government with the help of a parliamentary committee. Official circles here declare Germany insists on a complete solution of the Sudeten [Nazi] German question and is not willing to tolerate further delays, especially since the Germans are convinced that the "Czechs are taking matters easy after the May crisis when the Prague government gained the impression that the western democracies would support it in all circumstances."

Germany, therefore, is looking toward England to impress on Prague the importance of a Sudeten German solution. Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, personal aid to Reichsfuehrer Hitler, is now in London to discuss the Czech question with British statesmen.

with the city over the use of the streets."

Receivers Draft Counter Offer.

Receivers for the companies conferred with Judge Wilkerson yesterday morning prior to the city hall hearing. The receivers are Guy A. Richardson, surface lines president, Edward E. Brown, president of the First National bank, Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the Continental Illinois National bank and Trust company, and Harvey B. Fleming, a surface lines official.

At the hearing before the city council's local transportation committee, Richardson said that as a result of the morning conference the receivers had agreed on a proposal for a temporary city permit for the car lines.

Their suggestion was that a new franchise extending to Oct. 31 be granted. It would provide for continuing operations as they were prior to last Friday. In addition, compensation would be paid to the city for the period at a figure to be negotiated by company and city officials.

Mayor Kelly tacitly rejected the proposal when he urged the committee to go ahead with the preparation of its own proposed ordinance setting up a definite rate of compensation. The present draft of the ordinance fixes 3 per cent of gross revenues as the compensation.

Court to Decide, Kelly Says.

"I don't think we are going to get immediate action anyhow," Mayor Kelly told the committee. "In the final analysis the court is going to decide what the companies are going to do."

Richardson and William H. Sexton, city traction counsel, clashed frequently during the hearing. Richardson asserted that suggestions of company representatives were not taken seriously and accused city officials of misrepresenting the issues and facts. The proposed ordinance, he declared, will without question result in higher fares for the car riders because many additional expenses will be imposed.

The committee will resume its hearing today. The plan, Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman, said, is to have the ordinance before the city council at its meeting tomorrow. Judge Wilkerson also will hold a traction hearing today, the final one before his court recesses for the summer.

ASK PRECEDENCE FOR WEST SIDE SUPERHIGHWAYS

Other Plans Should Wait, Says Hayes.

A start on the construction of a system of superhighways for the west side should take precedence over other street improvement projects in the city, officials of the Chicago Motor club said yesterday.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the club, said that the proposed extension of Wacker drive east from Michigan avenue to Field boulevard to connect with the new outer drive bridge would be of value to motorists. But, he added, it should not be undertaken if it is going to take funds which could be used for bettering west side transportation.

"The west side," he said, "is in dire need of a system of limited ways. Any improvement that delays this system should not be encouraged."

City Has PWA Grant.

City council committees are now studying proposed Wacker drive extensions. The council already has a PWA grant of $1,251,000 toward the total $2,990,000 cost of connecting Wacker and outer drives.

West side aldermen oppose the plan, asserting that the extension is not an improvement for their district. A subcommittee headed by Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], is studying a plan for a two level extension of Wacker drive south from Lake street to Taylor street with a viaduct from that point to Archer avenue and Cermak road.

Ald. Bowler said he has requested the board of local improvements to make an estimate of the cost of the project. He said he will call a meeting of his council group as soon as he receives the estimates.

Wants Work for West Side.

Dr. M. J. Sullivan, chairman of the Congress street development council, yesterday wrote to Ald. Bowler saying that his organization opposes continued appropriations for the lake front "while the west side receives none of the public benefits from either federal money, state, or city." His letter urged that state and city engineers get together in working out details of superhighways for the west side.

Meanwhile, the city plan for conversion of part of the west side elevated railways system into elevated superhighways for joint use by express buses and private cars is still very much alive, Philip Harrington, city traction engineer, said.

Part of Transit Plan.

The proposal is part of the city's plan for transit modernization. The special traction committee working under Walter A. Shaw, federal court traction adviser, has treated the conversion project as one which should be decided by a city transit commission which would be organized upon unification of Chicago's traction systems.

The city plan calls for the creation of a twenty mile system of west side elevated highways, chiefly by changing the Lake street, Douglas park, Logan square, and Paulina street elevated railway structures to four lane roads.

A connecting six lane elevated road would be built in Randolph street between the Chicago river and Paulina streets. The 28 million dollar cost of the system would be financed from the city traction fund and from city revenues from the traction companies.

CIO RULES PLANT DESPITE SHERIF OR COURT ORDER

10 Pickets Sentenced; No Workers Get to Jobs.

C. I. O. pickets remained in charge of the Chicago Hardware Foundry company yesterday. This rule of a North Chicago factory by local and imported C. I. O. pickets continued in spite of Sherif Doolittle of Lake county and of Judge Dady.

Doolittle said a few days ago that he had sworn in more than 100 deputies. He said he would see to it that the law is enforced. He said he would do his duty and let those workers return to their jobs who want to work. Last night no workers had gone into the plant.

Yesterday the pickets threw pepper into the eyes of the few deputies who went from Waukegan to arrest pickets. Six pickets were arrested. Indictments were returned against 20 more pickets.

10 Guilty of Contempt.

Ten pickets were found guilty of contempt of court. All are attached to the C. I. O. They were sentenced to jail for terms of from 20 to 120 days.

Late yesterday afternoon Eugene Brunette, head of an independent union whose members are anxious to go to work, appealed to the sherif for protection.

"We were forcibly kept out of the plant several times," he said, "and we are getting desperate. We need money. Sixty of us are ready to go in whenever we are permitted."

Sherif Doolittle said that the court's orders for Brunette's men would be carried out, but that he was anxious to avoid any clash with the pickets. No date for the entry was set.

Asks for National Guard.

"We ask you to summon the National Guard," said Brunette, "if Lake county hasn't enough deputies to handle the situation."

The sherif expressed confidence that he could handle the job. The Lake county board has appropriated $10,000 to be spent in preserving order around the plant.

The strike went into its seventh week yesterday. Since its start the pickets, by congregating in large numbers, have prevented any production. They have also refused to let trucks or railroad cars get in to carry out material. When such attempts were made the strikers and their supporters lay down in the road or on the tracks.

The men, who are members of a local of the Amalgamated Association of Steel, Iron and Tin Workers, struck when it was proposed they take a 10 per cent wage cut. They also demanded vacations with pay and a written contract. The company offered to arbitrate if the men would return at the wage reduction, but the offer was declined. It is the company's contention that the plant can remain open only if the cut is put into effect.

Criticizes Leader's Attitude.

Judge Dady, in pronouncing the sentences for contempt, sharply criticized the attitude of Robert Wirtz, university graduate and volunteer leader of the strikers. Wirtz, who was never connected with the hardware plant, admitted that he had advised the men to "go as far as they could" without actually violating an injunction against disorders.

"Wirtz," said the judge, "is guilty of wilful and deliberate contempt. He has had a better than average education. He has taught school. It is possible he is sincere, but he has ideas that are not the ideas of this country. He will be sentenced to 120 days."

Judge Dady read excerpts from some mimeographed sheets, admittedly edited and distributed by Wirtz. One quotation was "Judge Dady has declared war on the citizens of Lake county." Another was "Thugs are being recruited and armed by Judge Dady and Sherif Doolittle."

"I do not think there is any fair minded person in Lake county who believes there is any excuse for these statements," continued Judge Dady.

Two of the defendants were sentenced to thirty days in jail. They are Frank Kozak and August Pycke, who assisted in handing out the handbills attacking the court. The others, sentenced to twenty days, are Sam Runyan, Nick Vihos, Joseph Pankiewicz, Nick Marcinkus, Philip Lorek, Laverne Adams, and John Machnich.

Those named in the contempt citation were also charged in the indictments returned by the grand jury. The other ten named are Oakley Mills and Meyer Adelman, imported C. I. O. agitators [Mills from West Virginia and Adelman from Kentucky]; John Jarowski, Carnette Martin, Frank Bradke [president of the local union], John Gloss, John Iwanski, Frank Lapina, Andrew Pappas, and Narcisso Lira.

There were more than 300 pickets about the plant in the morning when a number of foremen tried to enter. The union guards, who included many women and children, stopped them, and they gave up the attempt. A little later, when office workers arrived, Sherif Doolittle was present.

Deputies Are Attacked.

He commanded that no one be stopped. This order was greeted with cries of "We'll never give up," "The people are with us," and "Workers from South Chicago to Milwaukee are backing us."

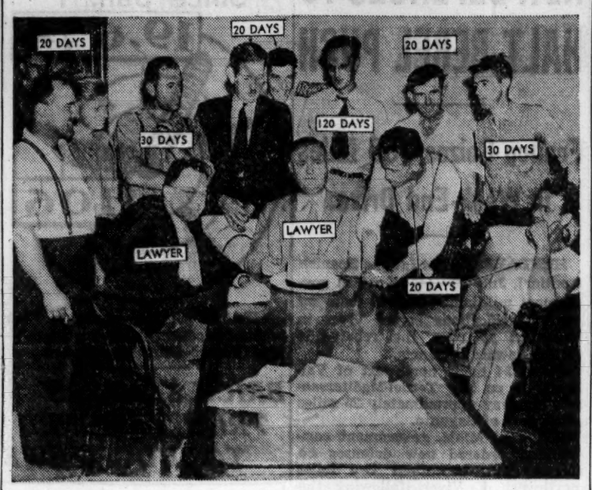

The next order was for the deputies to clear a way for the office workers. The pickets milled about. One deputy was struck on the head with an umbrella wielded by a woman and several were inconvenienced by a barrage of red pepper. Two reported their stars were torn off. There were no serious injuries, however, and the orders were carried out.

The six seized are Mrs. Josephine Kozina, the alleged umbrella swinger; her husband, Gus; Joseph Pankiewicz, Nick and Frank Farella, and Joseph Jordan. The Farellas were not employés of the plant.

Union officials informed the Lake county authorities late last night that Harry Scheck, a conciliator for the United States department of labor, would arrive today and offer his services. Edward B. Sherwin, president of the hardware company, said he had not been informed, but would be glad to talk to Scheck.

$34 A WEEK TELLER IN BANK CONFESSES THEFTS OF $100,000

Paterson, N. J., July 18.—[Special.]—Angelo B. Oliva, 31 years old, a $34 a week teller in a branch office of the Second National bank, walked into police headquarters today and confessed he had stolen $100,000 from the bank in the last seven years.

Oliva, father of a 7 months old son, said he played the horses and once backed a night club, and that he has taken as much as $1,000 a week. His system was to falsify withdrawal slips.

Suspect Held in Slaying of Rug Salesmen at Hotel

Town Hall police last night were holding Edward Rothman, 5020 Winthrop avenue, in connection with the slaying of Edward Tager, 34 years old, a rug salesman. Tager was shot Sunday in front of the Chelsea hotel, 92 0Wilson avenue. He died yesterday in Lakeview hospital. Rothman denied the shooting, but has been identified by several witnesses, according to Capt. John O'Brien.

CHICAGO LAWYER IN TORONTO FOR SIDLEY WILL QUIZ

Academy Given Bequest Denies Sending Him.

Conflicting statements were made yesterday as to whether St. John's Military academy at Delafield, Wis., has taken action to protect its interest in a large bequest under a will of Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, malted milk heiress, who died recently at Toronto, Ont.

Maxwell Landis, a member of the Chicago law firm of Landis, Landis & Landis, was interviewed at Toronto over the long distance telephone. He said his firm represents the academy and that he had gone to the Canadian city in behalf of the school.

After his arrival in Toronto Sunday, Landis said, he conferred with W. Perkins Bull, Canadian barrister, in whose home Mrs. Sidley died after being a guest there for a year. Landis said Bull employed the Landis law firm to represent him as well as the military academy.

Explains Academy Interest.

"The academy naturally is interested because it would be a defendant in case there is a contest of the will," Landis said in response to a question on that point.

Col. F. W. Mouso, vice president of the military school, was reached on the telephone at Delafield. He spoke in the absence of Col. F. Roy Farrand, president of the academy and one of the executors of Mrs. Sidley's will.

"We did not authorize Mr. Landis or any one else to go to Toronto or take any action in this matter in behalf of the academy," Col. Mouso said. "The Landis law firm represents the school but we haven't participated in any way in the activities that have arisen in this case."

Landis said he would be associated with William Hellmuth, Toronto attorney, in representing Bull and that the Landis firm would act for the barrister in any proceedings in the United States.

Will Contest Indicated.

The Chicago attorney, said Bull, who was named a beneficiary to the extent of one-third of Mrs. Sidley's fortune of several million dollars, would go to Racine, Wis., if a contest of the will is begun there.

It has been indicated a contest will be made. Mrs. Sidley's son and only heir, William Horlick Sidley, was left the same share as Bull in her last will, executed in Bull's home in Toronto, whereas in a previous one he had been left the bulk of her estate. Mrs Sidley's brother, A. J. Horlick of Racine, was cut off completely in the last will.

Landis said Bull was subpenaed yesterday in an investigation of the wealth of the Racine heiress which was begun by Ontario and Dominion of Canada tax authorities. Bull was ordered to appear this afternoon before a special tax commission of the provincial government which will inquire into succession duties [inheritance taxes].

Bull also has been subpenaed to appear at an inquest into the death of Mrs. Sidley set for July 26. Landis said Bull's son, Thomas Bull, who sailed for England last week, has been notified aboard ship that he is wanted at the inquest and that he is not on his way back to Toronto, having transferred to a returning ship. An autopsy determined that Mrs. Sidley died of a brain disorder.

Seeks to Collect Taxes.

The tax inquiries were started with a view to collecting income taxes, and, possibly, succession duties on her estate, which has been valued at from 4 million to 9 million dollars.

Under dominion and provincial statutes, a person living or visiting in Canada for 183 days in one year is liable to income tax for that year. Mrs. Sidley lived in Toronto for more than a year prior to her death July 6 in Bull's home.

Although it is believed that virtually all Mrs. Sidley's property is in the United States, it is known she has safety deposit boxes in a Toronto bank and accounts at various banks and trust companies. The safety boxes have been sealed and the accounts tied up by investigators for the Ontario government.

The heiress' income when she was in Toronto also will be the subject of an inquiry at the inquest. This search for facts was ordered as the result of rumors that when she was living in Bull's home she drew and spent sums of money that totaled as high as a million dollars.

HELPFUL RAIL AGENT REMEMBERED IN WILL OF HORLICK HEIRESS

Norman A. Hersether, 2612 N. Whipple street, to whom $1,000 was bequeathed by Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, said yesterday he had known the malted milk heiress and members of her family for many years. He was a pallbearer at Mrs. Sidley's funeral.

N. A. Hersether.

Hersether, a passenger and ticket agent for the North Western railroad, said he had personally aided Mrs. Sidley in her travels over that line for more than 25 years. He has been employed by the North Western for 37 years, most of the time in the Madison street station.

Hersether said Mrs. Sidley frequently used his office in the station to telephone friends and to make visiting arrangements on her trips.

THE AGE OF GOLF

By CALEB

FAMOUS FOR a good many things in the world of sport, Chicago has the unique distinction of being the home of the finest library of golf literature and curiosa in the country. Books, reproductions of paintings, etchings and woodcuts—some of them centuries old—tell a fascinating and comprehensive story of the game that commands such a tremendous following here today.

Though Scotland invented and developed the game of golf, in early times the going was fairly rough, and those who played it risked their necks in the process. The difficulty, the old books point out, was that two popular games called "Golfe and fute-bal" interfered with practice at archery, and hence were regarded as endangering the nation's defense.

Nearly five centuries ago the parliament at Edinburgh passed a law that "fute-bal and golfe shalle be utterly cryed downe, and not be used." The penalty for engaging in either ranged from a small fine on up to hanging in the case of hardened offenders.

Even so the game made steady headway, and by the start of the seventeenth century was so well regarded that one Francis Browne was hanged at Banff for stealing two golf balls. The offense was a particularly lamentable one in those days because golf balls were fashioned laboriously of leather and tightly stuffed with boiled feathers.

The first golf courses in Scotland had eleven holes in a long, straight row. Opponents played out and back, charting their total score for the twenty-two holes. However, foursomes playing through each other in opposite directions were too hazardous even for the hardy clansmen, and the irregular course patterns of today came into use.

From 1774 when the "Honorable Edinburgh Company of Goffers" began holding tournaments on St. Andrew's course, golf has enjoyed a steady and rapid growth—particularly in the United States where many of the finest courses in the world are to be found. Of these Chicago has its share, along with the requisite number of enthusiasts to enjoy them.

The collector who won for Chicago the title of headquarters for golf history has loaned a portion of his books and illustrations to form a display in a window of our Store for Men this week. The window itself is in connection with the approaching Chicago Open Golf Championship Tournament scheduled for Olympia Fields on July 22, 23, and 24.

JAP FLYERS LAND, BATTLE ENEMY ON CHINESE AIR FIELD

Set Fire to Seven Planes, Take Off Again Safely.

SHANGHAI, July 19.—[Tuesday]—(AP)—The Japanese navy in a colorfully worded communique announced its air forces scored two daring victories yesterday over the Chinese.

In the first of two reported victories, the Japanese navy said a squadron of bombing planes landed on China's main air base at Nanchang. In the face of Chinese rifle and machine gun fire, the crews got out with torches and set fire to seven Chinese planes and then drove the defenders into retreat.

In the other, the communique said, a second Japanese squadron engaged fifteen Chinese planes in the air and shot down eight.

Drive Foes into Rice Field.

The invading airmen's ground attack was proclaimed "the most daring attack in the history of the world's military aviation." The bombers' crew were reported to have wrested two machine guns from the Chinese and chased the defenders into a rice field. Then they clambered back into their planes and "returned to their base unscathed," the communique said.

The squadron which shot down the Chinese planes, said the Japanese statement, also bombed twelve Chinese planes on the ground, "destroying all." The communique said the only disturbing element of the day's victories was that the leader of the squadron which fought aloft was lost while his fellow airmen made an "unprecedented" safe landing.

The leader, it reported, was killed when he "was struck by a Chinese plane which he had shot down himself," his plane crashing to earth after the collision.

"Unable to Shoot Straight."

Narrating further details of the reported Nanchang ground raid, the communique said the Chinese troops guarding the field were "so taken aback when the Japanese flyers landed that they were unable to shoot straight, permitting the Japanese to carry out their work unharmed."

The Chinese, on the other hand, said that their own flyers had made four raids yesterday in which they damaged eight Japanese ships.

Chinese reports said the Japanese were planning an immediate big push up the Yangtze river in the hope of blasting their way west of Hukow, gateway to Lake Poyang and territory south and southeast of Hankow, Chinese capital and ultimate Japanese objective.

DROWNS IN TUB; HELD ACCIDENT.

A coroner's jury held yesterday that Harry Schatz, 56 years old, was accidentally drowned Sunday in the bathtub in his home, 2805 North Sawyer avenue.

Border Row Grows

(Story in adjoining column.)

Arrow locates region where Japanese charged soviet troops killed a Japanese corporal and wounded a sergeant patroling the border of Manchukuo. The Japanese dispute Russia's claim to territory which they say belongs to Corea and Manchukuo.

Arrows indicate (1) chief Chinese air base where Japanese flyers landed, fought ground defenders, set fire to seven planes and took off again, and (2) Hukow, the base of Japanese land and river operations aiming toward Hankow.

Mussolini Puts All Civil Employes Into Uniform

ROME, July 18.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini today ordered all government civilian employés to wear uniforms henceforth during working hours. Il Duce's newspaper Il Popolo D'Italia described the order as "another step in the spiritual mobilization of the country."

SOVIET SLAYING OF BORDER GUARD AROUSES JAPAN

Tokio Declares Russians Invaded Manchukuo.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, July 18.—The Japanese public was highly incensed tonight over the killing of a Japanese corporal and the wounding of a sergeant by soviet troops near Chanchalu on the border of Corea, Manchukuo and Russia. News of the shooting became known here today.

A dispatch from Seoul, Corea, said Corporal Matsushima and Sergt. Ito and two other gendarmes were fired on point blank by soviet guards while patroling the frontier, well within Manchukuo territory, on July 15. It is claimed the point where the incident occurred is clearly within Manchukuo as shown on Japanese as well as Russian maps.

Moscow Rejects Protest.

Moscow rejected a protest from the Japanese government, claiming the soldiers had invaded soviet territory, and anti-soviet feeling mounted.

Coming on the heels of the rejection of a Japanese claim that occupation of Changkufeng heights by soviet troops constitutes unlawful entry in Manchukuo, the Japanese government tonight decided to adopt a firm attitude. Changkufeng is strategically of great importance due to its nearness to Vladivostok.

"Anything May Happen."

It is charged that instead of withdrawing into soviet territory, the Russian troops, under cover of night, are strengthening their positions and maintaining an arrogant attitude. It is also charged that soviet mechanized units are being rushed to the rear of Changkufeng, and Japanese authorities on the spot regard the situation as being so critical that they predict "anything may happen at any time."

LOVE RIVALRY BLAMED IN SLAYING OF TAVERN KEEPER; HUNT WOMAN

A pretty brunette identified only as Diana was sought last night in the investigation of the murder of John O'Brien. O'Brien, 25 years old, owner of a tavern at 501 Rush street, was shot to death in front of 747 Wellington avenue Sunday night.

John O'Brien.

Capt. Thomas J. Duffy of the Sheffield avenue police district said he believed love rivalry was the motive for the slaying. O'Brien was not known to have been involved in gambling or racketeering. Information about the mysterious brunette was given by Wesley Morris, bartender in the tavern. He said O'Brien frequently met the young woman and accompanied her on a tour of night spots. Another young woman, whose name and telephone number were found in the tavern owner's possession, was also sought. She was known only as Jackie.

Morris told police that the tavern had not been profitable in the last few months.

3 MORE KILLED IN HOLY LAND RACIAL FEUD

JERUSALEM, July 18.—(AP)—Three men were killed today in a fresh outbreak of the Holy Land's Arab-Jewish racial feud.

Two of the dead were Jews who were attacked while working in a field in the Beisan valley by a band believed to have crossed into Palestine from neighboring Trans-Jordan.

The deaths brought to 129 the number of victims of the disorders since July 5. They included 76 Arabs, 35 Jews, and 18 roving tribesmen.

VALETTA, Malta, July 18.—(AP)—More than sixty men of the British navy and air force were taken to a hospital today suffering from food poisoning.

LOYALISTS HURRY NEW DEFENSES TO HALT REBEL PUSH

Franco Seizes 150 Miles in Week-End Drive.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish frontier], July 18.—(AP)—Spanish government militiamen labored today on hasty fortifications before Viver in an effort to stem the rebel tide rolling toward Valencia.

Gen. José Miaja, government commander, ordered new defenses on Ragudo hill, less than two miles northwest of Viver, following the smashing of government lines during the week-end.

150 Square Miles Occupied.

Government reports said the defense troops gave way then under a concentration of rebel power "never equaled" in the first two years of the civil war. Rebel reports asserted 150 square miles were occupied during the week-end northwest of Viver.

Miaja decided to make a stand at Viver against the rebel offensive aimed at Segorbe, ancient Roman town spanning a valley between two castle-crowned hills. Segorbe is about 20 miles from Sagunto, where the Teruel-Mediterranean highway joins the main coastal road leading to Valencia.

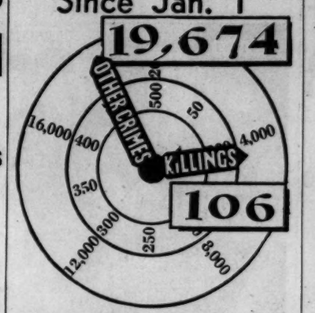

Capture Two Villages.

Advices from rebel field headquarters said Gen. Francisco Franco's troops captured two villages northeast of Barracas today during clean-up operations. They were Cortes de Arenosa and Fuente la Reina, the latter nine miles north of Viver. Along the Teruel-Mediterranean highway, the rebels were attacking Cassilla del Sordo, about five miles north of Viver.

Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy in a telegram to Franco on the war's second anniversary today predicted the rebels "will be crowned with victory" in the third year of the conflict.

Robert Nixon and Earl Hicks, colored, who confessed the brick slaying of Mrs. Florence Johnson, won a change of venue yesterday from the court of Judge George Fred Rush. Their trial on a charge of murder was assigned to Judge John C. Lewe, who said it would begin next Monday, as originally scheduled by Judge Rush.

RECORD SALMON RUN ENDANGERS FISHING BOATS

KOGGIUNG, Alaska, July 18.—(AP)—Salmon so plentiful their weight in the nets endangered fishermen were reported here today.

Libby's canneries said the hordes of migrant salmon exceeded any run on record. Several purse seine boats narrowly escaped being swamped when the weight of fish in their nets overbalanced the craft.

FALLS DOWN STAIRS; KILLED.

George Armstrong, 66 years old, 414 South Clifton avenue, Park Ridge, a stationary engineer, was fatally injured yesterday when he fell down the rear stairs of his home and fractured his skull.

SCANDINAVIANS ARM AS MEANS TO STAY NEUTRAL

Fear Being Drawn Into Some One Else's War.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, July 18.—In any major European conflict the Scandinavian countries are going to be neutral. They are now heavily increasing their armed strength in order to guarantee this neutrality.

As with the United States it is the fear of being drawn into a conflict which is mostly some one else's affair rather than direct invasion of their own territory that actuates the northern democratic states. They perhaps would be most directly involved in event of any conflict between the Russians and the Germans.

Sweden is leading the way in rearmament. Heavy extra appropriations for defense were immediately agreed to by all the political parties. An immediate additional expenditure of from twelve to eighteen million dollars is estimated.

Store Commodities.

Sweden's ordinary defense budget this year is $45,774,000, compared with $45,250,000 last year. But there are important allocations for various preparedness purposes that figure elsewhere in the budget. Last year $17,800,000 was spent on storage of fuel, fertilizers and other commodities from which the country might be cut off in time of war. This year a similar amount will be spent for the same purpose.

This year municipalities will spend as much for the same purpose. A special defense measure for railways and power stations also is provided for under other budget headings than defense.

From these figures it is gathered that Sweden's expenditure on defense by this year will run to something over $76,290,000. This means more than 20 per cent of the national budget.

Norway Changes View.

More significant is the rearmament of Norway which is, by temperament and tradition, the most anti-militarist country in the world. The coup of Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Austria and other European events this spring have made a change in the Norwegian point of view. Only a few months ago political parties in the Norwegian storting [congress] were haggling over the comparatively small extra appropriation for defense. Then a few weeks ago the Socialist [Labor party] government proposed an expenditure which went beyond the wildest dreams of the conservatives and opposition.

Under this bill, which got general support in the storting, $13,223,000 was appropriated forthwith for defense purposes in addition to the ordinary defense budget which amounts this year to about $12,970,000. Out of the extra allocation, which it is hoped to cover by a domestic loan, about $9,000,000 is intended for various military purposes and the rest for supplies.

Finns Watch Russia.

Finland, too, is increasing its military expenses, which about double the defense budget. Finland looks uneasily at the Russian frontier and a possible clash between Germany and Russia.

Denmark this year has not increased military expenses. Being on the border of Germany the Danes fear to rile Hitler by boosting their armaments. But a meeting of all the Scandinavian powers is going to be held in Copenhagen at the end of this month at which measures for promoting peace will be discussed.

ROBS DRUG STORE.

NORWAY PROSPEROUS, HEAD OF PARLIAMENT TELLS CHICAGOANS

Norway is enjoying grand health and prosperity, Carl Joachim Hambro, president of the Norwegian parliament, said last night in a talk at the Logan Square Masonic temple.

Carl J. Hambro.

Production is at the peak, he said. Employment is on a higher level than ever before. The Norwegian treasury has a surplus. The birth rate is climbing. And Norway is collaborating with other Scandinavian countries for peace.

Mr. Hambro arrived in Chicago yesterday aboard a New York Central railroad train. He was welcomed by a large delegation of Norwegian-Americans headed by Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court.

SERVE CONTEMPT NOTICE ON HORAN IN BAILIF ROW

Albert J. Horan, bailif of the Municipal court, was served late last night with a contempt summons in connection with his refusal to reinstate fifty-five dismissed deputy bailifs. He will appear tomorrow afternoon before Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court. Judges of the court recently ordered him to rehire the deputies. He refused, and said his refusal was based on a desire to save the taxpayers' money. Since Horan is bailif, he was not served with the contempt notice by a deputy, but by Police Lieutenant Richard Barry.

KING AND QUEEN EMBARK TODAY ON PEACE TOUR

Elaborate Welcome to Be Theirs in France.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 18.—King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth will go to Paris tomorrow for the most elaborate state visit made by any sovereigns since the beginning of this century.

But it also is vitally significant politically and already has begun to bear political fruit. The dictator countries are putting out feelers to learn just how much it means and whether the British will call off the armaments race.

Capt. Franz Wiedemann, personal aid of Reichsfuehrer Hitler, arrived here yesterday. He frequently is entrusted with important secret missions, and this time it is to find out if the British really intend to play out the arms game to the limit.

Timed to Bind Nations.

The real motive of the royal trip is like that of the visit of King Edward VII. which cemented the entente cordiale in the early years of the century. It is to show the world how closely Great Britain and France are tied together, and marks what amounts to an alliance.

Britain's foreign secretary, Viscount Halifax; the French premier, Edouard Daladier, and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet will hold political talks to discuss the world situation during the visit. This is proof in itself that the trip is not all for the sake of tea parties and colored bunting.

Diplomats were scurrying about London today trying to discover just how far the new entente cordiale goes. They want to know how much Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, meant by his speech last Friday in the house of commons in which he said the British would continue the armaments race, whatever the burden, if necessary.

Akin to Old Alliances.

In addition, there was the revelation on Saturday that Premier Daladier and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain had exchanged secret letters assuring friendship. Any one of those factors might be laughed off as a mere gesture, but taken together they spell something very like an old fashioned alliance in case of war.

This is the first state visit of British sovereigns abroad since the end of the world war. In fact, such visits rarely are recorded in British history.

The king and queen will leave Victoria station at 9:10 a. m. Tuesday for Dover, where they will board the admiralty yacht Enchantress at 10:55 a. m. A squadron of destroyers will accompany the yacht across the channel, which will be cleared of all other trafic while they pass.

Triumphant Tour Awaiting.

PARIS, July 18.—(AP)—France prepared a triumphant, thoroughly policed reception tonight for King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of England, coming tomorrow on a four day state visit to reaffirm the Anglo-French defensive alliance.

The sovereigns will land at Boulogne and proceed to Paris, their movements guarded by an army of 100,000 men mobilized for their protection during the trip.

The visit follows by three months the trip of French ministers to London to supplement their mutual assistance understanding with closer military staf talks, and by two months the journey of Reichsfeuhrer Adolf Hitler to see Premier Benito Mussolini in Rome.

Guard Against Any Mishap.

The capital was decorated elaborately for the most striking reception ever accorded in the history of royal visits to France, and seldom have such protective measures been taken.

The government ordered 20,000 police prepared for duty throughout the visit; 20,000 reserve officers in Paris were recruited as plain clothes men; the war ministry assigned 50,000 troops to the task.

London's famed Scotland Yard worked with the Paris prefecture of police in drawing up the plans. They wanted to prevent a repetition of two bits of European history foremost in their minds: The assassinations of the Archduke Ferdinand of Austria at Sarajevo, the spark that touched off the world war, and the assassination of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia at Marseilles on Oct. 9, 1934, just after he had landed on a state visit to France.

$833.33 A MONTH GRANTED RYAN'S BRIDE FOR A DAY

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Supreme Court Justice Salvatore A. Cotillo today granted Mrs. Martha Barkley Ryan a separation, $833.33 a month alimony, and $7,500 counsel fees, and gave her husband, Basil Allen [Pat] Ryan, a tongue lashing.

"The defendant must be taught the lesson that an American woman, no matter how humble her station in life, cannot be treated as a chattel and dropped like a discarded toy or ornament by a drunken playboy," Justice Cotillo said.

He denounced young Ryan, who will eventually inherit $1,100,000 from the estate of his grandfather, Thomas Fortune Ryan, for saying he was drunk when he was married. He also denounced the heir for going to Europe instead of defending the suit.

No southern judge could have been more gallant to the woman in the case, who bore a child to Ned Parks, a soda jerker, shortly before she was married to Ryan in Morganton, N. C., last Nov. 4. Justice Cotillo called that "an unfortunate pre-marital experience."

In his opinion Justice Cotillo pointed out that Ryan married the southern girl two days after they met, deserted her the day after the marriage, and has not seen her since.

SWEDISH PRINCE PAUSES IN CITY ON WAY TO EAST

Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden, Princess Louise, and Prince Bertil arrived in Chicago at midnight from a two day visit in Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn. They left fifteen minutes later for Pittsburgh, Pa., and New York. The royal party visited Chicago last week.

They entered the Union station aboard the Burlington railroad Zephyr train. A red carpet was laid from their coach. They walked the length of the station to board a Pennsylvania railroad train. Police protected them from sightseers. Members of the train crew said that Prince Bertil rode in the train cab for an hour. He examined the apparatus minutely.

REPUBLICANS IN THE ILLINOIS HOUSE.

Mention, with deserved credit, was made the other day of the Illinois Republican state senators who stood as a minority but as an effective front against the unwise, ill considered proposals thrown at the legislature in its special session. On the other side of the legislative floor, in the house of representatives, the minority bloc of Republicans performed the same service.

All the Republican members of the house who want to return to the next general assembly will be candidates for election this fall. Their service in the special session proved the importance of sustaining a legislative group which has resisted unsound policies. In New Deal years the Republicans have been forced into a minority position but have not been a negligible minority. That would not have been true of a less aggressive bloc which would submit to majority control without a fight.

The house Republicans, led by Elmer Schnackenberg, suppressed the resolution for the calling of a constitutional convention to tinker with Illinois fundamental law at a time when the constitution was proving it was well framed for a period of ephemeral and fomenting radical ideas. The principal reason for calling the special session was to meet an alleged emergency in the relief situation. If the Republicans had not been on guard this opportunity would have been seized to impose new taxes. The state is more heavily taxed now than it has been under any other state administration and if the Republicans had not demanded a showdown on the state finances, new and unnecessary levies would have been voted because of the emergency alleged.

The house Republicans required an accounting from the finance director and examined the treasury statements he produced. Mr. Schnackenberg dug into the figures obtained from the state auditor and the state treasurer and discovered that instead of a deficit at the end of the biennium there would be 11 million dollars in excess of appropriations available for relief. As a result of this the proposals for the additional taxes were dropped and the appropriation of 2 million 800 thousand dollars for relief was voted from the general revenue.

When the sales, or occupational, tax was adopted at the beginning of the need for relief it was the optimistic opinion of the Democrats that it would be required only for a short time and that thereafter part of it could be diverted to general revenue. That was done, and consequently the tax which was intended originally only for the emergency relief of people hit by the depression has become a great producer of money for general state purposes, and every once in a while, because of this diversion, something that is called a crisis arises in the business of the relief agencies. The first thing that politicians responsible for such a situation think of doing is to raise more taxes.

If the Republicans in the house had not persistently challenged this procedure, an overtaxed state would now be increasing the divvy to its government, and these taxes, once levied, would continue to furnish more revenue for new expenditures. The Republicans in the house who made a fine record were real conservative lawmakers and they deserve to be returned to continue to meet the problems which do not as yet show a subsidence in this or any other state. In fact, the issue, if present portents be reliable, may be joined in sharper conflict in the legislatures of 1939 than it has been thus far.

"LOW COST HOUSING."

The United States Housing authority announced the other day that its commitments have passed the half billion dollar mark. The size of the figure suggests that from the viewpoint of the federal taxpayer low cost housing is a misnomer. Even in these days of 4 billion dollar deficits half a billion is still a lot of money.

Indeed, there is no such thing as low cost housing from any viewpoint because it is impossible to build new houses to compete with the depreciated value of old ones. If any considerable number of modern gadgets are included in the new projects the price goes up even further.

And if the government does the building the cost moves still further out of line. The experts are agreed that the specifications for the housing projects in Chicago were so rigid, thanks to burocratic zeal, that costs became far higher than they would have been if private capital had been at stake.

"Low cost housing" is a self-serving phrase and as such is a typical example of New Deal falsification. It is high cost housing to the federal taxpayers and to the owners of other real estate who must foot the bill. It is less-than-cost housing for the favored few who are accepted as tenants. They are given a subsidy which the rest of the population does not receive. Not the least deceptive aspect of the scheme is the fact that the recipients of this charity are by no means the most unfortunate members of the community. Many an occupant of a g[illegible]t built apartment has a larger income than his neighbors who made heavy sacrifices to own their own homes and pay heavy taxes to retain them.

WE LIVE IN AMERICA.

Americans abroad, and particularly the semi-Americans of our Atlantic seaboard, seem to take particular pleasure in referring to our country as "the States." It is a derogatory, sneering, belittling phrase, the use of which should not be tolerated by any self-respecting citizen.

The Oxford dictionary records that as early as 1777 John Adams employed the expression in a letter to his family in which he said, 'The enemy . . . found a quantity of corn and oats belonging to the States." Alexander Hamilton in the same year wrote of "a treaty between the court of France and the States of America." The sentences were written within a year of the Declaration of Independence, when national consciousness was just beginning to develop and national unity was still non-existent.

In the nineteenth century the English worked the phrase for all it was worth. Worthless sons were sent to "the States" as to outer darkness. The phrase embodied every sneer that could be directed at a nation which declined to disintegrate, as republican governments were supposed to do, but instead continued to grow in strength and importance.

Those who feel that "the United States" is too long and too formal a phrase to use in ordinary conversation can use "America." It is true, of course, that America, as a geographical expression, might mean two continents, but if America is objectionable for this reason, "the States" is even more so because it means the whole world. We have a prior claim to call ourselves Americans. As Burke pointed out, our country when it was formed was the only independent nation in this hemisphere. The rest were colonial. Inhabitants of this country were therefore entitled to call themselves Americans, at a time when the populations elsewhere on the two continents were British, French, Dutch, Portuguese, Spanish or something else.

In time our neighbors achieved independence. They called their countries by such titles as "the United States of Brazil" and "the United States of Mexico." In ordinary speech they were Brazil and Mexico, just as the dominion of Canada is Canada. Every country in the new world has such a characteristic name. Nobody speaking of Brazil or Venezuela would think of referring to it as America. That word has been reserved for the United States, just as clearly as the phrase, "the United States" means this country and not one of the other federal unions.

"The States" is undignified, inaccurate, and uncouth. It should be dropped from the American vocabulary.

A GREAT FIRE-POLICE SHOW.

The first joint Chicago Police and Fire Department show Sunday at Soldiers' field was a great success, as 70,000 thrilled citizens will long remember. At 25 cents a ticket for adults the spectator saw a $3 show and had the satisfaction of knowing it was his own. Hollywood couldn't have done any better for a supercolossal production than these Chicago firemen and policemen did to show the people the highlights of their service to the city.

Thrills are in the routine of police and fire work and the men themselves enjoyed the opportunity to give in dramatic mimicry specimens of the work they are called upon to perform in the routine of their duty. The people saw a thousand of the police and firemen who are devoted to the protection of life and property in Chicago. They were given a constantly exhilarating and swiftly moving panorama in which the equipment and methods for fighting fires and fighting criminals were exhibited with a precision that never faltered and an interest that never lagged.

It wasn't a wild west show but it proved that there is a frontier which may be subdued but is seldom obliterated, the dangerous one in which fire and crime must be fought by men trained to meet the dangers and expose themselves in the line of duty. THE TRIBUNE, which had a part with the police and fire departments and the park district in sponsoring the show, believes that this has now become an annual event for Chicago and that it will not only give the people the thrills which were enjoyed Sunday at Soldiers' field but that it will better the relationship of these two all important city services and the public. The firemen and policemen were proud of their part in the exhibition and the people gave every evidence of being proud of them.

INSTRUCTIVE CONTRAST.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The statement from Albany that New York state begins its new fiscal year in a good hope that the remnants of a $100,000,000 deficit will be wiped out within the next twelve months is of interest to the entire country.

For the big deficit was an inheritance from the days when Franklin D. Roosevelt was governor of the Empire state, and the successful "whittling down" process has been carried on by his immediate successor, Gov. Lehman, in spite of all the difficulties and problems Mr. Roosevelt left behind him when he went to Washington.

Notwithstanding the size of those difficulties and problems, it is not in the record that the needy in New York have been neglected as a result of Lehman economies or that the general welfare of the commonwealth has suffered.

Nor would a contention that New York has been able to reduce its indebtedness in a large way during a period of depression because it has received aid from Washington stand up. New York has contributed more to Washington in taxes than it has received from Washington handouts.

The difference between the financial showing of New York at the end of the Roosevelt régime and the showing as the Lehman régime draws to a close is due to a basic difference in the administrative ideas and capacities of the two governors.

The contrast is important, because it brings into instructive high-relief a main reason why under the New Deal federal finance has been plunging at dizzy speed into the red and is still dropping like a heavily loaded, pricked balloon toward the gulf of insolvency.

RENDEZVOUS.

Across the room I felt your eyes,
An invitation faintly sweet,
And then you came and feigned surprise
And said how nice it was to meet.
I blushed a little when your hand

Confusing problems of the day—
And then you rose and said goodbye
And smiled some tame banality;
We knew it was a lovely lie,

That sampler puzzle you printed some time ago has me worried no end. The one in the collection of Dr. James Walker beginning Sasidu by ever and to misfortune born . . . I have studied it for weeks, translated it into Greek and back again, but without getting any light. The nearest I can come to the solution is that it is a cavalryman's lament to his horse on account of being jilted by his sweetheart. So by rearranging the words and adding a few here and there to fill in the text you can get some sense out of it:

My foes oppress me, my companions scorn
My Sasidu to misfortune born;
In vain I seek my friends of yesteryear,
I think I'll drown my sorrows in a beer.
My God, what is then left for me?
I wish to hell I'd uv never been born!
So, fie upon thee, damned inconstant lover,
Ah, Sasidu, my own, my dear, please shove eover.

Of course, if this solution isn't satisfactory, I can only suggest that you rearrange the words again and start with "My friends": And end with "Sasidu by Eover."

NUTRITIONAL NEEDS FOR PERFECT TEETH.

THE most prevalent disorder of modern life is the wanton decay of teeth. It has been estimated that from 90 to 95 per cent of all the school children in this country suffer from this malady. The strange part of it all is that it goes hand in hand with civilization, as natives living in remote places—who know nothing of refined foods—practically are free from the difficulty. On the other hand, if the offspring of these races are brought into contact with the community life of a long settled region they become highly susceptible.

Because we have lived through it we may perhaps have forgotten the days or weeks of distress resulting from crumbling teeth with bacteria laden pockets—the outcome of abscesses—about the roots, as well as sore, inflamed gums. How much trouble with the heart, how much rheumatism, how much interference with growth and normal development may be laid to disease within the mouth cannot be calculated with accuracy. Nevertheless, as every physician can testify, pus that is draining into the circulation is a serious handicap to good health.

What is the rôle of vitamins in maintaining good hygiene within the mouth? Certainly if they are not curative they are contributing factors, with C and D as the main forces and A hovering in the background, having to do particularly with the condition of the gums. The experiments of May Mellanby show the importance of vitamin D. She found that with groups of children she could prophesy the formation of the chewing apparatus by feeding more or less of this material. In certain cases, with the ingestion of generous amounts of D, the process of destruction actually ceased—all the teeth becoming firmer and harder.

Cereals, on the other hand, have the opposite effect and diets consisting largely of substances such as oatmeal must be reinforced with vitamin D. The thing desired, of course, is a proper proportion of minerals [calcium and phosphorus] and the bone forming vitamin. Grains furnish phosphorus, but they are low in lime, hence using a liberal ration of milk will supply this deficiency.

What does vitamin D do? It helps to render the calcium available and hence absorbable. At this point we must correct a commonly accepted but erroneous belief, namely, that oats, wheat, rice, barley, etc., contain a poison which is neutralized by D. Nothing poisonous is found in any one of these. All that we need is a correct adjustment of the various minerals, and milk aids this admirably.

But what about vitamin C? Some authorities have maintained that dental ailments are allied to a mild attack of scurvy and hence the recommendation has been made that quantities of orange and grapefruit juices, as well as fresh vegetables, are essential for the preservation of the gums. That this is a sound contention is borne out by the fact that great improvement is brought about in pyorrhea by the copious employment of C. Cases far advanced—even to the stage in which teeth have become loosened—have made real progress toward recovery.

But it has been found that this element alone—without the assistance of D—is inadequate; in other words, there must be a balance. Adults may take as much as a pint of orange juice each day; that is, if the teeth are soft and the gums tender with a tendency to bleed. This may be considered a curative dose. A quarter of this portion, however—in the absence of disease—will be sufficient to maintain the health of the soft structures. Furthermore, a teaspoonful of cod liver oil or ten drops of viosterol with a quart of milk each day will meet all additional requirements.

All of which means that the modern dentist—to be of the greatest service—must have a thorough understanding of the principles of nutrition, particularly as applied to his young patients who are shedding their first ivories and getting ready for their permanent sets.

Claustrophobia is a common condition and has no relation to insanity. Try to recall some childhood experience that first aroused the fear. REPLY.

Mineral oil does not cause cancer, even if a so-called educated man says so.

TERMS OF WILL.

Chicago, July 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In leaving a will [1] is it a bad thing to leave side notes explaining why will was so made, directing accusations against certain individuals? 2. Could a will be broken on account of this or could estate be sued? 3. Is there any inheritance tax to pay on an estate in joint ownership between husband and wife, such as savings bonds or real estate [when one or the other dies]? E. C.

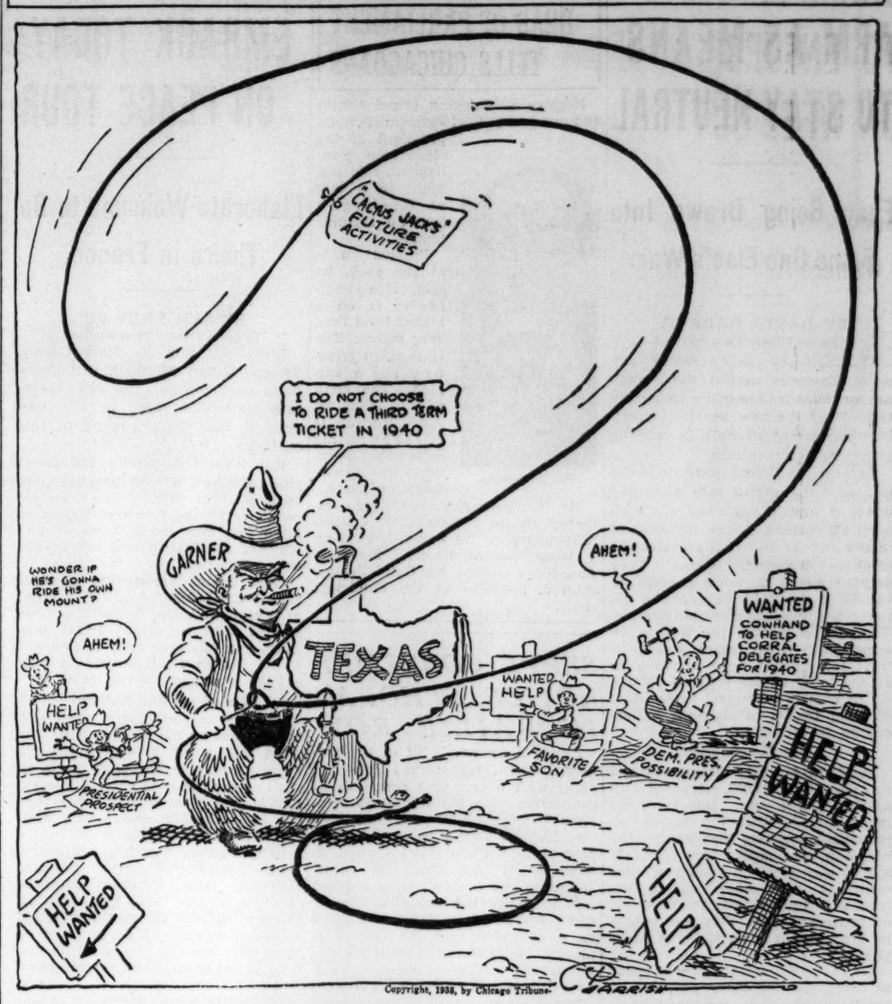

1. We can hardly pass on their wisdom or unwisdom without having the wording before us.

2. Such notes could be considered with other evidence as bearing on the mental capacity of the testator.

3. The one-half that passes by survivorship would be subject to inheritance tax. The exemption to a husband or a wife is $20,000 worth.

WORST THIS SIDE OF HADES.

Chicago, July 16.—For infernal, eternal uproar and racket, Chicago leads this side of Hades. In no other city do people suffer as they do in Chicago from the ceaseless bedlam caused by drivers of trucks, buses, motorcycles and autos. You may call this business if you will, but it spells hell for the people.

Owners of boats are forbidden to blow their whistles while passing from one bridge to another in the river. This followed a protest from people working in offices and business houses near by. But what of those robbed of their much needed rest and sleep by the noise makers throughout the entire night? At this season, when windows are open, the racket becomes intolerable.

Makers of autos should be forbidden by law to manufacture such horns as are in use today. Were these horns intended to frighten the beasts of the forest, they would accomplish their purpose. They are a menace to health and are disturbers of the quiet peace that should prevail in a civilized community. They should be abolished immediately.

To the thousands who are suffering from this irritating din, Mayor Kelly can apply a remedy by passing an ordinance against horn tooting in the city limits. In St. Paul the tooting of horns after 9 p. m. is strictly forbidden. There is more racket in Chicago's loop in one day than in St. Louis in six months. In Pittsburgh there is a fine of $10 for tooting a horn at any time.

P. J. MCARDLE.

VOTING HINT FROM SWEDEN.

Chicago, July 14.—Reading in THE TRIBUNE today of Swedish royalty being in Chicago and seeing McCutcheon's cartoon on the front page reminded me of several things. There is a lot of talk about modeling ourselves after Sweden in cleanliness and in economic and political problems. How about following in line with their system of voting? If a Swedish subject has accepted 1 cent of relief from the government, he or she is not entitled to vote that year. In our country, if this law prevailed, O what would become of the Democrats this coming election? I ask you.

FRED G. BERRY.

ALSO A CHEERFUL SWAPPER.

Rochester, Minn., July 14.—In today's TRIBUNE I read with interest, but not much surprise, your "The Cheerful Giver" editorial.

In Texas it has been a foregone conclusion for some time that Gov. Jimmie Allred would have an appointment to the federal bench from President Roosevelt. Gov. Allred should have had it, because he sold his political birthright in Texas for the mess of pottage by appointing Elliott Roosevelt to the board of regents of the Texas A. and M.

A TEXAN.

PARADING AMERICANS.

Chicago, July 14.—Most every community has them. They preach good citizenship to their neighbors and at the slightest opportunity make grand displays of our flag, yet often, although long eligible for a pension, no doubt through some fabricated story, continue to remain on government pay rolls, thus depriving a younger man of the job. Why don't these would-be patriots practice real Americanism by giving younger men the break they are entitled to?

BEACHIE.

TEACHING PATRIOTISM.

Chicago, July 14.—One of your writers bemoaned the fact recently that few Americans know the national air, the "Star Spangled Banner." It is hard to learn and hard to sing. Beside that, it is all about war, the "rockets' red glare," etc. "America, the Beautiful" should be our national air.

But your correspondent was mistaken in saying we Americans did not learn the "Star Spangled Banner." I have taught school in Chicago for sixteen years. Every school day when the bell rings at 9 my room—204, at Shakespeare school, 46th and Greenwood — stands. First, with hands outstretched, we salute our flag. And every room has a flag, placed there by the board of education.

Slowly and earnestly they—my forty-five children — begin, "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America," and so on, to the end. Then we sing the "Star Spangled Banner," first and last verses. These children are mine for five months and when they leave my room to go into a higher grade they know and can sing our national anthem.

A special order came to us from the board to do this, and I think every teacher does the same thing in the mornings for opening exercises unless it be in rooms of very small children.

If you could attend one of our assemblies and see 1,200 children salute their flag and hear them sing the national air, you would perhaps, as I do, have a warm feeling that patriots are being made in our public schools, as far as possible. MRS. A. M. ELLIOTT.

HORAN CAN'T KID HIM.

Chicago, July 15.—Al Horan's statement that the firing of fifty-five deputy bailiffs was an economy move is really a joke.

However, the people of Chicago are not as ignorant politically as he thinks they are. Forced to affiliate themselves with political organizations, for want of work, due to the depression, they have learned the tactics of politics and are therefore in a position to know better than to believe such a statement.

The Municipal judges are to be congratulated for their stand. As a non-political body, they are endeavoring to keep politics out of election. Such is the spirit of true citizenship. J. V. L.

BUS AND RAIL COSTS.

Chicago, July 14.—Sheer stupidity of management in the passenger department of railways continues to encourage people to travel by bus or automobile.

As an example: I wished to make a round trip to Traverse City, Mich. The fare in a coach is $6.60, but, if comfort is wanted, the charge is $3.30 more for the privilege of paying $2.50 more for a berth, making the cost one way $12.40 to ride in comfort, or $6.60 to ride in discomfort.

And, as I would as soon be uncomfortable in a bus as in a coach, I made the trip by bus. It cost me $1.50 less than going by train, and for the round trip, if I went by train and Pullman, the cost would have been $24.80, so I went by bus and the round trip cost me only $11.70, which is $13.10 less than I would have had to pay for railway fare if I rode in a Pullman.

The railway companies, instead of deserving sympathy, deserve only the same brand of contempt they create by their idiotic business methods.

REGUSTED,
An Old ex-R. R. Conductor.

TENANTS ARE THANKFUL.

Chicago, July 14.—I write to deny J. W. K.'s statement that Ald. Rowan has sponsored a testimonial letter of 462 names to President Roosevelt, telling him how much the people in Trumbull Park housing project like their quarters.

Ald. Rowan did not sponsor this letter. He is interested in the residents here, just as he is in all the people of the 10th ward, which he represents.

The residents of Trumbull Park homes are sponsoring this letter, which will be signed by about 1,500 names, representing 462 families. When we send the letter thanking the President we will in reality be thanking the people of the United States, through the office of the President.

LOUIS DINNOCENZO,

FINDS BRIDGE A CLEAR WASTE.

Chicago, July 15.—If you want a story on waste of money, look at the foolish bridge at 47th street and the outer drive. No reason for it; no walk; no bridle path; a bridge built for no reason. Damnable outrage!

BOARD OF HEALTH TO ENFORCE LAW ON WEED CUTTING

Survey to Make Property Owners Act in 5 Days.

City health inspectors today will begin searching for owners of property where high weeds are growing. The war against weeds which aggravate hay fever and obscure motorists' vision is hampered this year by refusal of the Works Progress administration to aid city authorities.

Board of health employés will hunt for lots where weeds are more than 30 inches high. Owners of the property then will be traced and notified to cut the weeds within five days. If owners fail to obey the order the weeds will be cut by city employés in the department of public works. The city ordinance requiring this action provides that the cost shall then be charged to the property owners.

Weeds Create Trafic Hazards.

Along 87th street, particularly at Blackstone avenue, weeds are high and may cause accidents.

Narragansett and Gunnison avenues, an extremely severe vision obstruction occurs for westbound trafic, and sign here is also hidden.

WPA Adamant in Refusal.

H. K. Seltzer, director of WPA operations for Chicago, yesterday indicated there is no hope of persuading WPA officials in Washington to withdraw their new ban on weed cutting. That such work is done on private property is "objectionable," according to the Washington ruling.

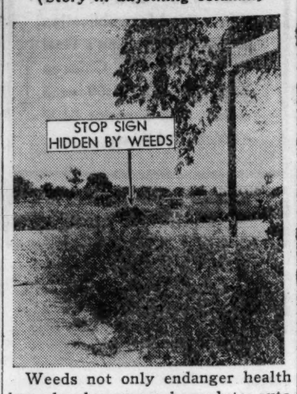

However, another avenue of rather limited aid appeared. William J. Campbell, state director of the National Youth administration, said yesterday that 300 youths are available to clear vacant lots of rubbish and weeds. But they will be permitted to work only on lots which may be used as playgrounds with the owners' consent, he said.

MUSIC FESTIVAL BAND REHERSAL STARTS TONIGHT

One of the headlights in the ninth annual Chicagoland Music festival to be held Aug. 20 in Soldiers' field will be the Chicago high school massed band. Tonight the first group from this 1,000 piece band will reherse in the Lyon & Healy building. They are the woodwinds and saxophone players. Cornet and trumpet players will practice tomorrow night. All other players will reherse Thursday night. Oscar Anderson, supervisor of instrumental music in the Chicago public schools, is in charge.

Pushes Playmate Into Lake; Goes to His Aid; Both Saved

Donald Carroll, 1418 East 71st place, did not know that George Smith, 7020 Harper avenue, could not swim when he pushed him into Lake Michigan at 71st street last night while the boys were playing. Both are 13 years old. But when he saw George floundering, Donald leaped in to save him. He was being dragged down by George when two men in a row boat rescued both boys.

RUNS RED LIGHT THEN EXPLAINS HIMSELF TO JAIL

Gust Benson might have been charged with nothing more serious than driving through a red light. But he did too much explaining to the policeman at Washington boulevard and Pine street. The policeman smelled his breath and charged him with driving while intoxicated. Judge Stephen Adamowski sentenced him to 10 days in jail and suspended his motoring privileges until Jan. 3 in Safety court yesterday. Benson lives at 1455 Massasoit avenue.

Other Safety court punishments: Oliver Nelson of 3611 North Damen avenue, reckless driving, 10 days in jail; Clarence Anderson, 4917 South Kildare avenue, reckless driving, 5 days in jail; and Felix Jelenienski, 3032 Lyman street, reckless driving, $25 fine.

James Pick was charged with driving past a red light when he faced Magistrate Frank Pavek in the Berwyn police court yesterday.

"Two persons have telephoned asking that you be discharged because you are a good boy," the magistrate said. "I want you to know that cases can't be fixed in my court. I'm going to fine you $10."

ORDERS SPEEDER TO COUNT AUTOS PASSING CORNER

Frank Zalon, 25 years old, will be found sitting at Ridgeland avenue and Cermak road in Berwyn next Sunday with a pad of paper and a pencil. He will be serving the sentence imposed yesterday by Police Magistrate Frank J. Pavek of Berwyn. Arrested for speeding, Zalon was ordered to spend four hours counting the automobiles that pass the corner where he was first sighted as a speeder. He is to let Magistrate Pavek know the results on July 25. Zalon lives at 1837 South Loomis street.

Angsten Feted for 25 Years on Industrial Commission

Peter J. Angsten, chairman of the Illinois Industrial commission, yesterday celebrated the completion of 25 years with the commission. Four others injured in the same accident were in the Morris hospital. Lindquist's son, Clifford, two years old, was killed.

Robert Nelson, 16 years old, colored, 2659 Michigan avenue, was killed last night by an automobile while he was riding a bicycle at 56th street and Michigan avenue. Bernard Tate, 39, also colored, 4521 Michigan avenue, was driving the car.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 442 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 341 were killed in Chicago, where 10,105 were injured in the same period.

Can't Swim; Can Scream; Guard Hears; Rescues Her

Mrs. Maybelle Haifleigh, 42 years old, 3433 Belle Plaine avenue, was unable to swim, but she was able to scream yesterday when she stepped into deep water off the Lee street beach in Evanston. Sid Ferguson, Northwestern university student and a life guard, heard her. He swam out and rescued Mrs. Haifleigh. She was recovering last night in St. Francis hospital, Evanston.

HODES PROPOSES SYPHILIS WAR ON NATIONAL FRONT

Urges State Compacts to Broaden Drive.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Crediting THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE with the publicity campaign that has given the fight on syphilis its present impetus, Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel for the city of Chicago, appealed to the Institute of Municipal Law Officers today to get behind a movement for interstate compacts as the only feasible means of stamping out social diseases.

"If states," he said, "may be persuaded to enter into compacts by which they will enforce together effective laws for compulsory examination and treatment for social diseases, I think real progress may be made in this vital problem.

"And I repeat that I believe our municipalities ought to take the initiative for bringing pressure upon our states for such action. In this realm at least our municipalities can afford to forget home rule principles, for clearly this is one municipal problem that cries for action on a scale broader than municipal lines."

Considers Other Problems.

This was only one of a multitude of the problems of municipalities that Hodes surveyed in opening the midyear meeting of the organization of law officers of the leading cities of which he is president.

In the examination of what he termed the "frontiers of municipal law," Hodes predicted the "secession" of large cities from the states at no distant date and the creation of city states in the interest of providing for such municipalities a more effective scope of home rule. The first city states to be added to the Union, he suggested, would be Chicago, New York, and Philadelphia.

"The granting of home rule to municipalities is the most vital problem that confronts American states today," Hodes said. "The refusal of state governments to grant greater powers to cities is causing many students of government to believe that cities will be forced to break away from the states and petition to be established themselves as states.

Cites Conflict Over Powers.

"Personally I do not wish to see this happen. However, I can see that it might be made inevitable by the force of events. The new social problems that confront all cities, with new social responsibilities such as housing, are placing such pressure upon municipalities that they are finding it hard to undertake and carry out these new responsibilities adequately except as they are given the necessary power. There is a constant conflict between cities and the states over municipal powers to act."

In discussing the warfare on social diseases, Hodes approached what he called "a frontier of social action that I believe ought to concern every citizen, a frontier of health calling for a public, out-in-the-open onslaught upon this public menace."

Praises Surgeon General.

"Due largely," said Mr. Hodes, "to the leadership of the surgeon general of the United States and his associates, in which Chicago's board of health president, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, joined, and also to a publicity campaign by a Chicago newspaper, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, these diseases have come to be recognized generally as grave menaces to public health, affecting the well-being of the entire nation, and the fight, happily, has come out into the open.

"The assistant surgeon general, Dr. Vonderlehr, recently estimated that the United States has 6,000,000 victims of syphilis and 12,000,000 victims of gonorrhea. And as a graphic illustration of the seriousness of these diseases he pointed out that gonorrhea affects three times as many people as tuberculosis, four times as many as scarlet fever, twenty-seven times as many as diphtheria, fifty-eight times as many as typhoid, and one hundred times as many as infantile paralysis.

"Now that the battle against these diseases has been brought out into the open, the fight is just beginning and it is appropriate to inspect the available material with which to carry on an unremitting campaign; also to determine the rôle of the city, to learn what a municipality may do and what it may not do."

Points Way to Action.

Although the problem should be recognized as a national one, Hodes declared, direct action by the federal government is impossible without a constitutional amendment. The problem, therefore, is one for states, he said.

"But individual state action is not enough," he continued. "Such action will be relatively ineffective because the venereal disease germ is not geographically conscious, and in the second place it is not likely that any state administration will wish to assume the responsibility for a burdensome statute which, standing alone, is of doubtful ultimate value. The solution, I believe, lies in the device of interstate compacts.."

850 MILLION U. S. HEALTH AID PLAN IS GIVEN DOCTORS

Called Unworkable by Medical Body Head.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—A presidential committee recommended today a vast public health program costing $850,000,000 annually, only to have the head of the American Medical association brand it, by plain implication, as unworkable.

The program, laid before the national health conference by a committee on medical care which President Roosevelt appointed, was the first government sponsored proposal for providing medical, hospital, and dental care, as well as health insurance and illness compensation.

Questions Practicability.

In reply, Dr. Irvin Abell of Louisville, Ky., the medical association's president, told the 175 doctors, government officials, and others attending the health conference:

"Those people who think that they can devise a centrally controled medical service plan which can be fitted to the varying conditions of the states, counties, and cities of this country are discussing theories which no practical health administration could possibly approve."

Dr. Abell spoke after the conference received a message from President Roosevelt saying that "millions of citizens lack the individual means to pay for adequate medical care" and that a "coördinated national program of action" is imperative.

Dr. Hugh Cabot of the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., a prominent member of the Committee of Physicians, the rebel group within the American Medical association, received an ovation when he declared the association is not meeting the problem of providing adequate medical care for all the people and that the problem can only be handled by the federal and state governments.

Finds Widespread Need.

In many areas in the United States the "practice of medicine is medieval," Dr. Cabot said, and thousands of persons go without medical care while thousands of young physicians "are starving to death."

Dr. Cabot said later in an interview that representatives of the Committee of Physicians would meet in New York City Thursday to discuss the proposed $850,000,000 health program and other matters introduced during the conference.

After Dr. Cabot's address, Dr. Olin West, secretary and general manager of the American Medical association, declared that he was impelled to rise to the defense of the medical profession. The association has spent millions of dollars of its money and its members have devoted thousands of hours to charity work for the needy, he declared.

Referring to Dr. Cabot's speech, he said that "one member of the medical profession has held it up to ridicule and that seemed to be enjoyed by the audience."

Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States public health service, told the conference today that while there may be a difference of opinion "concerning the rôle of the federal government in putting medical knowledge to work for the benefit of all citizens" there cannot be any disagreement with the principle "that the federal government must increasingly assume leadership in the study of those great causes of disease and death before which we now are helpless."

Rebel Group Serves Notice.

New Haven, Conn., July 18.—Announcements of the Committee of 430, the rebels of organized medicine, that they will set up an independent organization to fight for less costly medical care, were in the mails today.

The announcements were sent to 840 physicians who now are members of this group which started with 430 well-known doctors last year. Its name is the Committee of Physicians.

They oppose policies of the American Medical association's board of trustees on social features of medical care.

Some of their members, the announcements state, are attending the Washington meeting, as individuals but not as instructed representatives of the 430 committee.

Sue Bondsmen of Dead Treasurer for Tax Cash

Lyndon, Ill., July 18.—[Special.]—Lyndon school trustees filed suit for $27,000 today in the Circuit court against the bondsmen for D. F. Millikan, township school treasurer. CITY CAPTIVATED BY QUEEN ON HER VISIT HERE IN 1926

For ninety-one hours, in 1926, Queen Marie was a visitor in Chicago—and a busy one. It was in November. She arrived in a driving rain and left in a snowstorm. But Chicago, she said on her departure, was the most beautiful city she had seen in America.

The queen was accompanied by Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas. Unselfish about appearing in public, she literally captured the city. Thus thousands of Chicagoans had ample opportunity to see her—a real, living queen. In this connection she remarked: "On this trip America has seen me; on the next trip I want to see America."

There was hardly an idle hour in her four day visit. Banquets, dinners, and receptions filled her program. There were visits to historical monuments, institutes and museums, and to hospitals and sanitariums. Even a visit to the Gary steel mills was packed in.

Occasionally Queen Marie took time out for informal activities. She went shopping in the loop and for a swim at the Illinois Women's Athletic club. She left $500 behind to be distributed among hotel employés. They all thought she was a pretty nice queen.

MAJOR CONNOLLY TOPS EXAM FOR AID TO BUNDESEN

Maj. Joel I. Connolly, acting assistant to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, was the only successful candidate in the civil service examination for that job. His name was posted yesterday by the civil service commission. Maj. Connolly's grade was 96.05.

Five other candidates failed to make the passing grade of 70. Among these was Dr. Fred Tonney, who was employed by the board of health for thirty years. In 1936 the city council abolished his job as executive officer.

Half the grade was given on the basis of executive experience and medical training. Maj. Connolly was appointed acting assistant following the death of Dr. Hugo O. Jones.

tive in relief work among her people and also served as a Red Cross nurse in the war area.

Marie was born at Eastwell Park, Kent, England, Oct. 29, 1875. Her father, the second son of Queen Victoria, was Alfred, duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and duke of Edinburgh. Her mother was the Grand Duchess Marie Alexandrovna, only daughter of Alexander II., czar of Russia. Marie was married to Ferdinand in 1893. They had six children, of whom Prince Mircea, the youngest, died in childhood in 1916.

Mother of Present King.

The others were:

Prince Carol, born in 1893, who married Princess Helen of Greece, and who is the present King Carol of Rumania, whose marriage was dissolved.

Princess Elizabeth, born in 1894, who became the wife of King George II. of Greece.

Princess Marie, born in 1900, who married the late King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia.

Although Ferdinand and Marie ascended the throne of Rumania in 1914, their coronation was delayed because of the world war and post-war conditions in their country until October, 1922.

In October, 1926, Queen Marie, accompanied by Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana, came to the United States and during a five weeks' stay made a tour of many of the principal cities.

Social Treat for Chicago.

The royal party's visit to Chicago was an outstanding social event. At the White House President and Mrs. Coolidge gave a state dinner for them. They sailed for home Nov. 23, their visit somewhat abbreviated because of the illness of King Ferdinand. The king died July 20, 1927.

Marie was once described as "a queenly mother and a motherly queen." As her five children grew to maturity she exercised both these characteristics, trying to arrange marriages for them that would be truly royal and enhance the prestige of the family.

Carol was her greatest trial because of his escapades, although Nicholas' elopement disappointed his mother and Ileana's union with a scion of the impecunious Hapsburgs was not the fulfilment of all of Marie's hopes.

[King Carol in April, 1937, expelled Nicholas from the royal family and stripped him of all titles because the prince refused to give up his commoner wife, the former Jana Dumitriscu.]

Carol Renounces Throne.

The disappointed queen saw the day when Carol eloped with a commoner, Jeanne Lambrino, whom he gave up later to wed Princess Helen at his mother's behest. Three years later Carol, infatuated with Magda Lupescu, renounced his rights to the throne and fled to Paris.

Carol and Helen's son, Michael, became king under a regency.

In 1930 Carol ousted his son and took the throne. From then on Marie's power steadily waned, and she retired to write her memoirs.

The dowager queen, who spoke five languages and, though a Protestant, never gave the church a prominent place in her life, once summed up her philosophy:

BOY OF 15 DROWNS HELPING TO SAVE STRICKEN FRIEND

Richard King, 15 years old, 7746 Euclid avenue, was drowned yesterday afternoon in Lake Michigan near Michigan City. He and three other young Chicagoans—Arthur Connor, 7647 Essex avenue; Donald MacKenzie, 7717 Luella avenue, and James McDonough, 7604 Clyde avenue, were swimming to a sandbar 100 yards off Long beach. Mackenzie suffered an attack of cramps and the others sought to save him. McDonough succeeded in pulling MacKenzie ashore, but King sank exhausted. He was the son of Joseph B. King, an executive of the King Chimney, Boiler, and Fireplace company.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

OBITUARIES

Elizabeth Banks.

LONDON, July 18.—(AP)—Miss Elizabeth Banks, 68 years old, died today. She was an American author and newspaper woman whose vigorous exposé of court conditions caused Queen Victoria to change the system of presenting Americans. She had lived in England 40 years and recently had been ill with arthritis.

Miss Banks was a graduate of Milwaukee-Downer college and spent her early years in Wisconsin. Despite her long residence abroad, she retained her American citizenship. She was known by pen names of Enid and Mary Mortimer Maxwell. She was originator of series known as The Lady at the Round Table and author of articles for British newspapers on her experiences as a housemaid, flower girl, laundry girl, and American heiress.

Prof. Jakob Kunz.

Urbana, Ill., July 18.—[Special.]—Prof. Jakob Kunz, 63 years old, noted physicist and a member of the University of Illinois faculty for thirty years, died of uremic poisoning here tonight. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Anna Marie and Margaret. His outstanding work as a physicist was the development of a photo cell which bears his name and which has been used extensively in research in astronomy. Funeral arrangements had not been completed tonight.

Alvin O. Russ.

Alvin O. Russ, for many years a live stock broker, died last night in the Woodlawn hospital. He was 59 years old and lived at the Fairfax hotel. Formerly with Wilson & Co., Mr. Russ had been in business for himself since 1926. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Margaret Curtis Russ, and a daughter, Mrs. Pauline Franck. Funeral services will be held Thursday at Stanberry, Mo., where he was born.

The Rev. Rivington D. Lord.

Clifton, Mass., July 18.—(AP)—The Rev. Dr. Rivington D. Lord, 79 year old president of the American Baptist Home Missionary society, died in a convalescent home today. He had been pastor of the First Baptist church of Williamsburgh, Brooklyn, N. Y. Active in the ministry for fifty-three years, he was a founder of the Federal Council of Churches in 1908.

Maj. John Broden.

Peeksville, N. Y., July 18.—Maj. John E. Broden, 50 years old, owner and principal of the Mohegan Lake Military academy near here, died of heart disease there today. Entering prep school work, he was for a time an instructor at St. John's academy at Delafield, Wis. He acquired the rank of major overseas during the world war.

Dr. Lemuel C. Barnes.

Yonkers, N. Y., July 18.—[Special.]—The Rev. Dr. Lemuel Call Barnes, retired Baptist clergyman, died here today. He was a former secretary of the department of English speaking missions and Indian work of the American Baptist Home Mission society. He was 83 years old.

Dr. Louis Oppitz.

Lebanon, Mo., July 18.—(AP)—Dr. Louis Oppitz, 60 years old, who taught physics at McKendree college twenty-five years, died at his home here this afternoon after a long illness. He previously had been at Central college, Fayette, Mo., and Earlham college, Richmond, Ind.

SHOOTS AT OWN HEART BUT LIVES; IT'S OUT OF PLACE

Because Roman Nicinski's heart isn't where it should be he was still alive early today in spite of a dangerous bullet wound. Nicinski is 47 years old and lives at 1235 Fry street.

Nicinski shot himself. Neighbors found him and took him to the North Avenue hospital. There Dr. Charles Myers, resident physician, examined him.

"Nicinski shot himself where the heart normally is," said Dr. Myers. "His heart happens, however, to be one inch to the left. The bullet therefore missed it."

No Wonder You Are Constipated!

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat potatoes? No wonder you're constipated; you probably don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft "bulky" mass in the bowels. It's this mass that helps a bowel movement.

The common sense thing to do about it is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-tonic, vitamin B_1. Eat this crunchy toasted cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

SCHOOL BOARD AMENDS AIRPORT RENTAL TERMS

The board of education yesterday amended the lease under which the city occupies the 588 acres of land used as Chicago airport. The old lease which extends until 1980, calls for a revaluation of the property in 1947, and the negotiation at that time of new rental terms. The new lease extends the period before revaluation until 1965, thus giving the city another 27 years before revaluation.

The amendment also canceled the clause in the lease which provided for termination of the contract on six months notice by either party. This means that the city's lease on the airport is good until 1980, but new terms for rental of the field must be negotiated in 1965. The amended lease will be submitted to the city council by Mayor Kelly on Wednesday.

The amendment of the lease will permit the 33d Division of the Illinois National Guard to build a new $370,000 hangar on the field. Public Works administration and state funds have been provided for the erection of the structure which will be one of the finest National Guard air bases in the United States.

PLANS ORDERED FOR NEW BRIDGE AT STATE STREET

Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, yesterday instructed City Engineer Loran Gayton to prepare plans and specifications for a new State street bridge over the Chicago river. The present bridge, built in 1903, is obsolete.

After plans have been approved, the commissioner said, the city will ask the Public Works administration for a grant of $1,575,000. Total cost of the new bridge is estimated at $3,500,000.

The new State street subway, for which PWA grants have already been approved, will pass under the bridge. The foundation of the present structure, Hewitt said, is inadequate for construction of the subway. The city council in 1930 voted a bond issue of $3,500,000 for the new bridge. The bonds have been sold, Hewitt said, and the money set aside.

PWA GIVES $135,000 FOR HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING IN ZION

The city of Zion will have a high school for the first time if its residents elect to make use of a $135,000 grant toward a $300,000 building announced yesterday by the regional office of the Public Works administration.

Zion now sends its 400 high school pupils by bus to Waukegan High school five miles away. A bond issue for a new high school was voted down a year ago. Taxpayers will be sounded out on a $165,000 bond issue needed to take advantage of the PWA grant at a meeting in the Zion city hall on Friday. A special election will be required.

The PWA announced a $39,272 grant toward an $81,800 high school in Sycamore, Ill., and a $466,363 grant on a $1,000,000 men's residence hall at Purdue university, Layfayette, Ind.

Lois Truesdale Is Engaged to Charles Gaspar

BY JUDITH CASS.

At a cocktail party at their home in Winnetka Mr. and Mrs. William Day Truesdale announced the engagement of their elder daughter, Lois, to Charles Jamieson Gaspar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gaspar of Larchmont, N. Y.

Miss Truesdale, who made her debut at a tea at the Indian Hill club several seasons ago, has been active in the Chicago Junior league ever since she was graduated from Connecticut college. She now is treasurer of the league, serving for a second term in that capacity.

Mr. Gaspar, who is engaged in business in Chicago, is a graduate of the Sheffield scientific school at Yale university, at which he was a member of the St. Elmo club. He and Miss Truesdale are planning to be married in October.

Miss Truesdale's brother, William D. Truesdale Jr., and Miss Joan Sutter, daughter of the Alvar R. Sutters, whose engagement was announced early this year, have not yet made any definite wedding plans. The Truesdales' younger daughter is Miss Marjorie, a debutante of the 1935 season.

Fort Sheridan Horse Show to Be Sept. 3, 4.

One of autumn's most popular horse shows in this part of the country, the Fort Sheridan show, is to be held so much earlier this year that it will come under the heading of a late summer show. The dates have been announced for Sept. 3 and 4, instead of for late September.

One of the reasons for the advanced dates is that the show is to be licensed by the American Horse Show association, and must fit in with the association's schedule. Proceeds will go as usual to the Army Relief society.

The Sixth corps area's new commanding officer, Gen. Karl Truesdell, and Mrs. Truesdell, will meet Chicagoland's horse enthusiasts at the round of teas, dinners, and dances held in conjunction with the show. Gen. Truesdell is chairman of the horse show committee, of which Lieut. William E. Chandler is secretary, succeeding Capt. Edwin C. Greiner, who has been transferred to Fort Leavenworth. Lieut. and Mrs. Chandler have been at Fort Sheridan for a year.

The night military show that has proved so successful in the past will be repeated on one or both nights of the horse show. While the infantry, cavalry, artillery, and other branches of the service are away on maneuvers this summer their officers undoubtedly will get some new ideas for this special feature.

Equestrian Association Plans Its First Show.

The Mary Crane league is to benefit from a second horse show announced for September, the Town and Country Equestrian association show, which will be held on Sunday, the 25th, at Harms and Golf roads, across from the Glen View Golf club. Although the association has been awarding trophies to winners in children's horsemanship classes in other shows in this area, this will be the association's first show of its own.

Mrs. W. Vandervort Gathany of Evanston is president of the Mary Crane league, and John C. Bowers is chairman of the association. Working with Mr. Bowers on plans for the show are Joy Morton, James C. Thompson, James A. Hannah, Adolph Sus, and C. Groverman Ellis. The Mary Crane league supports a day school, nursery, and camp for underprivileged children of Hull house.

Junior Ross Beattys Parents of Daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross J. Beatty Jr. [Janet Ayer] have not yet decided upon a name for the daughter born to them Saturday night at the Passavant hospital. The baby, their first child, is a great-great-granddaughter of Leander J. McCormick of reaper fame. Mrs. Walter Ayer, who now lives in New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross J. Beatty of Highland Park are the infant's grandparents.

Robert McCormick Ayer, who also lives in New York, probably will not meet his niece this summer for he used up most of his vacation on the Newport-Bermuda yacht race.

Mrs. Walter Ayer, who has been staying at the Pearson where her sister, Miss Elsie McCormick lives, will return to New York in a few days.

The Beattys are especially pleased that the new arrival is a girl, for their other son, John T. Beatty, and his wife have two little boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Hellyer of Riverside are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter Thursday night at the Presbyterian hospital. It is possible that they may name the baby Katherine Chapman Hell-

Miss Farmer Is Bride

[Koehne Photo.]

In a garden wedding yesterday at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walter Farmer in Bannockburn, Miss Virginia Farmer was married to John Woodrow Loveton of New York, son of Berwin Loveton of Rhinelander, Wis. The ceremony was performed at 4:30 o'clock with the Rev. Oliver Brackett of Lake Forest officiating. A reception followed in the garden.

Miss Dicksey Farmer was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Jane Calkins and Miss Kathleen Calkins. Carl D. Frank of New York was best man and the ushers were Frederick Gottlieb of Milwaukee and Kenneth Delmar of New York. After a wedding trip Mr. Loveton and his bride will live in New York.

Seamless Hose Make the Legs Seem Hoseless

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The big hosiery news of the season of special interest to the shoppers who demand a cool, reduced to the minimum appearance, is nude stockings, a startling fancy, achieved by fashioning the stockings without the back seam. The first, second, and even last glances give the staring populace quite a start, for the ankles and visible upper inches do look smooth but bare.

Nothing is lost of the magic to keep the shins and ankles sleek and slender, for the silk is flawless, and the three summer colors featured are exceptionally flattering. Ask for "titian," blonde or brunette. Select what you need as the best flatterer for your clothes and ankle lines.

Another smooth performer anywhere, grand with fluttery summer dinner clothes as well as flowered chiffons and all the feminine afternoon dresses, is the stocking with very decorative clox. Lace traceries at the sides keep the ankles slim and eye appealing.

Shadow clox decorate other finds in all the summer shades, the clox in contrast color—deep blue, black—or clox a couple of tones darker than the tint of the hosiery itself. These are amazingly modest in price, considering the flattering effect upon the appearance. The lace affairs and some new mesh ideas are equally effective and come in all the best bright summer tints.

Sandal hosiery with effective toes and heels in lace mesh patterns is a big summertime success. It's made expressly for wear with all the very open sandals for daytime or evening. If you crave contrast, try the blue, brown or black heeled finds, with toes of the same color, combined with good sultry suntan shades in the stockings themselves.

WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Anne White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul White of Schiller Park, to Anthony Michael J. Sasgen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael John Sasgen of River Forest, took place on June 25. Mr. Sasgen and his bride are at home in River Forest.

Lauds Bainum for Skill with Band Programs

BY CECIL SMITH.

After suffering through torrents of rain at all of his three last appearances in Grant park, Glenn Cliffe Bainum finally hit upon a flawlessly clear night last night. With his seventy-five piece band he presented a kaleidoscopic and unfailingly interesting program, with Lilyan Sacks, soprano, and David Bennett Jr., pianist, as assisting artists.

Mr. Bainum spices up his programs with many pieces of music undreamt of in the philosophy of most other band masters. Last night there were no less than four first Chicago performances—an "Overture for Symphonic Band," by Burnet Corwin Tuthill, director of the Memphis, Tenn., College of Music; "The Buffoon," by Ernst Toch, an exiled German now living in the United States; "Rhythms of Rio," by David Bennett, a member of Mr. Bainum's band, and a march, "Academic Processional," by Carl Engel, who not long ago resigned the lofty post of head music librarian of the Library of Congress to enter the music publishing business.

Other items, such as the Procession of Nobles from Rimsky-Korsakoff's little known opera, "Mlada," and the March and Scherzo from Prokofieff's opera, "The Love for Three Oranges," were also included in the Grant park season's most resourceful program to date. The eminent conductors at Ravinia have shown no such imagination in putting their programs together this summer.

The opulently gifted Miss Sacks sang arias from Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutte" and Weber's "Oberon." The warm beauty of her voice is not disturbed by the microphone. Her musicianship is confident and well grounded, though a bit stolid. If she desires to maintain her enviable reputation in Chicago, she would do well to turn her thoughts toward developing a less monotonous color.

She probably has a lovely pianissimo hidden away somewhere, but I have not heard her use it. Her Mozart especially would profit from more frequent respite from pile driver attacks. Then, too, she is audibly hurting her ample lyric soprano voice by slamming down on notes in a manner only a true dramatic soprano can afford. If she would scale down her entire dynamic range about twenty-five per cent she would be an infinitely more effective singer.

David Bennett Jr., at 16 making his professional debut, played a piece by his father, "Repartee," in which piano and band engage in conversations of the Paul Whiteman-Ferde Grofe order. Young Bennett seems slated for night club success, for he already is a good showman at the piano, without satisfying many of the canons of conservatory teachers.

Before the regular concert Frankie Masters and his popular orchestra played from 7:30 to 8, regaling the patrons with a variety of swing and sugar tunes in his familiar style. Bob Crosby and his band will play on July 26.

Helen Jepson, noted lyric soprano of the Metropolitan and Chicago City opera companies, will sing with the Civic Opera orchestra in Grant park Wednesday evening, July 27.

Crippled Children.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Gibbs of Newton Highlands, Mass., announce the engagement of their daughter, Priscilla Brewster, to Marion A. Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest P. Cox of Oak Park. Miss Gibbs was graduated from Vassar college and from the Simmons college school of social work. Mr. Cox attended the State School of Science at Wahpeton, N. D., and Northwestern university. The wedding will take place in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peter Kampp of 5730 Midway Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Ann, to Samuel Steele Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis J. Hart of Waterbury, Conn. Both Miss Kampp and Mr. Hart were graduated from Antioch college. The wedding will take place the middle of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur de Sola Mendes of New York announce the engagement of their daughter, Cara, to Lewis M. Rosenthal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Rosenthal of Raleigh, N. C. Miss Mendes attended Columbia university and Mr. Rosenthal attended the University of North Carolina. Miss Mendes is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. William Kaplan of Chicago.

Play of Child May Straighten Mental Quirks

BY MARCIA WINN.

In a child's play lies an understanding of him. Psychologists at the Institute for Juvenile Research can now say this with some degree of authority.

More important still, they can now say, in play lies a "promising" cure for his problems, complexes, and phobias which, if not caught before the age of 7, may blossom out later as full fledged mental disorders.

For the last two years the institute has been experimenting with play. Of the 1,200 or so children received there annually for treatment, a hundred, all problem children to a baffling degree, have been subjected to direct psychotherapy, or play therapy as it is known.

This is done through three little playrooms. In one a group of children can play. In the remaining two, single children play alone. Each contains a blackboard, plastic clay, watercolors, and—toys.

The child who plays there may be neurotic. He may be psychotic. He may be hypermotile, or, in swing language, a "jitter bug." But given time, with a trained psychiatrist watching and helping, he will reveal this—and probably conquer it—in play.

While the child is in the playroom the toys are his. He may smash them, batter them, or harangue them, and no one will say boo. But a trained eye will record his actions and a trained ear his words, and later a trained playmate will attempt to correct—through play—the warped thinking of the childish mind.

It takes a long time. Of the forty children whose reactions are described in the institute's first report, released yesterday, eleven attended the clinic once a week, six twice a week, and twenty-one from one to three times a week. And nearly all over a period of months.

But the results, in the words of Dr. Paul L. Schroeder and his staf, are "promising and hopeful."

Of the forty, twenty-four have shown improvement. Thirteen are much improved, eleven significantly so. And nineteen, of whom fifteen have reacted happily to play therapy, had been treated previously by other methods with no success at all.

A child may be brought there because he threatens to commit suicide, to the horrified bewilderment of his parents. Or because he runs away from home. Or because he is merely highly nervous. Or, as in the case of John, who is 8, because he had refused to leave his mother's side since he was 5, when a baby brother was born.

"He was brought to us because he refused to go to school," a staf psychologist explained. "He never had ventured outdoors alone. He wouldn't even go into our playroom alone at first. Finally he did."

Once inside, he began playing with toys in pairs. He put two dolls together. He put two blocks together. He put two sticks together. When the pairs were broken up he became nervous, anxious.

"Soon it became clear," the psychologist explained, "that his pairing off with his mother was disturbed by the coming of the new baby brother.

"Well," with a smile, "the boy improved. We are fairly confident he will go to school this fall—alone."

Similarly other children have demonstrated their hidden jealousies and problems. Some have been cured. Some have not. But the therapy continues.

"To say flatly we have a cure for children's behavior problems would be wrong," Dr. Schroeder said, "but so far it is promising."

Camp Algonquin Fund Gets Gifts of $42.50; Season's Total $653

The mothers and children who will spend vacations at Camp Algonquin this summer benefited by $42.50 yesterday, received from readers of THE TRIBUNE in support of the camp. Forty dollars was sent by a reader who desired to remain anonymous. Barbara Rose Raike, Mary Ellen Kopf, and Ann Lyman contributed $2.50. The two gifts brought the total for the season to $653.36.

Contributions may be sent to Tribune Charities, Inc., at Tribune Tower, and will be acknowledged in the columns of this newspaper.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

The Observation Post.

Hollywood, Cal., July 18.—Something starkly tragic about the death of Samuel Insull in a Paris subway station. He was handing a ticket to the ticket taker when he collapsed. "His glasses flew in a thousand pieces," said the ticket taker. Incongruous that he should have been impressed by that in the presence of death. Yet at that moment it is a thing like that which registers most forcibly. When I was a very young cub reporter the sporting editor sent me to Brooklyn one afternoon to cover the death of Wee Willie Keeler, the great Baltimore hitter, who left his "I hit 'em where they ain't" as part and parcel of baseball legend. I found the great hitter in a stuffy flat, lace curtains floating in the breeze, garish pictures on the wall. The landlady let me in abruptly and left me alone. My clearest recollection was, and is, of a fly buzzing noisily over the casket. I remember I went back to the office feeling more depressed than I'd ever felt before. Not because of death but because a major leaguer had come to a minor league finis and a house fly was pinch hitting for glamor.

You never like to see champions pulled down by the heels. Those who have sat in the high places should have permanent seats in the loge section of life. Most depressing spectacle in this town is that of the former great stars of pictures working as extras or as bit players. Not that their lot is so bad as it might be. Directors and producers go out of their way to engage these old time greats. At Frank Lloyd's party the other night Archie Mayo pointed out fifteen men and women I'd never seen before. "Lloyd is a genuine human being," said Mayo warmly and identified the guests as former directors and actors, big shots once, unknown today. Lloyd insisted that these old-timers attend his twenty-fifth anniversary party and paid more attention to them than to the 1938 stars.

Current favorites of the cinema, warned by the illustrations presented daily, are determined not to have any benefits given for them in years to come. That is not so easy as it sounds, because your modern performer pays tremendous taxes. The old timers paid taxes, but not in comparison with the slice that Mr. Whiskers exacts today.

Business managers of stars direct them to diversify their financial interests, on the old principle that it is folly to carry all of your eggs in one basket or even in two baskets. How these various business experiments will work out ultimately is open to question. Performers rarely have business "savvy." Hal Roach, however, is doing very handsomely with his Santa Anita race track and also is interested in a jewelry store. Bing Crosby has a race track, a tuna canning factory, a music publishing company, and a big interest in a phonograph record company. Mae West sinks her money into government bonds. Jean Hersholt is a bank director. Jack Haley, one of the shrewdest business men out here, has invested heavily and profitably in California real estate and buildings. Gregory Ratoff has a slice of a vodka company.

Connie Bennett, plenty smart, has taken a flyer in the cosmetics business. Richard Arlen has a north Hollywood subdivision riding for him. Lew Ayres has his dough in government bonds. Adolphe Menjou is rated the sharpest stock market trader out here. Edward Everett Horton has a fortune in antiques, minature, books and old silver. Frank Borzage has a prosperous night club. Director Mitchell Leisen has a prosperous and profitable tailor shop. Edward G. Robinson's money is invested in readily negotiable paintings. Barbara Stanwyck, Zeppo Marx, and Robert Taylor are breeding race horses.

Noah Beery trout are on every local restaurant menu. W. C. Fields socks his dough away in government bonds. L. B. Mayer is taking a flyer in thoroughbred horses and cattle. Joel McCrea has hundreds of acres of farm and cattle land. Groucho Marx and his brothers are part owners of a chain of drug stores. Abe Lyman's brother, Mike Simon, collects Abe's dough regularly and adds to a chain of dairy restaurants and drive-ins. Joe Cook backs a restaurant. Charlie Farrell and Ralph Bellamy were partners in a Palm Springs tennis club. Clara Bow has her "It" café.

Al Jolson recently sold $5,000 worth of nuts from his Encino ranch. Hugh Herbert is bottling a mineral water. Eddie Cantor has his antique shops. Richard Dix has a tea company. Director Bill Keighley has two paying service stations. Jim Cagney has a lemon juice bottling company. Pat O'Brien has a part interest in Crosby's race track. Norma Talmadge owns property. Georgie Jessel writes songs on the side. Mrs. Pat O'Brien has a dress shop. William Haines is one of the highest paid decorators out here.

I grant you that none of these ever will have the money that the late Samuel Insull piled up at the peak of his career. Yet by the same token, I guarantee you that none of them will hit the end of the trail with 84 francs in their pocket. Occasionally, of course, these performers get clipped. Errol Flynn and Phil Harris bought nonexistent gold mines, but little money was involved. Others have lost money on other gold brick schemes. But in the main they are well advised by their business managers and all of them have government bonds to fall back on. Which is as it should be.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

More and more requests come from our readers to tip them off on preparations that protect their complexions while they play in the sun. It all goes to show that women are getting wiser every day.

Not a preparation exactly—but a cute little dress note that has protective value as well—is the sunbonnet with acetate visor. If Rhea Seeger will forgive us, we'll step into her territory for a minute and tell you about them. They have all the immortal lure of the sunbonnet of old, in pretty colors and pretty prints, with broad sun-screening visors banded in the same gingham. There is also the provocative bow under the chin. Personally, we think they're elegant for outdoor sports. And what a pleasant change from those tiresome bandannas!

But even better insurance for playing safe in the sun is a protective cream that has always been good, but just recently has been made even better. It's a sunburn preventive that is nonsticky and nongreasy. It's also something of a beautifier; there are precious ingredients in it to screen out the burning rays and lubricate the skin at the same time. It can be used to court a healthy tan or to keep you dazzling fair. It can be used as a makeup base, too, and powder won't cake over it—which is a most desirable virtue in hot weather.

If you want a tan makeup this sun cream can serve as a base; with the right shade of powder you'll fool the world into thinking you've acquired an honest-to-goodness bisque coat.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Here's a gay comedy with music that never for a moment permits you to take it seriously.

Hero in chief, Elly Jordan, is a guitar player with a voice, who with a pair of music making companions—the trio are known as "The Three Sharps"—is tossed off a train while en route to California to enter the movies. [They hopetheyhopethey hope.]

The three land on a dude ranch—which is no place for Elly. Because Elly has a phobia. He is deathly afraid of animals and birds.

You can imagine his predicament when he is dressed up in cowboy duds by Jane Hardy, daughter of the ranch owners, and presented to the customers as a singing cowboy, extraordinary.

A theatrical agent, arrived for a holiday, hears Jordan singing, signs him to a contract, totes him to New York, and lands him in radio as "Wyoming Steve Gibson, Singing Cowboy."

Which is all hotsy totsy for the moment. But, back on the ranch Elly had had the misfortune to arouse the ire of a real cowboy, Sam Thorne, whose life's ambitions are to land Janie as his wife, and to sing in public. . . .

Thorne comes to Manhattan and gets a tryout on a famous amateur radio program. The gong sounds before he's well under way and in a fit of jealous rage he howls out the news that Steve's a fake. . . .

A hypnotist to the rescue, as how I shan't tell you, but right about here in the picture happen things that had all the youngsters in the theater in stitches.

A rodeo, staged in New York, brings all the Hardys east and there sho' is a lot of celebrating by the right people when the finale reels around. [That's AFTER the rodeo . . . Remember what I told you about Steve's phobia!]

Priscilla Lane gives an outstanding performance as Jane Hardy. She's wholesomely pretty and has much vital charm. Too, she can sing. You'll like the song "Ride, Tenderfoot, Ride" which she renders with Mr. Powell—who is in the best of form.

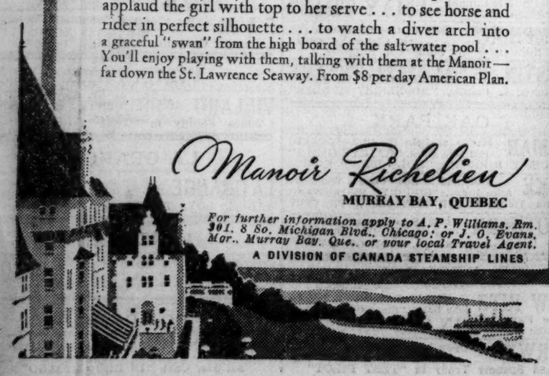

Pat O'Brien is great as the theatrical agent, Dick Foran rings the bell as Villain Thorne and other rôles are in the best of hands.

The western stuff is carried off with a twinkle and tongue in cheek, and, all told "Cowboy From Brooklyn" has what it takes to keep an audience in good humor.

See you tomorrow.

SYNOPSIS.

On board the S. S. Panama Queen, sailing from Los Angeles to New York via Panama, are Anne Sydney, who has a part in a Broadway play, and her crippled and embittered sister, Mena; Arnold Vernon, elderly rich English motion picture producer, and his coldly beautiful wife, Claire; Isobel Butler, who has a stateroom next to the Vernon suite and hopes to get in pictures through him: Alex Reed, young surgeon returning to work after two years' illness, and gossipy Mrs. Panting. Isobel meets and arouses Vernon's interest. Anne and Alex are mutually attracted. Mena spitefully tells Alex that Anne is a heartless flirt. Pride causes Anne to hold herself aloof from him. Dr. Neil Andrews, a friend of Alex's, joins the ship in Mexico. He wants to get married and thinks Anne meets his ideals. Isobel and Arnold Vernon fall in love. He tries to buy his freedom from Claire.

INSTALMENT XXVI.
QUESTION OF DIVORCE.

As Claire and Arnold Vernon walked along the quayside the carriage drivers shouted. Arnold went over and looked at the horses, picked one that looked less spavined than the others and better fed. While he discussed the drive with the driver, Claire saw Anne and surprisingly beckoned to her. "You have your camera with you?"

"Yes, Mrs. Vernon."

"Those pictures you took by the pool were lovely. Would you take one now? I'd like to see what a color print would do with this dress." Already she was arranging herself in a graceful posture.

Anne focused her camera while Neil waited. "You certainly do know how to use color, Mrs. Vernon," said Anne generously. "I hope these will be as good as the last ones."

"Thank you for taking them. I'm sure they will." Claire's tone was as distant as if she were speaking to the ship's photographer. She turned now to see if the carriage were ready for her, Anne and her camera forgotten. She climbed in and settled herself.

The horse ambled slowly through the arcaded white streets and past the neat American houses in their small highly colored gardens, the blue swimming pool of the club, and the parklike gardens of the hotel; then by the calm oily sea along the shore.

"This bores me to tears," complained Claire.

"Turn back to the town," said Arnold to the driver.

The driver cracked his whip and turned his horse. They went at a good clip back to the town, slowed down in a street of balconied West Indian houses. The single room of each occupied the entire ground floor and that, with barnlike doors instead of walls, was open to the street. In each open room sat a woman on a chair, sewing, knitting, or hands idle in her lap.

"Tell her to go away," Arnold said to the coachman.

"Of course. Didn't you realize it?"

"And you allowed him to bring me to be insulted by these women! You must be out of your mind, Arnold. You let a woman like that come out and talk to you in the same carriage where I sat! A woman not fit to breathe the same air——"

"What? Do you mean she is?"

"I do. You are in the same profession, only she is not so fortunate."

Claire's eyes were blue fires of fury. "What madness has come over you lately. You never said such things to me before?"

"I've been thinking them a long time—but somehow I didn't have the courage to say them." Arnold paused, distressed by the excited fluttering of his heart. "But I say them now—also that your highly paid inadequacy is about to cease——"

"My God, what are you talking about? What do you mean?"

"You'll see in good time. Better get on with your shopping now—and enjoy it. It may be the last time you can shop without counting the cost. We'll continue this discussion when we get back to the ship——"

He saw Claire arrive ten minutes before the ship sailed, looking cool and superior, her arms laden with parcels. He accompanied her down to their suite. "Feel any better?" she inquired, "or is the heat still affecting your head?"

She threw her parcels on the sofa, went through into the bedroom, took off her hat, and ran a comb through her hair. Arnold followed her. "Let us avoid these personalities," he said quietly, "and discuss the situation dispassionately. It is a very grave one——"

She turned from the mirror and sat on the bed. Her eyes looked a little frightened, but her voice was steady. "Explain yourself, Arnold. What situation? I'm afraid I don't know what you mean."

He sat down on the bed opposite her and explained patiently what she knew already, as if he were talking to a child. "Our situation is that we are tied to each other; we are absolutely incompatible and therefore incapable of leading a pleasant civilized mutual life. My suggestion is that we should separate as soon as we disembark from this ship. I will give you an adequate——"

Claire jumped up from her bed and stood over him. "What are you saying? You mean you want a divorce?"

"Divorce would be the best way, of course. Then you would be free if you wished—to remarry."

"But, I don't want to remarry. I'm perfectly satisfied the way I am. What makes you think I'm not? You must have gone crazy."

"On the contrary, I am sane at last. When you say you are perfectly satisfied you indict yourself out of your own mouth. You know I am not happy—you know you are not leading a normal married life. Then why are you satisfied? Because money and security are all you need."

Claire was breathing hard. "You had no right to marry and expect a girl more than twenty years younger to love you. Why, everywhere we go people think you are my father——"

Arnold passed his hand over his head. "Never mind what people think," he said desperately. "Let's stick to what we know." He paused to draw a deep breath. "And that is that this is a failure, and we should end it."

Claire walked away from him and moved restlessly about the room. "O, no, we shouldn't. And we're not going to. You wanted it and you've got it. What do I care about your adequate income? I don't want to marry some one else; I don't want to be a divorcée. You know what a queer, difficult time such women have. No, Arnold—if you want to get rid of me, you'll have to think of some other way. And then I'll fight!"

"That's your final decision?"

Her voice sounded almost indifferent, as if the matter were now settled. "That's my final decision!"

"Very well, Claire. But it's only fair to tell you that your life will be very different from now on—for instance, you won't be able to handle large sums of money. All presents of jewelry will cease. Further, you will have nothing to gain by hanging on, hoping for my death. As soon as we get back to London I shall change my will——"

She came to him now, her face a picture of well simulated bewilderment. "Arnold, I don't care about your will—you ought to know that. But what's the matter? What have I done wrong? I—who am always trying to please you?"

He put up his hands as if to ward off her touch. "I could respect you while you were frankly a parasite, but don't give me this, Claire. Don't give me this——"

Her face hardened into its habitual emptiness of expression. "Very well," she said.

He could almost hear her mind at work. She was going to change his intention about the will before they got home. She was too clever to antagonize him further by arguing about it now.

Homeliness Is as Nothing if There's Charm

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The homely girl is our problem for today. We have just received a protest. It is from a girl who says she isn't good looking. And "Lonely" objects violently to our suggestion that "Bring a friend does not mean a homely one."

Well, "Lonely," surely you don't want to be invited out because you're homely, do you? Granted that you really are. Tastes in beauty differ. Some quite ugly women have a fascination of their own. Anyhow, it can't be much fun to go along merely as a foil and background for a prettier girl. Playing second fiddle doesn't sound like a happy evening. We still stick to our guns and think you could get a much better date for yourself.

"What do you think homely girls are going to do?" Lonely asks. "Don't think a homely person is happy—no, never. . . . She is conscious of her defects always."

In the first place, no girl is so ugly that she hasn't some good points, such as beautiful hands, lovely hair, or a nice complexion. Pick out your own good points and make the most of them. Then for goodness' sake forget about your looks.

If you are thinking about your defects all the time you certainly can't be giving adequate or very flattering attention to the boys you meet.

With men you handicap yourself because you let bitterness, envy, and self-pity obscure the fine qualities that make you popular with girls.

Sometimes homely women cut out far prettier ones. Look at the plain wives there are! Homeliness may be an asset if it makes you cultivate a charming, sympathetic, generous personality.

The Housewife

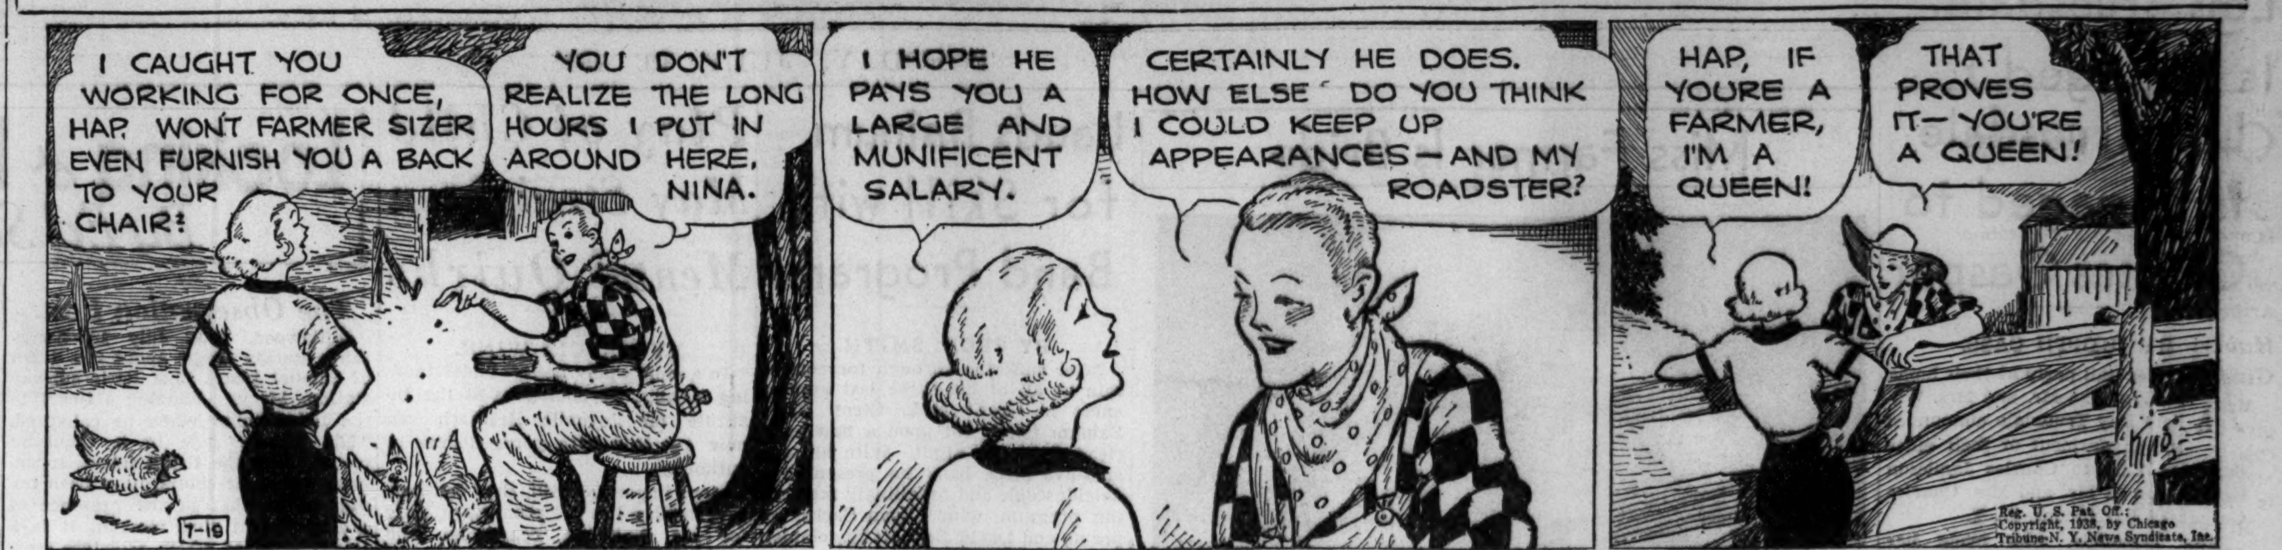

Several friends we know like to read on their screened verandas on warm summer evenings, but are bothered by buzzing and flying insects—moths, June bugs, beetles, etc. Somehow these little creatures have an "open sesame" that gets them in anywhere!

To get rid of them try one of the new electric insect lamps. These are small, neat affairs that look like little lamp shades with wire wound about them. Each requires two electric bulbs, one large and one small.

You screw the lamp into a light socket as directed and when you turn it on one of the bulbs lights and the other electrifies the wires so that insects that fly against them, attracted by the light, are instantly killed.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Here's How

Let Youngster Have Freedom to Enjoy Life

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

It may be lovingness or solicitude. It may be inexperience. Or it may be a mother's or father's own timidity that makes them repeatedly give voice to cautions like the following:

"Look out—you'll hurt yourself!"
"Look out—you'll fall!"
"Come here, baby!"
"Give mother your hand."

Try to cut out those speeches this summer as much as possible if you're in the country with your young children.

Let all the children adventure just as much as you think it safe, but do so particularly with the little ones. Their adventures will be limited compared with the older children's, but let them have more freedom for their own kind of adventuring. Keep them in sight. Be as near as you need to be so they don't get an injury or an experience that will shock or scare them. But try to keep your hands off and your voice off, too, as much as possible. It's so good for them—and good for you, too.

I remember last summer what an interesting illustration the beach provided for the degrees of freedom people allowed their small boys and girls. There they were in their brief bathing suits with the eternal and beloved pail and shovel and the ever-fascinating water lapping up on a safe beach. Most of them were allowed to trot around untrammeled, to squat in a few inches of water, to dip it up, to pat it, and paddle in it. A few were trailed by a nurse every minute.

But the most extreme example was a little girl of about 2½ who came down to the beach with her mother and father and nurse and who hadn't one minute to herself all of one long afternoon. Part of the time she was held by both hands, one parent on each side, and the rest of the time one person had her by the hand everywhere she went. Incidentally, all three looked at nothing else but the baby child. Well, you do want to feast your eyes on them, especially around that age—but it's not good to do it!

That's all—just give the very young lads and lasses a chance to step out this summer.

"How to Make Play Equipment" is a leaflet containing excellent references. This will be sent to you upon receipt of a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

'Mother Goose' Takes a Walk in This Quilt Block

Mother Goose.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

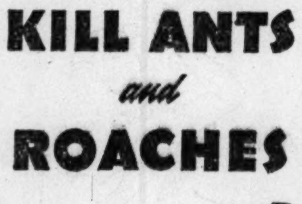

"Mother Goose" is all dressed up and out for a walk without the usual flock of goslings in her wake. She is one of the few fowls which may be of a variety of hues in a quilt design. The body color can depend upon individual taste. Blue, yellow, white [if used against a colored background], and brown all are suitable. Harmonizing or contrasting printed materials for the sunbonnet and jacket are matters of personal taste. All crib quilts should be made in pastel and light shades rather than the deep, vivid colors sometimes used in grown-ups' coverlets. This "Mother Goose" block is 10 inches square and six applique and six plain blocks are set together in an alternate arrangement and surrounded with a four inch border and a one-half inch binding.

For a limited period Nancy Cabot offers 10 quilt patterns of her own choice at a price of 10 cents for the group (12 cents by mail). Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

Psychologist to Give Two Lectures on Propaganda

Hubert Burnhams Give Dinner Tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Burnham will give a small dinner tonight for Mrs. Charles Bosworth and her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Padley of London, who is visiting her mother in Evanston.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnham expect to go to their summer home at Mackinac the first of next week after their son, Hubert Jr., arrives from a Boy Scout camp.

Cullen-Boozer Nuptials Tonight.

The wedding of Miss Mary Ellen Boozer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cunningham Boozer of Kenilworth, to John Wesley Cullen Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley Cullen of Wilmette, will take place at 8:30 o'clock this evening in the Winnetka Congregational church with the Rev. John G. Hindley officiating. A reception will follow at the North Shore Country club.

Miss Margaret Boozer will be maid of honor for her sister and Mrs. George Hofmeister will be matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be Mrs. Joseph B. Swan, Miss Marjorie Read, Miss Dorothy Meaker, and Miss Martha Wier of Avington, Ill. Edward Cullen will be best man for his brother, and the ushers will be Richard Cullen, another brother; David Boozer, the bride's brother; Thomas Keelin, Sheldon Vanzwoll, and Thomas King.

After a honeymoon at Banff, Lake Louise, and in California Mr. Cullen and his bride will live in Evanston.

Coach House Theater Will Open Tonight.

"Watch for road markers as you enter town." This is the advice given those who are going to Oconomowoc, Wis., for the opening of the Coach House players tonight. The newest summer theater in eastern style is to be presented in the coach house on Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine's Oconomowoc estate. Many from Chicago and suburbs have made plans to attend the opening.

Among the most interested spectators in tonight's audience will be Mrs. John Goehst and her daughter and niece, Miss Margaret Goehst and Miss Marion Johnson. Mrs. Goehst's other daughter, Miss Emily Goehst, is appearing in this week's play, "Princes, Ltd."

The Robert R. Bakers have taken the entire first row of seats for tonight's performance. Mr. and Mrs. Baker are entertaining at dinner before the play, and so are a number of others, some of them Chicagoans who summer at Oconomowoc or at nearby places.

Maurice P. Geraghty is spending week-ends at Oconomowoc because his wife, the former Helen Tieken, is directing two or three of the plays.

Chicagoans Go to Bohemia Grove.

Orville J. Taylor, David A. Crawford, and several other Chicagoans have gone to Bohemia grove, just outside of San Francisco, Cal., for the annual two weeks' "High Jinks" meeting of a group of executives and professional men from all parts of the country. While Mr. Taylor is away his wife will be at their cottage at Lake Wawasee, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. De Forest Hulburd and their children left last night for a summer holiday at Crabb Lake, Wis.

Miss Patricia Wilson will return next week-end from a visit near Cleveland, O., with Miss Sybil Hine, whose mother, Mrs. Fred Clark of New York, has a summer home there. Miss Hine visited Miss Wilson and her parents, the Percy Wilsons, in Lake Bluff earlier this summer.

YoungSoxFans, Here's Chance to See Heroes

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Come on, you Sox fans! If you want to see your heroes in action, better get to work on your letter!

Fifty boys and fifty girls, thanks to the generosity of Mr. Comiskey, will see the Sox play Boston on July 28.

If you can prove to me that you're a real Sox fan, maybe you'll be cheering in the stands on party day. All you have to do is write a letter which will convince me that you really and truly want to be included in the group and maybe you'll see your name in the list of winners to be printed in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

There are just a few simple things you must remember when writing. I don't care how bad your spelling or your writing is—that doesn't matter a bit—but I do want to know what YOU think about the party and why you'd like to come, so if you have any one else write your letter for you, out it goes! When writing be sure to include your full name, address and age in your letter.

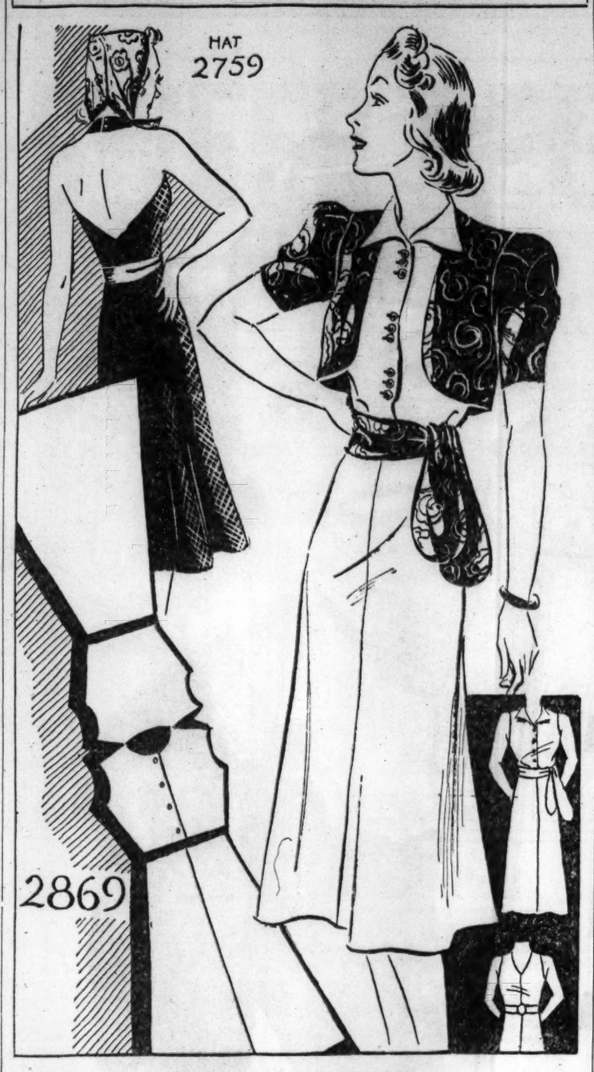

Those are our only requirements, so get that letter off to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and be sure to have it here by Thursday if you want to come to my party.

Lupe Velez, Weissmuller Decide to Get Divorce

Hollywood, Cal., July 18.—[Special.]—Lupe Velez, Mexican actress, and Johnny Weissmuller have decided that divorce is the best way out of their tangled marital life of five years. Their business manager, B. C. Roos, said today a property settlement is ready for signature. As soon as both sign, Lupe will start divorce proceedings on the grounds of cruelty.

Jacket Frock Is Versatile

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

This is the season of the year that finds you a busy person. You spend a minimum of time at home, because the outdoors beckons with so many alluring prospects of a good time. For your jaunts to the country club, sports events, and informal occasions in town you need a versatile frock to see you fashionably through the longest and busiest day. There is nothing like a jacket frock for this purpose. Beneath the trim little bolero, which has a sash to match, there is a simple but comfortable dress that may have a sun back. The collar is a rever style, but high at the round neckline. Buttons do their share for chic down the front. The skirt is nicely molded at the hipline, but flares gracefully and comfortably at the hem.

We suggest a plain shade, either white or pastel, for the frock, with the jacket and sash of a brilliant print. Piqué is an excellent fabric, but there are other cottons and wash silks that make up just as beautifully, and at the same low cost.

We mustn't forget to tell you about the charming bandana style hat you can make to go with this costume. We have a pattern for it, No. 2759, and it's available in one head size only, which you can adapt to your individual needs. The pattern costs ten cents extra.

Style No. 2869 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, and 38 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 2¼ yards of 39 inch material for the dress, with 1⅛ yards of 39 inch fabric for the bolero and sash.

CLOTILDE PATTERNS ARE 10 CENTS EACH

[Copyright, 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

Yesterday I quoted a hand from Frank Perkins, noted bridge writer, proving that experts often fall lamentably short of expertness. Today's hand, also taken from the recent Masters' Individual tournament, is another case in point. The line that divides a good play from a bad one may be faint and thin, but it is there, nevertheless.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	1 heart	Double	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

The contract would have been a laydown against an opening heart lead, but West's actual deuce of clubs opening created a small problem. Declarer could count only four diamond tricks, one club, one heart, and an indeterminacie number of spades, depending both on the spade break and on whether or not the opponents could run off a fatal number of club tricks. If the club deuce was an honest fourth best, there was not much to fear in that line, since only three club tricks need be lost. There would not, however, be time to set up an extra heart trick and, with that realization, declarer set out to establish the spades. He led the three from his own hand, and when West ducked, put in the queen. Then, probably without a second's thought, the spade six was led from dummy and the jack was played from the closed hand. When this was slaughtered by the ace, declarer had lost his game! West cashed the king and queen of clubs and his partner's jack was a fourth defensive trick. East then returned a heart and declarer was helpless. The most he could win was four diamond tricks and an additional spade.

Even if there had been no adverse bidding on this hand, declarer's play would have been far from good but, with the bidding that actually took place, his method of attacking the spade suit was inexcusable. West was virtually marked with the spade ace, both from the fact that the spade queen held, and because the ace was a necessary part of West's opening bid. There was no assurance that the spade suit would break 3-3. Hence, after the queen held, declarer certainly should have returned to his own hand with the diamond jack to lead another low spade toward the king. The contract then would have become ice cold. East's spade ace would not have captured an honor, and three spade tricks, instead of two, quickly would have materialized.

Surely a player does not have to be an expert to bring the proper reasoning to bear upon a situation of this type. But, just as surely, experts and average players alike cannot hope for the best results by playing the card nearest to their thumb.

Rosenwald Fund Appoints Director of Scholarships

The appointment of George M. Reynolds as director of fellowships for the Julius Rosenwald fund was announced last night by Edwin R. Embree, president. Mr. Reynolds succeeds Raymond R. Paty who resigned to become president of Birmingham-Southern college, Birmingham, Ala. Mr. Reynolds, son of the president of Hendrix college, Arkansas, is a graduate of that college and holds the degree of doctor of philosophy in political science from Columbia university. Mr. Reynolds has been a teacher and has served the Federal Farm Security administration.

'Horny' Elbow Is Unlovely; What It Needs Is Softening

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The girl off on a holiday doesn't want her arms to advertise the hours she has spent leaning her elbows on a desk.

The softly dimpled, white elbow is certainly much more attractive than a rough, hard, reddened one. The woman who has neglected her arms should give them extra treatment before she goes off on vacation and exposes her arms in bathing suits and short sleeved summer dresses.

Scrubbing with a complexion brush will help remove that grimy look from the elbows. It also is good for goose pimpled flesh that sometimes occurs on the upper arm. Then a nightly application of cold cream will soften the roughness. To kill two birds with one stone, use a bleaching cream.

If the hair on the arms is dark and thick, a depilatory will remove it. Or to avoid a completely hairless surface, a peroxide and ammonia bleach will make a soft down instead of the coarse and dark hair.

If the arms are out of proportion, here are some exercises that will make them shapely and, incidentally, improve the contours of your shoulders and bust.

Raise your elbows to shoulder level, fling outward and back ten times. Substitute a suspended pillow for a punching bag and punch it vigorously every day.

Extend arms full length, keep rest of body firm, begin to make circles with extended hands and arms. Begin with small ones and increase to circles of as large dimension as you can describe without putting the body out of position. Describe five circles on a forward and five on a backward start.

Stretch the arms full length at the sides, even with the shoulder. First describe good sized circles, then clap the hands front and back, trying not to bend the elbows.

Dressings and Sauces Adopt Honey Flavor

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

If you've never tried honey sirup on pancakes or waffles, or honey fudge sauce on ice cream, you've missed one of the delights of fine gastronomy. And to neglect honey in salad dressings and as an ingredient in baking does not recommend a cook to the society of epicures. What is known as "the world's oldest sweet" has uncounted cooking possibilities.

If you have a jar of honey on your shelves and find it granulated, warm it slightly, and it will liquefy again. Honey keeps well, and most foods in which it is an ingredient keep well, too.

Honey Pancake or Waffle Sirup

1 cup honey
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup water
½ teaspoon salt

Boil brown sugar and water together for five minutes. Add honey and salt and simmer slowly for five minutes longer.

HONEY ICE CREAM TOPPING.

This pancake sirup may be transformed into a most delectable ice cream topping or pudding sauce simply by the addition of a tablespoon or two of butter and five or six marshmallows. Allow the marshmallows to melt in the hot sirup, fold them in well, and cool the sauce.

Here's another "yummy" sauce for ice cream.

Honey Fudge Sauce.

¼ cup butter
1 tablespoon cornstarch
4 tablespoons cocoa
½ cup honey
½ cup water
6 marshmallows
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt

Melt butter, remove from heat, and stir in mixed cornstarch and cocoa until smooth. Add honey and water and cook until thickened. Add marshmallows. As soon as they have melted remove from heat. Add vanilla and salt. This sauce may be stored in a covered container if it isn't to be used at once.

Honey is an excellent sweetener for summertime beverages. Blend equal amounts of honey and warm water, and use the mixture as you would a sugar sirup, in all kinds of hot weather drinks, even including iced chocolate.

As a sweetener for fresh fruits honey is unsurpassed, too. Drizzle it warm over a combination of cold fruits for a cocktail. Or dip slices of fresh peach or pear, or sections of orange into warm honey and then roll in coconut, to make a simple dessert.

Honey Fruit Dressing.

½ cup honey
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons crushed pineapple

ALL-STAR FOOTBALL VOTE MOUNTS TO 1,390,706

SEVEN PLAYERS FROM MIDWEST IN FIRST ELEVEN

Balloting Will Close Sunday Midnight.

BY ARCH WARD.

Football fans in all sections of the country, voting through polls conducted by 150 newspapers, are making increased efforts to land their favorite players on the 1938 All-Star football squad as the end of the contest nears. Out of the balloting will come a line-up of last year's college All-Americans to battle the Washington Redskins, champions of the National Professional league, in Chicago's fifth annual charity game in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 31.

Marty Schreyer.

The vote this morning totals 1,390,706. The polls close at midnight Sunday. Newspapers associated with THE TRIBUNE must file their last returns Monday. Final standings, upon which the starting lineup will depend, will be printed the following Wednesday. Meanwhile the coaches' poll will have opened. The balloting for a staf to handle the squad will begin Sunday and continue for two weeks.

Sweeney Stays in Front.

Midwestern athletes lead this morning in seven of the eleven starting positions. They are Sweeney, end, of Notre Dame, who is running stronger nationally than any other man in the poll; Schreyer, Purdue tackle; Zarnas, Ohio State guard; Wolf, Ohio State center; Puplis, Notre Dame quarter back; Isbell, Purdue, and Uram, Minnesota, half backs.

Players from other sections who still are in front are Famiglietti, Boston university full back; Routt, Texas Aggies' guard; Dixon, Boston university tackle, and Schwartz, California end.

It is unlikely that the two Boston university athletes can maintain their leadership to the finish line. They moved into top places as a result of 225,000 votes forwarded for them from Boston last Friday. Their margin is being cut down steadily by candidates who are supported more enthusiastically nationally. Dixon, Boston university tackle, has three strong rivals, Schreyer of Purdue, Markov of Washington, and Shirey of Nebraska, almost abreast of him this morning. Patrick of Pittsburgh and Davis of Indiana are closing in on Famiglietti at full back.

Fans Want a Strong Team.

Announcement that neither Clint Frank of Yale nor Sam Chapman of California will be available for the game has helped other back field candidates with fans who have no collegiate affiliation but are interested in putting together the strongest possible combination to face the Redskins. Both Frank and Chapman were popular with this element, which now is looking over the list for players who have a chance to appear. Frank is out of the country and Chapman has won a regular berth with the Philadelphia Athletics.

First returns from the Minneapolis Tribune give Minnesota athletes a wide lead. The group includes Uram, Midler, King, Reed, Gmitro, Weld and Spadaccini. Other players running well in that area are Sweeney of Notre Dame, Kovatch of Northwest-

161 COMPETE IN CHICAGO OPEN PREVIEW TODAY

112 Bid for Places in Tournament Field.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Today is the day when the young, middle aged, and elderly gents who swing a golf club with a handicap of five strokes or more have their fling at qualifying for the second annual Chicago open golf tournament, beginning Friday at the Olympia Fields Country club.

A field of 161 players will start teeing off at 9 o'clock this morning over the No. 1 course at Olympia Fields. The field, as a set of foursomes, will be playing for the A. W. Hale trophy, donated by the president of the Chicago District Golf association for the four man team scoring the low gross card for the eighteen hole round. Of that 161, 112 will be trying to win one of the fifty places allotted for the tournament proper.

Field to Total 432.

The total field in the tournament, including today's fifty qualifiers will be 432, divided among 183 professionals and 249 amateurs. All of those five-and-over handicap amateurs who fail to qualify today will be admitted free to the show itself as spectators.

Today's round at Olympia Fields will begin at 9 a. m., with the last foursome setting out at approximately 1 p. m.

Yesterday the leading professionals in the field began to arrive. Among them were Horton Smith, Harry Cooper, Jimmy Thomson, and Lawson Little. Today Gene Sarazen, the defending champion who won in last year's inaugural at Medinah with 290, will reach the scene, and Ralph Guldahl, national and western open title holder, also will come on.

Hagen Due Tomorrow.

Walter Hagen, who has played some of his best golf at Olympia Fields, comes in tomorrow, as does Ed Dudley, one of the smoothest swingers and sharpest medal play scorers in the game. Sam Snead, leading money winner of the season and runner-up for the P. G. A. championship last Saturday, also is due tomorrow.

Olympia Fields' location is one of the most convenient to a metropolitan center in the country. The Illinois Central electric trains brings a fan from the loop to the clubhouse within forty-five minutes. Tickets for the tournament are $1.10 for the eighteen hole rounds on Friday and Saturday and $1.65 fc. Sunday's concluding thirty-six holes. A group ticket for the entire seventy-two holes is $3.00. Children under 12 will be admitted for 35 cents.

The field will be reduced after the completion of thirty-six holes Saturday night. The low forty-eight professionals and twenty-four amateurs, and ties, will qualify for the double round on Sunday.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

SPENCER ABBOTT, Illinois native, who has been in the minors twenty-nine years and lives to tell it, is the new manager of the Trenton Eastern league team and is doing so well that he was given a "night" at an arc combat not long ago. . . . Among other things, the mayor handed Spencer a key to the city. . . . "Can't you make it one of Simone Simon's gold keys?" expostulated the veteran. . . . Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern coach, and his family are visiting in upstate New York. . . . He will serve as instructor in a coaching school at Lubbock, Tex., before returning to Evanston to handle the Northwestern summer football coaching course. . . . Elmer Layden of Notre Dame has purchased a new home in South Bend. . . . Midget auto races on a banked board track are attracting crowds of 10,000 twice weekly at a track across the Hudson from New York. . . . Twelve spectators were sent to the hospital at the opening meet, but the arena has been packed ever since. . . . Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, German bicycle stars, are spending the summer at their home in Dortmund, Germany.

Gustav Kilian.

Jack Coombs.

. . . It is expected that they will be seen circling in six day saucers under the banner of Harry Mendel this winter. . . . Their year's suspension was cut to six months and their fine also reduced after a pow-wow between the Union Cyclist International and the National Cycling association.

With the installation of the slick automatic elevator in Shibe park, Philadelphia, there are only two Alpine press boxes without transportation in the majors, Comiskey park in Chicago and Sportsmans park in St. Louis. . . . The Baseball Writers' Association of America is drawing up a petition asking the Sox and Browns, who own the St. Louis park, to give aged and infirm scriveners a break. . . . Vincent Oliver, who most likely will be Indiana's first ranking quarter back next fall, is serving as guardian in Michigan for a young son of the Fairbanks family, Indianapolis newspaper publishers. . . . Jack Coombs and Ira Thomas, former Athletic battery stars, who are running a baseball school for high school boys, were taken back the other day when a 6 foot 8 inch youth showed up for instruction. . . . Sammy Frager a few days ago received a check from Mike Jacobs for special gloves ordered for the Louis-Schmeling bout, which were rejected by the New York commission.

Attention, Contributors.

This column is dedicated to all those who have tried unsuccessfully to make the Wake, whose contributions many times have been as good, perhaps better, than some of those which got into print. Today's items have been picked at random.

* *

Consolation.

In case you didn't know it, your saying that "space limitations preclude publication of many readable items" is a practical application of Dale Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People." Now, I won't take it so hard when my gems die in the waste basket. I can still go on thinking that I am good.

—Millie Carl.

Can You?

I read your article about contributions increasing 300 per cent in the last year. Since I sent you one contribution before this one, and since I have been reading your column for the last two years, I can now figure out how long it will take me to get one of my articles accepted. Thanks for the figures.

—Pettit of Belwood.

* *

It Wouldn't Go.

If you'll slip this in the waste basket sideways instead of crumpling it up like my other contributions, it won't take up so much room.

—Peanut.

* *

What Contributions?

If all my contributions to the Wake were laid end to end—now I wonder if that's what happens to them!

—HOP.

* *

Candor.

When other guys get in the Wake,
I cannot howl like a spaniel or setter;
Perhaps those other birds, by Zeus,
Write stuff that may be somewhat better.

—Ray Dieden.

* *

They Laughed When—

I said I was going to send in some contribs to the Wake. They had sent in some, too.—Mohawki Guy.

I said I'd make the Wake. They didn't know Hilary Haw was my brother.—Bull Oney.

* *

Hundreds.

How about telling the number of contributions you receive a day, so we won't feel so bad if we see ours only once every couple of weeks.

—Cedar Leaf, Rockford.

The Pirates? Pikers!

The Pittsburgh Pirates with thirteen straight wins have nothing on me. This is the 42d time in succession my contribs have made the Wake basket.—William Owen.

* *

Missing Contributions.

O, those missing contributions,
Weight of woe and fraught with pain;
Launched with hopes so high and joyous,
Never to be seen again.

Forth they fare upon their mission,
Smeared with many a blot and tear;
Who shall ever know the longing,
Looking for them to appear.

To those who tried let all pay tribute,
Balm to countless hearts that ache
O'er the missing contributions,
Lines that failed to make the Wake.

—B. L. Bruce.

Overconfident.

I don't 'spect this little contrib will make the Wake, but who knows? The rest of my family keep getting in print, so why not me?

I'm glad you realize this is my last stamp, my last sheet of paper, and my last envelope. Here's a statement of what it has cost me to make the Wake:

500 stamps, 2c each	10.00

Hurray! A Landslide.

The little woman made a suggestion to me for the Republican nominee. They can clinch victory in the fall by adding this amendment to their platform: "We hereby pledge ourselves that all Illinois contributors shall make the Wake."—Diaper Dan.

Saw this one in Vincennes, Ind.: "Reel Blue Lumber company." Is it a result of the recession, or have they tried to make the Wake?

ARLINGTON PARK CANCELS $25,000 GOLD CUP RACE

Give Up Hope of Getting Seabiscuit or Admiral.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Arlington Park Jocky club officials announced late yesterday that the Arlington Gold Cup will not be run on July 28. The race had been put on the program several weeks ago with the stipulation that if it did not attract a field worthy of running for a $25,000 added purse it could be called off ten days in advance of the running.

Sam D. Riddle, whose War Admiral is at Saratoga, declined to run his horse in the race because his trainer, George Conway, has been ill and has not had sufficient time to point War Admiral for the race.

Late yesterday word came from Los Angeles that Seabiscuit was being shipped direct from Los Angeles to Saratoga where Seabiscuit's owner, Charles Howard, hopes to get into a race with War Admiral.

Hertz Makes Statement.

This left Stagehand as the only name horse to run in the cup at Arlington although Menow, conqueror of War Admiral in New England, and War Minstrel, which trimmed Seabiscuit at Arlington on July 4, likely would have filled the engagement.

"We deeply regret the cancelation of this race, but we believe that it is being done in the interest of racing and for the protection of our patrons," John Hertz of the Arlington Park Jocky club said. "The owners themselves asked for this race and they have failed to produce the horses. We refuse to foist a second rate race upon our public."

Players of favorites had to endure great mental agony for a few minutes after the running of the Kenmore handicap at Arlington Park yesterday. The public choice, Mower, and the long shot, Grey Gold, charged up to the line of finish inches apart. The camera was called out to decide it.

Grey Gold Pays $21.

When the picture was posted the anguish changed to despair. Mower, the favorite, had been beaten by inches by Grey Gold. Chance Ray, another long shot, was third, and Arab's Arrow was fourth.

Grey Gold, a winner at good odds just a few days earlier, ran the 7 furlongs in 1:25 4-5 over a track that was dull. In the betting he paid $21 to win, $8.40 to place, and $5.60 to show. Mower paid $5 to place and $4 to show. Chance Ray was at $7.60 to show.

In the early stages King's Heir, Arab's Arrow, and Co-Sport fought it out for the lead. Grey Gold ran well back of the pack until the run down the stretch. Then he moved past one horse after another and finally got up to win in the final stride under Jocky R. Howell's brilliant finish.

Miss Bull Dog Wins.

The Diversey purse at a mile out of the Hertz chute brought a runaway victory for Miss Bull Dog, a filly that has just moved into the Chicago racing area from Detroit.

She stepped out of the starting gate in front and found the dull track just to her liking. She increased her lead at every quarter mile pole. Finally she charged past the line of finish eighth lengths in front of her nearest rival. Sunny Shore, owned by Mrs. Emil Denemark of Chicago.

The favorite, Stands Alone, bought 24 hours earlier by Herbert G. Woolf's Woolford farm stable, was away tardily He made up much ground and finished third.

A hot tip got out on Miss Bull Dog. After she had stepped the mile in 1:39 1-5 she paid off at $6.60.

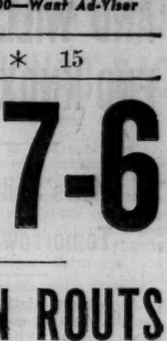

One outstanding favorite to make good yesterday afternoon was the veteran Colonel Ed. He was tossed in with a high class band of selling plater milers. Once the field of eight was well on its way down the back stretch, Colonel Ed drove to the front. He was an easy winner the rest of the way home. Easy Sailing finished second, and Whichaway was third.

BOSTON ROUTS CARLETON WITH 3 RUN BLAST

Hartnett's Single Saves String.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs were unexpectedly delayed yesterday in fashioning their seventh consecutive victory. Boston's Bees, although apparently beaten in the ninth, suddenly exploded a series of hits under Tex Carleton and three tying runs registered. But the Cubs, having in mind the winning streak as well as a chance to gain a full lap on the second place Giants, made the necessary adjustments in the same inning, collecting a run which enabled them to win, 7 to 6, and sweep the four game series.

Gabby Hartnett.

Carleton, who had been routed from his three previous starts without completing even one inning, had a comfortable margin on which to work. His teammates displayed so much power that they routed Lou Fette in less than two innings, giving Tex a five run advantage. Carleton let this get away a piece at a time until it was down to two runs. The Cubs raised it to three in the seventh, and this was the edge the gaunt Texan held until Tony Cuccinello doubled with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth.

Break for Bryant.

When the Cubs came to bat in the ninth Bobby Reis was pitching. His first effort was a pass to Bill Jurges, who was moved to second on the usual sacrifice, provided by Billy Herman. Stan Hack was purposely passed, the scheme being that Gabby Hartnett, being somewhat slow afoot, might prove an easy double play victim. Instead, Gabby flied to short right. Debs Garms, who had just gone to that station despite his ailing leg, couldn't travel the necessary distance and the ball dropped for a single, Jurges sprinting in with the deciding tally.

Carleton's bad luck, a bit of which was a home run by Max West in the sixth, proved a rare fortune for Clay Bryant. After Cuccinello's double had cleaned the bases in the ninth, Carleton naturally vacated the pitching precinct. Bryant pitched one low ball to West. On the next pitch the young Bee sent Cavarretta back almost to the 400 foot sign in center for a fly ball. So Bryant was able to achieve his eighth victory of the season on two pitches.

Cubs Barge Ahead.

Carleton hurtled the first inning hazard in amazing style. He fanned Moore and Di Maggio and threw out English. This was a good excuse for a little celebration, and the Cubs put it on by slapping Fette for one run in their half. Jurges led off with a single to right, went to second on Herman's out and home on Hack's triple to right. Neither Hartnett nor Demaree could move Hack in from third.

The four run second inning developed from Warstler's bad throw

M'COY'S READY AND WILLING TO END KNOX'S RUSH

Al Shows Skill in Drill for Tomorrow's Bout.

Al McCoy, ninth ranking heavyweight, fighting out of Boston, went two rounds with Al Globe, light heavyweight sparmate, in Trafton's gymnasium yesterday in preparation for his ten round bout with Buddy Knox in Sparta stadium tomorrow.

After the workout the consensus was McCoy would snap his Dayton opponent's string of fifteen victories.

Al Can Box, Punch, Too.

Al showed he is a good boxer and a better than average puncher. Moreover, he is not holding Knox cheaply. Buddy stopped Max Marek in the tenth round in the same arena June 15, whereas McCoy had a merry time of it before scoring a decision in ten rounds over Marek in Boston.

Five supporting matches have been signed. Johnny Barbara, north side welterweight, who whipped Toots Bernstein on the Knox-Marek card, is paired with Indian Billy Lee in the eight round semi-final. Lou Presto, Buffalo light heavyweight, will meet Al Globe in a five rounder.

Wacker Faces Pumphrey.

Contests of four rounds will involve Henry Wacker, Taylorville, Ill., heavyweight, and Jack Pumphrey; Sammy Sullivan, Chicago featherweight, and Sonny Batson, and Gene Spencer, South Chicago lightweight, and Chuck De Franco.

Verne Patterson, 1937 Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight champion, who yesterday asked the Illinois boxing commission for recognition as Illinois' leading 147 pounder, has signed to meet Tony Petroskey in a rematch of eight rounds in Marigold gardens next Monday. Pete Lello, also a former Golden Gloves titleholder, will face Bobby McIntyre, Detroit lightweight, and Willie Joyce, still another former Golden Gloves winner, will meet Young Billy Miller, Pittsburgh featherweight. . . . Joseph A. Mahoney, head of the National Boxing association, has invited the state athletic board, which severed relations with the N. B. A. several years ago, to return to the organization. The Illinois commission, which with the N. B. A. holds membership in the world boxing congress, has mailed orders of the suspensions of Jimmy Adamick and Jack Trammell to the congress' secretary in Rome, and other groups with which it has working agreements.

Reports are New York refuses to concur in the bans handed Adamick and Trammell for their fiasco June 8, but Joe Triner, Illinois commission chairman, said no official notification has been received. He said Gen. John Phelan, head of the New York board, asked for a transcript of the testimony. At the same time Illinois concurred in the N. B. A.'s action in vacating Benny Lynch's flyweight title and named Jackie Jurich of San Diego, Cal., as No. 1 challenger. . . . Triner and his fellow commissioner, Sheldon Clark, were served with a summons to answer the suit filed by Jimmy Brady, manager of Adamick, to prevent the commission from disposing of a $1,500 purse which the boxer claims is due him for the Trammell match. The commission, through its attorneys, Ray Wallenstein, assistant attorney general, and John Owen, who also is secretary of the commission, will file a motion of dismissal on the grounds the court has no jurisdiction.

Amateur boxing shows will be held tonight in Savoy arena, 47th street and South Park way, and Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving Park boulevard.

Miller Breaks 200 Straight Targets in Indiana Shoot

Noblesville, Ind., July 18.—[Special.]—Phil Miller of French Lick featured the concluding events of the forty-fourth anniversary championship tournament of the Indiana State Trapshooters association today by turning in a perfect score of 200 to win the state Class A crown.

Fred Dreher, University of Colorado end last season, will go into training next month with the Chicago Bears. He is a teammate of Whizzer White.

$25,000 Colt Makes First Start Today

Mrs. John Hertz's $25,000 yearling purchase of last year, Gala Hour, is scheduled to make his first start in the fourth race at Arlington Park this afternoon. It probably will be his big tuneup for the Arlington Futurity. Opposed to him will be Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Heel In, John Marsch's Lightspur, Veloz and Yolanda's Veyo, Brown Hotel stable's Hello Cap, and several others.

Maxwell Howard's Stagehand and The Chief, likely favorites for the $30,000 Classic stakes to be run on Saturday, worked an easy mile and a quarter over a slow track yesterday morning in 2:12. Trainer Earl Sande is well pleased with their present condition.

Sande said he was not losing any sleep over the coming to Arlington for the Classic of Hal Price Headley's Menow, conqueror of War Admiral and other older horses in the recent running of the $50,000 Massachussetts handicap. He thinks The Chief can beat Menow at a mile and a quarter and that Stagehand can run over the Kentucky 3 year old at that distance.

An unexpected invader from the east, also eligible for the Classic stakes, will be Mrs. Parker Corning's Thanksgivng.

Guests of Albert D. Lasker on Classic day will include Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion, James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio, Dan Mahoney, general manager of the Cox newspapers in Miami, Fla., and Dayton, O.; E. G. Biechler, president of Frigidaire, M. H. Aylesworth, executive of the Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance, Bernard Gimbel of New York, Theodore Roosevelt, and R. H. Grant, vice preident of General Motors.

Lake Geneva Fish, Slow to Start, Bite Now

BY BOB BECKER.

Although the 1938 fishing season on Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, has been sort of topsy-turvy ever since June 20, it looks as if conditions again are back to normal, which means that anglers now can get some results with their rods and reels.

F. A. Mueller, a resident of Lake Geneva, reports that "everything has been topsy-turvy, as far as fishing goes, ever since the opening date. In the first place the bass in Lake Geneva were late in spawning this year on account of the cool weather and spring rains.

Then Came the Rain.

"To start the season the fishermen used minnows for bait. Then on July 1 minnows were supplanted by crawfish, the old reliable lure for Lake Geneva bass. Just about the time that conditions were getting back to normal, along comes a heavy rain in July which raises the lake 12 inches and makes the water very dirty. Despite this fact the bass have been hitting pretty well since the near cloudburst, and fishermen ought to be able to hook some nice ones in Lake Geneva from now on."

Mueller reports on some of the catches as follows:

"Taking the days when I really fished for bass, the results were like this: June 20, got 7 bass. June 23, did a little better with 9 bass. June 25, landed 6 bass. July 2 was better with 10 bass. On July 3 the catch was 8. On the Fourth of July the number was 10. July 11 brought in 11.

"Large mouthed bass have predominated both in numbers and in size. But I've caught a number of small mouths weighing around 2 pounds. I anticipate better fishing on this moon change. The water still is a little dirty but it doesn't seem to make any difference, as the fishing is good."

Lake Geneva Fishing Deep.

The fishing at Lake Geneva at this time of the year is rather deep. We usually drift with the wind [if it isn't too strong] over a bar or deep weed bed. Sometimes we get close to a big weed bed that is just out from the shore a few yards. These places are good for large mouthed black bass. Last year we caught small mouths farther out in the lake in about 12 feet of water.

The most common deep water bait is the crawfish. The guides recommend a rather small hook with a gut leader attached to it—an example of how fishing methods differ in different lakes. Up north we commonly fish for bass [in midsummer, when it's deep water fishing] with a small wire trace and a little gold spinner ahead of a minnow. On Lake Geneva the boys quickly squelch any such tackle rig when they take you out fishing.

[Bob Becker's "Which Lures and Where" tells fishing secrets which can help you land the big ones. Price, at Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower, 435 N. Michigan avenue, 25 cents. By postpaid mail, 30 cents.]

MIGRATORY FOWL HUNTING SEASON IS LENGTHENED

Sportsmen Get 45 Days of Duck Shooting.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—The biological survey announced today it would increase by fifteen days the hunting season this fall on ducks and other migratory fowl.

The season will start that much earlier on ducks, geese, jacksnipe, and coot. This will allow a forty-five day season instead of the thirty days permitted the last three years.

The earlier and longer hunting was authorized in an order approved by the President and Secretary Wallace and based upon a bureau investigation of waterfowl conditions.

Dates Are Set.

Intermediate zone [California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, including Long Island, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, and Wyoming, Oct. 15 to Nov. 28.

Southern zone, including Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas, Nov. 15 to Dec. 29.

The order also increased the number of ducks allowed in the hunters' possession daily to two bags of 10 birds each, instead of one bag of 10 birds each. The restriction on the number of waterfowl the hunter may kill in one day was continued at 10.

The bureau also announced that hunters would be able to shoot a few canvasback, ruddy, redhead, and bufflehead ducks which have been fully protected the past two years. It said that three of one of these species, or three in the aggregate of the species, could be shot in one day, and twice that amount would be permitted in the hunter's possession.

Ducks Show Increase.

Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, chief of the biological survey, said the easing of restrictions followed an increase in ducks due to the strict control of the last several years, improved conditions in the northern breeding grounds, and the federal refuge program.

He said that past restrictions, including prohibition of baiting of waterfowl and doves and the use of more than three shells on repeating and automatic shotguns, would be continued.

OAK BROOK AND RISING SUN MEET IN POLO TODAY

Strengthened by the addition of Steve Hammond and Fred Lange, former Milwaukee player, Oak Brook will battle Rising Sun ranch in the final of the Eugene Byfield memorial tournament this afternoon at the Oak Brook Polo club.

Grand Circuit Racing Is Postponed by Rain

Old Orchard Beach, Me., July 18.—[Special.]—The Grand Circuit light harness horse racing program scheduled here today was postponed because of heavy rains. The three events scheduled, each carrying a $1,000 purse, will be run tomorrow and the meet will be extended one day.

COURTESY FIRST, under strong riding throughout and taken to the inside before going three-sixteenths, raced a trifle wide after reaching the final quarter and tired after withstanding the challenge of OVID, but held him safe. Latter, on inside throughout and under stout urging from start, moved up menacingly after reaching the stretch and tired in the final eighth, but was stronger than the winner in the closing stages.

GRAND DAY, suited by the footing but forced to race near the middle of the track throughout, worked his way up gradually and, coming with determination under strong riding in the last three-sixteenths, got to the front in the final sixteenth and withstood GATLIN'S rush. Latter, also slow to begin and required to race wide, came with a rush on the extreme outside in the stretch and barely missed getting up.

SURE OFF, well up from the start and always on the outside, raced to the lead under stout urging and, holding on stubbornly, retained a short advantage thereafter. SUN PLUME, hustled into command, was on the inside the final five-sixteenths and held on with determination.

FOURTH RACE—Hertz course. One mile, out of chute. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

COLONEL ED, reserved off the pace while racing wide and under strong restraint, took command with a rush after reaching the turn, saved ground entering stretch and responding to pressure in the final eighth, held the lead safe. EASY SAILING, taken back when in close quarters approaching the turn, recovered slowly

MISS BULL DOG, away fast, drew into an easy lead before reaching the main track, increased her advantage fast when approaching the turn but was under energetic riding the final quarter and probably won with little left. SUNNY SHORE, a factor from the start, was strongly perservered with the final half mile and held on well.

GREY GOLD, forced to race wide, failed to keep up after beginning fast, rallied stoutly after straightening out in the stretch and wore down MOWER rapidly in the last fifty yards. Latter, fractious at the post but away well, had speed from the start, was aided by good rating and held on courageously under his impost.

RHINIZ began to work his way up after about five-eighths, came out in the final quarter and, taking the lead as FOOLEM swerved badly, held thereafter. FOOLEM, away fast, cut out the pace under steady rating, lost the command when he swerved but held on well when straight.

PIRATES TAKE HALF GAME LEAD; BEAT GIANTS, 7-4

Bill Swift Checks Giants' Rallies in 8th, 9th.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 18.—(AP)—Effective work by Bill Swift saved the day for the Pirates as they whipped the New York Giants today, 7 to 4, and thus took a half game lead over the New Yorkers in the National league race.

Sent away to a three run lead on Johnny Rizzo's sixth inning home run with two on base, the Pirates hammered Dick Coffman for five hits and four more runs in the seventh, then needed Swift's best efforts to hold off Giant threats in the last two innings.

The Giants, held scoreless by Cy Blanton for six innings, broke the ice in the seventh with one run on Hank Leiber's double, a single by Gus Mancuso, and an infield out.

They pounded Blanton for four straight singles and two runs in the eighth before he was replaced by Swift, who retired the side and let in only one more run. Mancuso opened the Giants' ninth with a double and went to third on Pinch Hitter Lou Chiozza's single, but Swift stopped that rally by fanning Hal Schumacher and Dick Bartell and forcing Jim Ripple to ground to Lee Handley. ALLISON WINS IN FIRST ROUND IN LONGWOOD BOWL

Brookline, Mass., July 18.—(AP)—The rain that slowed down most of the major tennis tournaments this season caught up with the tourists again today, but four of the Longwood bowl field, including two of the seeded players, completed first round matches between showers.

When play was suspended, Second Seeded Bobby Riggs of Chicago led L. W. Crossman, New York, 6-0, 3-0, while Sydney Wood, of New York, seeded fifth, was all even after two sets with Al Jarvis, of Williamstown. Jarvis won the first at 6-4, and Wood the second at 6-2.

Settle Windy City First Round Title Tonight

Three Windy City Softball league games tonight in Mills stadium will settle the first round championship. The surviving teams are the Senate Florals, Royale Frolics, Winkler Motors and South Water Markets. The two winning teams meet for the title. In the opening game at 7:30 p. m. the Florals will meet the Markets. Winkler Motors plays the Frolics in the second game.

MOON MULLINS—GOOD TIMES AROUND THE CORNER

Cubs Rally in Ninth to Beat Boston, 7 to 6

on Collins' grounder, which should have been the second out. Cavarretta walked and Carleton doubled against the right field fence, Collins scoring. Jurges was thrown out on a bunt which squeezed Cavarretta home. Herman singled to center, Carleton scoring. Hack doubled to right and the hit, besides sending Herman home, sent Fette to the shower. Errickson replaced him and induced Hartnett to foul to Fletcher.

Bees Score in Third.

The first hits off Carleton came in the third inning and produced a run. Warstler singled to right. Errickson, who wasn't suspected of such intentions, also singled to right, Warstler going to third. Cooney grounded out to Collins, who, because of a momentary fumble, had to pass up throwing to the plate to head off Warstler. The Bees scored again in the fifth. Carleton gave up a couple of passes and one of them became a run when English singled to right center.

West took another bite out of Carleton's lead when he opened the sixth with his eighth homer of the season, which dropped in the right field seats. Fletcher followed with a single, a sign that Tex might be weakening, but with the help of a whale of a throw from deep short by Jurges, Tex avoided further embarrassment.

That Big Ninth.

The Cubs gave Carleton a bit of comfort with a run in the seventh, making it 6 to 3. Errickson developed a generous streak, passing Jurges and Herman with none out. Jurges hiked to third on Hack's deep fly to Di Maggio. Hartnett slapped a slow bounder to English, who was in such a flutter that he failed to pick up the ball, Gabby thus profiting to the extent of a hit and Jurges scoring. The inning ended quickly on Demaree's double play grounder to English.

The ninth inning incident during which the Bees unceremoniously battered the Cubs' three run lead into a 6 to 6 tie, started with one out. Maggert batted for Errickson and singled to left. Cooney singled to right. Garms batted for Di Maggio and Carleton fanned him. The situation grew worse when English walked, filling the bases, and still worse when Cuccinello doubled off the left field fence to score Maggert, Cooney, and English. Bryant came to Carleton's aid and concluded the inning on West's long fly to Cavarretta.

FRENCH TO PITCH

Larry French, whose record of six victories against twelve defeats indicates he is far behind in his season's work, will get the pitching job today for the Cubs in the opener of the series with Brooklyn's Dodgers.

Diz Dean's four hit comeback performance on Sunday apparently did his supposedly fragile $185,000 pitching arm no harm. Diz yesterday said he felt so good that he could hardly wait until time for his next start, which will be about Thursday or Friday.

Kong Triumphs as Kay Gets Himself Tangled Up

Mills, Mejeskowskis Win in Semi-Pro Baseball Tourney

First round play in the Illinois semi-pro baseball tournament in Elgin ended last night with two Chicago teams, the Mejeskowski Boosters and Chicago Mills, triumphant. The Boosters scored twice in the last inning to defeat the Industrial All-Stars of Chicago, 5 to 4, and the Mills whipped Joliet, 7 to 2, behind the four hit pitching of Malstrom.

Priests Solicit Votes.

St. Ambrose college of Davenport, Ia., has a stat of young women counting votes which are coming in from alumni all over the middle west for Johnny Oelerich, half back, and Joe Gustitus, tackle. Priests asked parishioners from pulpits in the Davenport Roman Catholic diocese Sunday to assist in getting ballots for the St. Ambrose athletes. Bishop Henry P. Rohlman is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the All-Star poll.

Maurice Kirk, Missouri guard, is running away with the St. Louis Globe Democrat returns. He collected 10,371 votes yesterday. Beno Best, St. Louis university tackle, got 6,269. The battle between Davis of Indiana and Patrick of Pittsburgh for the starting full back assignment, is developing into one of those knock 'em down, drag 'em out affairs in the northern Indiana polls. Returns from the Gary Post Tribune yesterday gave Davis 17,895 and Patrick 11,628, but the Indiana player's margin in Gary was offset by the vote from the Michigan City Dispatch which gave Patrick a lead of 19,824.

Carroll Has Heavy Backing.

The Washington, D. C., Herald and Times, reported 59,244 votes for Maurice Carroll, Catholic university half back. The Peoria Journal Transcript forwarded 7,653 for Bill McClarence, Bradley half back. Meanwhile scores of workers in the Chicago area came to THE TRIBUNE offices with thousands of ballots for DePaul, Northwestern, Notre Dame, Illinois Normal, North Central and Marquette athletes.

The deluge is on. Quick, boy, my aspirin!

COURT AWARDS HACK WILSON'S WIFE A DIVORCE

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 18.—[Special.]—Mrs. Lewis R. Wilson, wife of Hack Wilson, former Chicago Cub baseball star and home run slugger, was awarded a divorce in Circuit court here Saturday.

She was awarded custody of their son, subject to the right of the defendant to have the 12-year-old boy in his possession and control at any reasonable and proper time and under any reasonable condition.

An agreement was reached as to settlement and property rights, and Wilson was relieved from further allmony.

PARKER TAKES FIFTH TITLE AT SPRING LAKE

Spring Lake, N. J., July 18.—[Special.]—Frankie Parker, formerly of Milwaukee, Wis., and now a resident of Beverly Hills, Cal., today won his fifth championship in the Bathing and Tennis club's sixth annual tournament, defeating Archibald Henderson, Chapel Hill, N. C., 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

Parker, 22 years old, never has lost a tournament match on the clay courts here in the five years he has competed. He did not lose a set in defeating six players before capturing the title today.

Hotel Teams Play for First Place Tonight

Playoffs for first and third places in the Loop Hotel league of the Grant Park Softball association will start at 6:45 this evening. Bismarck hotel will meet La Salle hotel in the battle for first and Stevens hotel will play Hotel Sherman for third honors. The league winners will compete in the tournament bringing together champions of all the association leagues.

Winners of the playoffs will be determined in three game series on Tuesday evenings.

Buchsbaum Team Wins.

S. Buchsbaum & Sons, undefeated in five games, retained the lead in the Jewelers' league last week by defeating the Ball company, 13 to 3. In the Motion Picture league, Paramount Pictures and Photoplay-Film Carriers remained in a tie for the top, the former defeating Twentieth Century-Fox, 11 to 10, and the latter winning over National Screen Service, 14 to 7. The Outbound Freights of the Santa Fe league retained their perfect record with a 9 to 3 triumph over the General Office.

Parke-Davis rolled up a 22 to 0 decision over Wright & Lawrence in the Druggist league and kept its place at the top. Continental Assurance moved out in front in the Continental Companies league by whipping Continental Transportation, 13 to 6.

Conway Beats Stockroom.

Conway Suits maintained a clear record by beating Merchandise Stockroom, 7 to 5, in the Marshall Field league, and the Beefers and the Terriers remained in a tie for first place in the Northern Trust Company league. The Beefers conquered the Fast Freights, 27 to 3, and the Terriers turned back the Forgotten Men, 17 to 5.

TONY ZALE AND BILLY CELEBRON FIGHT TO DRAW

Tony Zale, Gary middleweight, and Billy Celebron battled ten rounds to a draw in Marigold Gardens last night. A right to the jaw floored Zale for a nine count in the second round. Zale evened the score when he consistently found the range with rights to the heart in four of the last five rounds. Celebron received a cut on top of the head in the sixth and in the final round he suffered an eye cut.

Referee Davey Miller called the fight a draw and Judge Harry Hall voted for Zale, 51-49, while the other judge, Dr. E. Allen Frankel scored for Celebron, 51-49.

ALGONQUIN LEGION WINS.

Sox, Rested and Chesty, Meet Boston

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 18.—The White Sox are here to play four games in a ball park they like, Fenway, home of the Red Sox. Jack Knott will pitch in the opener here tomorrow, on Wednesday Thornton Lee and Yum Yum Whitehead will work in a doubleheader, and on Thursday Monty Stratton will go after his ninth victory of the season.

The Sox have done better with the Red Sox here than they have in Chicago. In competition with the Bostonese, the Chicago Sox have won four and lost five. Three of their victories have been won in Fenway park. They might have won two others but for Lefty Grove, and Lefty is not expected to have his ailing arm ready for the impending series. The Sox have shown they can whip Jack Wilson and Gunboat Marcum.

But getting back to the Boston series. The Sox are not altogether satisfied with merely a won and lost fifth place tie with the Tigers. If the Sox win here tomorrow and the Senators beat the Tigers, the Sox will go into fifth place on percentage and also on the won and lost basis.

SEA SAGA HOLDS REHERSAL FOR MACKINAC RACE

Sea Saga, 53 foot schooner owned by E. E. Sheridan, returned to Grant park harbor yesterday after a three day cruise to White Lake, Mich. The voyage, started Friday evening, was for the purpose of surveying part of the course of the annual Mackinac race, which begins Saturday.

Uses Tele-Magnetic Compass.

The yacht sailed 250 statute miles, using its tele-magnetic compass for steering precision. Other special navigational equipment aboard Sea Saga was used by Skipper Sheridan in preparation for the Mackinac race, which will be the first for the schooner.

Others aboard were Mrs. Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hallberg, Commodore Walter T. Stockton, former chief flag officer of the Sheridan Shore Yacht club, John Dennison, and two professional sailors.

Built Three Years Ago.

Sea Saga flew the flags of the Chicago Yacht club and the Great Lakes Cruising club. It was built nearly three years ago on the Atlantic coast for a Swedish nobleman and was sailed to Chicago through the Great Lakes last September.

Although Skipper Sheridan has been a crew member in twelve Mackinac races, he revealed yesterday that he will race Saturday for the first time in his own craft.

EVENING STAR WINS.

Mackinac Island, Mich., July 18.—(AP)—The new yawl, Evening Star, made its Great Lakes racing début a success today by conquering a fleet of twenty-two in the fourteenth annual Port Huron to Mackinac yacht race.

Evening Star, piloted by Frederick S. Ford of Detroit, finished sixteen minutes, corrected, time, ahead of John H. French Jr.'s French Boy, also a Detroit entry.

Third place went to Kittihawk VII., a cutter skippered by John Timken of Cleveland, only non-Michigan entrant. The race began Saturday afternoon at the foot of Lake Huron, and Evening Star crossed the finish line at 3:09 p. m. today.

The winner, starting from scratch, was timed in 49:09:29. French Boy's corrected time was 49:26:01 on a handicap of more than two hours. Kittihawk VII.'s corrected time was 52:24:06.

Royno III., with John B. Ford Jr. at the helm, placed fourth. None of the other entries had reached here early tonight.

Prices Erratic for Early Trading.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$0.70¼	$0.69½	$1.26½
Corn	.60¼	.59⅝	1.10¼
Oats	.26⅛	.26⅛	.35¾
Rye	.50⅝	.50⅝	.88⅝
*Soy beans	.82¾	.83½	1.12¾

*October delivery.

Wheat and corn futures fluctuated yesterday within a range of 1 cent a bushel. Both grains rallied late to close about ½ cent a bushel higher. Futures buying attributed to export interests brought about the rally.

An early upturn of ½ to ¾ cent a bushel in wheat futures was largely in sympathy with the Liverpool market. Hedging sales caused a quick reaction, prices declining to a new low on the current downturn.

Sells Below Loan Level.

The July delivery on the Chicago Board of Trade sold down to 6 cents a bushel under the government loan level for No. 2 red winter wheat. July wheat sold at Kansas City 8 cents a bushel under the loan level for No. 2 hard winter.

An increase of 21,801,000 bushels in the domestic visible supply of wheat last week was said to be the second largest gain on record. The lone exception was in the corresponding period in 1937, when the increase was 21,861,000 bushels. Total stocks are 63,092,000 bushels, or nearly 14,000,000 bushels in excess of a year ago.

Illinois Harvest Progressing.

Harvesting of wheat, oats, and barley is in full swing over a large part of Illinois and Iowa. Farmers were reported unable to take time off from field work to deliver cash corn at country elevators. Only 10,000 bushels of corn were purchased yesterday by Chicago handlers.

December corn was inclined to lag as compared with July and September reflecting the generally favorable character of the crop reports, and good rains in parts of the southwest and central west over the week-end.

U. S. BUSINESS FAILURES RISE TO 219 IN WEEK

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Commercial and industrial failures in the United States in the week ended July 14 totaled 219, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today. This was an increase of 32 or 17.1 per cent over the 187 reported in the preceding five day week.

The week's total was the lowest number recorded for any full week this year. However, it marked a gain of 67 or 44.1 per cent over the corresponding 1937 period, when there were 152.

Of the 219 failures reported in the July 14 week, 128 involved liabilities exceeding $5,000, or 17.4 per cent above the previous week.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

How to Kill Thistle

July 18, 1938.

In coöperating in the state-wide weed control campaign, the Tribune farms are exchanging information with other farmers on the best methods of killing weeds. Out in the Fox river farm neighborhood farmers in Kendall and La Salle counties have been fighting Canada thistle for many years.

Over in La Salle county near Mendota farmers have been successful in fighting Canada thistle where they have been working under the direction of W. H. Fess, supervisor of Mendota township.

Fess says that during the eight years he served as Canada thistle commissioner he tried many different ways to kill Canada thistles but found only one that works.

First, Plow Up Patch.

The method now recommended by Commissioner Fess is to start early in the spring and plow up the thistle patch, being sure to include plenty of space around the fringe. After plowing, level the ground with a harrow. As soon as the thistles show above ground take a sharp hoe and cut every plant off just under the surface of the soil. This is done regularly every few days to prevent leaves from forming above the ground. This procedure is kept up as long as the plants can be seen.

Fess finds that at first the plants will come up thick but after a few cuttings they become fewer and fewer. If this plan is carried out faithfully farmers will have no thistles next year, but work must be started early in the spring, he advises.

"This, of course, cannot be done on hay or grass land unless the ground is plowed, but it can be done in a corn field," Fess explained.

"Every leaf that appears above ground gives nourishment to the roots of the thistle plant. Without this nourishment the roots will die.

Root Spread Is Wide.

"The roots run for many feet under ground, from 8 to 18 inches below the surface. If a plant is disturbed, another plant, sometimes many of them, will start up somewhere along the root. To let them grow until ready to seed only enlarges the patch by allowing the roots to spread and reach out farther. The stalk that is cut off is killed but it has already nourished the roots so they will be stronger next year and the patch of thistles will be larger.

"I have tried chemicals which do the work if applied every time a plant shows up, but besides the danger of fire no crop can be raised on the land for two years.

"The best way to kill Canada thistles is to smother the roots by not allowing a leaf to appear above ground. Without this way of 'breathing' the roots cannot live."

HOGS DECLINE ON FAILURE TO SETTLE STRIKE

Packers and Union Heads Continue Parleys.

Hog prices declined again yesterday at the Chicago stockyards as further efforts were made without success to settle the strikes which have tied up operations at five packing plants since last Wednesday. Most grades of hogs fell 15 to 25 cents a hundred pounds, although a few top grades held about unchanged. The average price of all hogs slipped 15 cents to $8.55 a hundred pounds.

Further conferences were held between representatives of the five packing plants and officials of the United Packinghouse Workers Industrial union, an affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization. Packers have granted all demands of employés except the closed shop and the check off system.

Visit Labor Board Office.

During the morning representatives of the two groups visited the Chicago office of the National Labor Relations board and asked for information concerning various terms of the National Labor Relations act affecting such negotiations. At the office of the NLRB, it was stressed that the board had not been called in to help settle the strike but had merely supplied the requested information and made several suggestions. The conference between the two groups was resumed later in the day.

The five companies involved are Roberts and Oake, Agar Packing and Provision corporation, Miller and Hart, P. Brennan company, and the Illinois Meat company. The companies have agreed to grant wage increases and vacations with pay for plant workers.

Hog Shipments Heavy.

Receipts were heavy in view of the strikes, the run being 13,000, almost the same as the 13,806 received a week ago. The department of agriculture reported late yesterday that 17,000 hogs are on the way to market for today, against arrivals of 13,906 last Tuesday. Big local packers and the smaller plants not affected by strikes increased their purchases sufficiently to clean up the available supply yesterday at the decline, leaving less than 1,000 head at the close.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

RAILS, UNIONS DEADLOCKED IN PAY CUT TALKS

No Compromise, Say Both Sides.

Representatives of class 1 railroads and officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen were deadlocked yesterday in their conference on the question of a wage cut. They met at the Stevens hotel to begin voluntary negotiations on the joint demand of the nation's carriers for a 15 per cent wage reduction affecting 900,000 workers.

The day's session was taken up with the reading by H. A. Enochs, chairman of the railroads' joint conference committee, of the interstate commerce commission's report of last April on the plight of the railroads. The report, which was said to constitute the major portion of the railroads' argument for wage reductions, was drawn up at the request of President Roosevelt. It agrees with the carriers' contention that they need financial relief of some kind.

Enochs said the carriers' presentation would be concluded in not more than an hour at a morning session scheduled today. Thirteen members of the joint committee, each representing a leading railroad, were in attendance.

105 Union Chairmen Attend.

Under the leadership of A. F. Whitney, 105 general chairmen of the brotherhood, each representing operating workers on a major railroad, attended the opening session. Their side of the discussion will require five or six days, Whitney said.

Enochs, following the meeting, said: "We are presenting no alternative to the 15 per cent proposal. We're talking 15 per cent and nothing else." He added that the managements hope to clear up what he called "misconceptions" that wage cuts reduce purchasing power.

"The situation today," Enochs said, "differs from that of a year ago when labor won a pay increase. While men regularly employed on the railroads now are receiving the highest average wages in history, thousands of their fellow workers are laid off, and the investors are receiving next to nothing as a return on the savings they have put into the railroads."

Labor "To Fight It Out."

Whitney said the brotherhood would not offer a compromise plan. "The unions are prepared to fight this matter out and we will give no ground," he said.

"Employés are entitled to a living wage even if the railroads are unable to pay a penny of interest on their bonded indebtedness or dividends," Whitney added. "Our men are already underpaid, and we won't agree to any compromise."

Railroad officials have estimated the proposed reduction would cut their operating expenses by $250,000,000, and assert it is necessary because of a steady decrease in earnings and higher operating costs and fixed charges.

Sixteen other railway unions represented by the Railway Labor Executives' association are scheduled to open conferences with the carriers committee tomorrow. In the event the parley between the carriers' committee and the brotherhood is not concluded today, their sessions will be held in the mornings and the meetings with the Railway Labor Executives' group will be held in the afternoon only, Enochs said.

Milwaukee Is Testing Coil Spring Trucks

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 18.—[Special.]—The science of railroading was advanced today by the Milwaukee road. Using a five car train as a test laboratory, experiments were made with a new type truck for passenger cars and a new car was given its first trial.

One of the cars in the train was a stainless steel Pullman built by the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company in Chicago. Improvements in a truck developed by Pullman were under observation during the run.

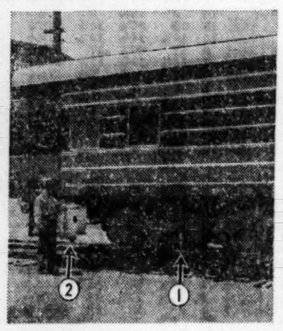

The train was run at speeds of more than 100 miles an hour. It was stopped quickly and it was stopped slowly. The car equipped with the new truck was moved from its position at the rear of the train in a run to New Lisbon to second from the rear.

In each of the five cars men were grouped around electrically operated instruments which told on a tape the riding qualities of each of the cars. Shocks and bumps were recorded and the amount of noise was indicated.

Will Reduce Costs.

At the end of the run K. F. Nystrom, mechanical assistant to the chief operating officer of the road, said "I am satisfied with this new truck, which will increase the comfort of passengers and cut down railroad operating costs."

There are still some adjustments to be made in the new truck, but

Newly developed truck which was tested yesterday by the Milwaukee road. There are 28 coil springs in the truck. They are hidden by the wheels and the framework of the truck. No. 1 points to snubber, or shock absorber, such as is used on motor trucks. No. 2 points to well from which observers watched action of springs during yesterday's test run from Milwaukee to New Lisbon, Wis.

Nystrom explained that it has been proved that it will work.

Looking at the truck casually one would not notice any great change from present conventional trucks. This truck is different, however, because all its resiliency is provided by coil springs. The elliptical spring is gone. Each truck contains twenty-eight coil springs in six nests. There is a levelizing bar to keep the car on an even position. And there is a large hydraulic shock absorber, such as is used on the larger motor trucks, to take up the shock. Again the railroads have gone to their chief competitor, the automobile, for an improvement.

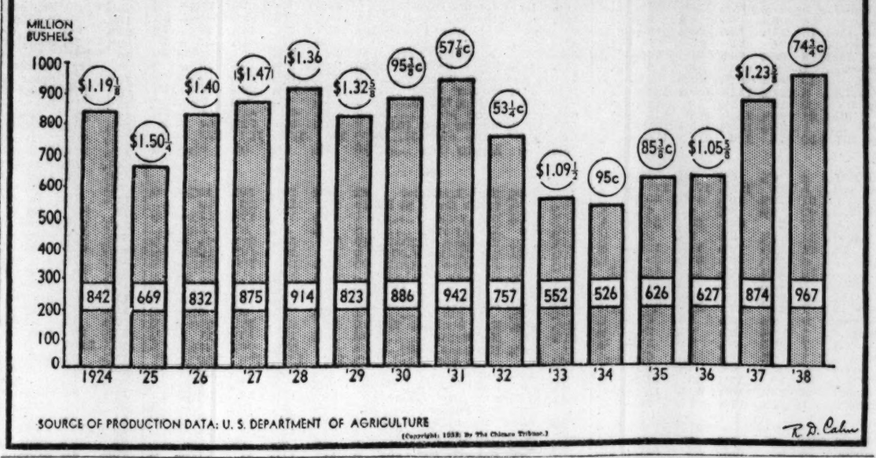

May Use Heavier Springs.

On the west bound triy to New Lisbon the car with the new type trucks rode easily and quietly, but at the higher speeds there was some knocking. Nystrom explained that heavier springs would probably have to be used. After the car had been placed farther forward in the train the knocking almost disappeared.

The newly developed truck is to be placed on sixty-one passenger cars being built by the Milwaukee road in its Milwaukee shops. The new cars weigh but 93,800 pounds each, as contrasted with 140,000 pounds for an old car of similar size. The new type trucks weigh about 29,000 pounds.

Asks Security Dealers Form National Unit

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—"A strong national association" is what the Securities and Exchange commission has in mind for the over-the-counter investment field under the Maloney act. William O. Douglas, chairman of the commission, made this known in a letter answering an inquiry by Wallace H. Fulton, director of the investment bankers' conference.

W. O. Douglas.

Douglas said the commission would encourage the development of the regional associations such as have already been organized in various parts of the country, but that ultimately he hoped they would either merge or affiliate in some way with a national association.

The correspondence, made public today, represented the first formal statement by Douglas as to the hopes of the commission since passage of the act for "self-regulation" of the over-the-counter investment business.

Douglas Outlines Policy.

"We feel that the best form of organization would be a strong national association, truly representative, including the small as well as the large elements in the business," Douglas said in part. "It seems to us that a strong national association can best deal adequately and effectively with the important questions which will arise under the statute; and cope effectively with the problems of an industry which is truly national rather than local in character.

"In working towards the formation of such a national association, we believe, however, that the organization of informal local or regional groups can be most helpful. We do not at this time know whether these local or regional groups will emerge finally as affiliated associations or whether they will merely be local or regional parts of a strong national organization.

Foresees National Organization.

"We feel that the local or regional groups that have been organized and that are being organized should remain sufficiently flexible, so that when the form of a national organization is finally decided upon they can then undertake to merge themselves into the national association; to remain as integral, regional parts of the national association; or to become affiliated associations of the national association.

"Meanwhile, they can make a most important contribution in working with and advising us and in helping us chart the course of action for full organization of the industry under the statute. In this sense we want to work from the ground up, so as to cover all aspects of the problem. At the same time, we hope that plans for perfecting a national organization will continue."

THIS WEEK'S STEEL RATE IS THE HIGHEST SINCE NOV. 15, 1937

More steel will be produced in the nation's mills this week than in any other week in the last eight months, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday. Ingot production is scheduled to rise to 36.4 per cent of the industry's theoretical capacity, the highest rate since the week of Nov. 15, 1937.

This represents a gain of 4.1 points from a week ago, when the scheduled rate was 32.3 per cent of capacity. Two weeks ago output was down to 22.4 per cent, partly because of the July 4 shutdown. A month ago the indicated rate was 28 per cent of capacity.

Production in the Chicago district will be stepped up to approximately 35 per cent of capacity. Largely responsible for the increase is the Southern Railway company's release of orders for 75,000 tons of steel for construction of more than 5,000 freight cars. Chicago producers estimated yesterday that about half of the steel will be made here.

The structural steel business, which has improved gradually in recent weeks, has turned sharply upward. Recently announced projects will require about 50,000 tons of steel.

REORGANIZATION PLAN FOR R-K-O GIVEN APPROVAL

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—George W. Alger, special master appointed by the federal court in the proposed reorganization of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation, today closed the hearings and approved the reorganization plan.

Alger announced to counsel for various parties that in approving the plan he would offer four amendments in his report to be submitted to Federal Judge William Bondy.

The amendments are:

1. Both classes of stock, preferred and common, are to have cumulative voting privileges.

2. Present debenture holders will be entitled to one share of preferred and five of common, or they may take one and four-tenths of preferred for each $100 debenture held. This was optional.

3. The Atlas corporation, proponent of the amended plan, has agreed to underwrite the new stock. The referee demands a written agreement to this effect.

4. If an issue of new debentures is desired, the corporation must get the consent of 50 per cent of the preferred stockholders.

Offer $500,000 to Settle Part of Fox Bankruptcy

Atlantic City, N. J., July 18.—[Special.]—Mrs. Eva Fox, wife of the former motion picture magnate, William Fox, today offered to pay $500,000 to settle one phase of the $9,535,261 bankruptcy in which her husband is involved. As a condition of payment, Mrs. Fox asks the "recapture of assets" suit be withdrawn against All-Continent corporation, a Fox holding company. She agrees, however, to withdraw an estimated $41,000,000 of the more than $55,000,000 of creditors' claims against the bankrupt estate.

Berlin Stocks Slump; Worst in Hitler Era

(Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.)

BERLIN, July 18.—[Special.]—German stock exchanges today suffered their worst day since Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler came to power. Despite rigid control, prices tumbled 4 to 6 points, and in extreme cases as much as 9 points, in what some German newspapers called a "sensational collapse."

To some in financial circles "black Monday" began to look very much like the "black Friday" of May 13, 1927.

Today's officially recorded slump tells only part of the tale. Simultaneously, as one contributing factor in the collapse, it was revealed that Germany's foreign trade continues to shrink steadily and that exports from greater Germany, including Austria, are now far less than exports from the old part of the reich alone just preceding the annexation of Austria last spring.

Foreign Trade Shows Loss.

German's total foreign trade deficit the first half of this year amounted to around $700,000, compared with a surplus of $770,000 in the corresponding period last year.

These new developments are taken to indicate that although German economy is still running to capacity production and although Nazi spokesmen declare that Germany is crisis proof because it has made itself independent of world economy, economic law nevertheless is beginning to assert itself.

Rising labor costs, rising taxes and growing governmental control are among numerous factors which have impaired industry's profitableness, making stock values doubtful.

In addition, heavy Jewish liquidations, caused by the government's drive to Aryanize business, have contributed to the slump in stocks.

The strained relations between Germany and Czechoslovakia were among the immediate causes contributing to today's pessimism.

DOLLAR GAINS STRENGTH.

The dollar advanced in terms of most European currencies yesterday in foreign exchange dealings. Renewed offerings of the pound drove the British unit down ⅝ of a cent to $4.92½, another new low for the year or longer.

Dealers attributed the demand for American money in part to the transfer of funds to this country for use in the stock market.

French francs closed 0.00 3-16 of a cent lower at 2.76 5-16 cents and the Netherlands guilder eased 0.03 of a cent to 55.01 cents. The Belgian belga and the Swiss franc each lost 0.01 of a cent.

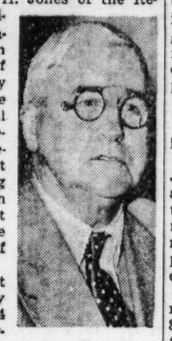

400 Men Go Back to Work at Glass Factory in Ohio

Toledo, O., July 18.—[Special.]—Four hundred workmen returned to work at the Rossford plant of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company today. Most of them had been laid off April 1. Seven hundred now are employed at the plant, which is operating at 50 per cent of normal capacity.

JONES WARNS BANKS TO WIDEN BUSINESS LOANS

Charges Credit Need Is Not Being Met.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation called upon the bankers of the country today to make more industrial loans. He also reiterated his recent statement that "if banking is to remain in private hands it must meet the credit needs of the country."

Jesse H. Jones.

Jones said that from February through July 14 the RFC authorized 2,001 business and industrial loans aggregating $85,344,788 and that banks participated in only 302 of them totaling $11,483,444.

"This is not enough loan participation, either in number of loans, or in amount," he said. He made public a copy of a letter he sent to the directors and managing officers of every state and national bank in the country.

Cites Controler's Regulations.

Jones called their attention to the recent regulations of the controler of the currency covering investment securities and the uniform bank examination procedure adopted by federal agencies and certain state authorities.

"The controler's regulations for investment securities provide a convenient method for making time loans in bond, or serial note, form to business and industry," he said. "They also provide a convenient method of making loans that may be participated in by correspondent banks or the RFC."

Jones also called the bankers' attention to the growth of finance companies and cited comparative figures to show their greater net profit than that of banks. He said banks could render such service at lower rates of interest than finance companies and at a good profit to themselves.

"Good Business Morals."

Jones reminded bankers that banks themselves are "quick to notice" when a business man "lets his competitor get ahead of him." He said he was not suggesting that banks make unsound loans, but added that "in good business morals a bank should not accept the deposit account of a business, however small, unless it is willing to accord that business credit accommodations reasonably within the requirements of the business when they can be safely extended, even though it requires a little extra trouble to do so."

The RFC head charged that "entirely too many" banks have not realized changing credit requirements and added that "waiting for prospective borrowers, who are often reluctant to apply for loans because of fear they will be turned down, is not preserving the bank's pace in our national life."

Treasury Financing Cost Rises to .14 Per Thousand

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—The cost to the treasury of short term borrowing rose today for the third consecutive week. The treasury sold $100,000,000 of 91 day treasury bills for an average price of $99.986, making the cost 14 cents per thousand dollars. This compared with 10 cents last week and 3 cents three weeks ago. Today's rate was equivalent to borrowing money at interest of .054 per cent.

Caterpillar Co. Has $444,515 Loss in June

The Caterpillar Tractor company yesterday reported a loss of $444,515 for June. Although earnings had been less than comparable 1937 profits in every 1938 month, June was the first month in which the company showed a los. Net profit in June, 1937, was $1,209,050, and in May of this year was $330,508. Sales last month of $3,677,564 compared with sales of $6,908,316 in June of last year.

A partial explanation of unprofitable operations in June was the cut in prices of tractors and Diesel engines made effective June 20. The reductions were from 7.5 to 14 per cent on tractors and from 8.5 to 23.33 per cent on Diesel engines.

Heacock Tells of Refunds.

B. C. Heacock, president, said in issuing the earnings report:

"The net sales and net profits for June have been reduced by the amounts refunded and to be refunded to distributors and dealers for price reductions on tractors and engines made effective June 20, 1938, and applicable to their unsold inventories on that date."

Caterpillar's profit for the first six months was $1,132,614, against $6,302,875 in the first half of 1937. Sales for the period were $24,182,661, against $38,151,249.

Profits of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. in the second quarter were higher than in the first quarter, but were much less than in the second quarter of 1937, a preliminary statement showed yesterday.

Du Pont Earns 71 Cents a Share.

Indicated earnings for the June quarter were equal to 71 cents a common share, compared with 65 cents in the preceding three months and $2.07 a share in the June, 1937, quarter, when the company earned $23,823,000. For the first half of this year, per share earnings were $1.36 on the common stock against $3.41 in the first six months of 1937.

The Glenn L. Martin company reported for the first half of 1938 net income of $1,372,600, or $1.46 a share. This compares with the net income of $526,307, or 61 cents a share in the six months ended June 30, 1937. Second quarter net income increased to $744,037, or 79 cents a share, from $186,838, or 20 cents a share, in the second 1937 quarter.

Among other companies reporting yesterday, Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., showed a drop in profits for the thirteen weeks to May 28. Lower second quarter profits, compared with 1937 results, were reported by Cream of Wheat corporation, United Biscuit Company of America, and the Sutherland Paper company.

U. S. Pipe Profits Lower.

United States Pipe and Foundry company reported a drop in earnings for the first half of 1938. Lower profits for the first six months also were made by Signode Steel Strapping company, Lynch corporation, and Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron company.

Warner Brothers in the thirteen weeks to May 28 had an indicated net profit of $458,147, or 9 cents a common share, against $1,520,643, or 38 cents a share, in the corresponding 1937 period. For the thirty-nine weeks to May 28, the company's earnings amounted to $3,282,765, against $5,561,032 in the thirty-nine weeks to May 29, 1937.

Cream of Wheat Net $120,511.

Net profit for the June quarter of Cream of Wheat corporation slipped to $120,511 or 20 cents a share from $299,064 or 50 cents a share in the preceding quarter. This compared with profit of $202,754 or 34 cents a share in the June, 1937, quarter. For the first half of the year, the company earned 70 cents a share against 97 cents in the first six months of 1937.

United Biscuit's consolidated net income for the second quarter was $221,545 against $267,161 in the comparable 1937 period. This brought the six months' profit to $459,767 or 91

LAST HOUR RUSH BOOSTS STOCKS TO NEW HIGHS

Steels, Motor Issues Lead Rally.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 18.—A closing hour buying rush lifted stock market prices fractions to 3 points today. Many issues reached new peaks for the year. Before the late rally the list had displayed sluggish tendencies.

Trading increased with the spurt, the day's turnover reaching 1,557,330 shares, compared with 627,270 on Saturday.

The American Iron and Steel institute's prediction of a rise in steel operations this week spurred buying in the steel shares, which led the upturn.

Industrial shares again assumed leadership of the market, with demand for steel, motor, copper, rubber, and merchandising monopolizing the tape at times. In the last hour the ticker was three to four minutes behind trading on the floor.

U. S. Steel Up 2¼.

In the steels, United States Steel common and Bethlehem were leaders, rising 2¼ and 1⅝ points respectively.

United States Rubber common was one of the most active issues of the day and spurted 2¾ points to 42⅜, a new high. The preferred aso made a new high with a gain of 3½ points.

Chrysler closed up 2⅜ points, slipping slightly from a new high for this year. General Motors, the day's volume leader, contributed a gain of 1¼ points to 41⅜, a new top.

Merchandising issues were paced by Montgomery Ward, up nearly 2 points, and Sears Roebuck, which spurted 3¼ points.

Rail Group Trails.

Several rail shares made good gains, but on the whole the group was overshadowed by the industrial section. Among the better actors were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, and Great Northern. Gains for these issues ranged between 1 and 2 points.

Public utility issues registered small fractional gains for the most part.

Chemicals worked 1 and 2 points higher, although Allied had trouble getting away from its previous final. Heavy machinery shares showed gains of 2 points or more, with Case, Allis Chalmers, General Electric, and Westinghouse among the favorites.

Aviations came in for modest support. Such leaders as Douglas, Boeing, United Aircraft, and Glen Martin were able to net fractions.

JUNE BUILDING AWARDS SECOND BEST THIS YEAR

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Building contracts awarded in the thirty-seven states east of the Rocky mountains in June constituted the largest dollar volume for any month thus far in 1938, F. W. Dodge corporation reported today.

The total was $167,485,000, an increase over May of 4 per cent. Compared with June, 1937, however, the total was 23 per cent lower. Residential contracts aggregated $85,682,000, an amount 3 per cent ahead of May and only 8 per cent behind June a year ago.

"Since June, 1937, had the second largest residential contract volume of any month in that year," the corporation stated, "the record of June, 1938, indicates continuous, though gradual, upward progress."

HOLLAND SEIZES SHIP CARRYING MEXICAN OIL

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, July 18.—(AP)—The Swedish tanker Lundgren, carrying oil from Mexico's expropriated foreign wells, was seized today at the port of Hansweert. The cargo was held at the request of the Bataafsche Petroleum company, a subsidiary of the Royal Dutch Shell interests.

The Bataafsche company, not recognizing the legality of the Mexican oil expropriation of last March 18, contended the oil still was the property of the Mexican Eagle Oil company, another Shell subsidiary.

Declaring the company held claims against the Mexican Eagle company, Bataafsche officials insisted they had the right to demand seizure of the cargo to satisfy the claims. The Lundgren, with the tanker Mariana, sailed from Mexico late in June under sealed orders. The cargo of gasoline was believed destined for Germany.

The shipments, it was believed, were in connection with an agreement by the New York brokerage firm of W. F. Davis & Co. with the Mexican government for the purchase of $10,000,000 worth of oil expropriated by Mexico from her $400,000,000 foreign-owned oil interests.

Westinghouse July Profit Sharing Bonus 3 Per Cent

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 18.—[Special.]—The profit sharing bonus for all workers in the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company in July has been set at 3 per cent, compared with 5 per cent in June and 1 per cent in May, the company announced today. The profit sharing is based on the company's average earnings in the preceding three months.

EXCHANGE, SEC OFFICIALS MEET AT ROUND TABLE

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Officials of the Securities and Exchange commission and the New York Stock exchange held another round table talk today. The conferences recently were launched by William O. Douglas, SEC chairman, and William Martin, Exchange president.

Tenative plans for establishment of a central depository for the stock exchange, as recommended by Douglas, were considered. The conferees also reviewed progress of the move for segregation of broker dealer functions in the exchange. The latter proposal also came from the SEC.

Present at the conference besides Douglas and Martin were Commissioner John W. Hanes, who shortly will retire to become assistant secretary of the treasury; Ganson Purcell, director of the SEC trading division; James J. Caffrey, SEC regional administrator and several stock exchange governors.

R. Hoe Calls Stockholders to Act on Subsidiary's Sale

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Stockholders of R. Hoe & Co., printing machinery manufacturer, today were called to a special meeting Aug. 17 to consider a proposal to sell the company's English subsidiary. The subsidiary is R. Hoe & Co., Ltd., and the tentative buyer is R. W. Crabtree & Sons, Ltd. of Leeds, England.

WARNS CUTTING OF STAFS WON'T REMOVE JOB TAX

Employers who have recently been cutting their forces to less than eight workers to avoid payment of the state unemployment compensation tax probably will be disappointed, Dr. Peter T. Swanish said yesterday. Dr. Swanish is commissioner of the Illinois unemployment compensation division.

The state tax, he explained, is due from any employer who has had more than seven workers on his pay roll on one day of each of 20 different weeks [or more] since Jan. 1, 1937. The payment for this quarter of 2.7 per cent on pay rolls is due July 31. One per cent per month will be added for delinquency.

Benefit payments to workers under the state unemployment compensation law will begin July 1, 1939.

New York Bonds.

New York, July 18.—(AP)—The bond market moved upward today in most groups. Brisk buying toward the end, as the stock market was strengthening, developed especially in rails.

The Associated Press index registered a 1938 high in the industrial division, and gains were shown also in rails, utilities, and foreigns. The low yield section was off a bit.

Rails which gained a point or more included Alleghany stamped 5s of '50 at 28¼; Illinois Central 4¾s at 40; New York Central 5s at 63⅞, and Nickel Plate 4½s at 40. Alleghany 5s of '49 dropped a point to 63.

Substantial buying of Cuba 5½s stood out in the foreign division, sending the price up 1½ to 73½. German 5½s, fairly active, dropped a point to 24. Japan 6½s were 1 higher at 72¼.

MEMBER BANKS INCREASE LOANS TO BUSINESS MEN

Rise Is Second in Last Three Weeks.

A small increase was reported yesterday in the amount of loans made by the member banks of the federal reserve system to aid business. The report was contained in the weekly statement of the federal reserve board on member bank conditions in 101 leading cities.

The increase amounted to 6 million dollars and it brought to a total of 3 billion 231 million dollars the amount of such loans outstanding on July 13. In the week ended July 6 there was a decline of 56 millions and in the week ended June 29 there was a moderate increase. Prior to that increase loans made to business had declined for 21 successive weeks.

Indicative of Business Trend.

Increases during two of the last three weeks may mean that the long downward movement has been slowed, if not halted. Economists watch the rise and fall of business loans as an indication of the business trend. When business is active it must have money to finance its activity and the demand for loans grows. When business is slow, however, business men have a reduced amount of trade to finance and consequently their need for loans declines.

Bank holdings of obligations of the federal government showed a small increase. The direct obligations of the federal government increased 3 million dollars to 7 billion 730 million. Securities fully guaranteed by the government increased 6 million to 1 billion 505 million.

Demand deposits showed an increase of 193 million dollars and time deposits decreased 20 millions.

Investors' Guide

Wilson & Co.

Investors' Guide: Please tell me something about Wilson & Co. and its dividend record, particularly on the preferred stock.—H. R. B.

Answer: Wilson & Co., third largest American meat packer, sells meat and meat products, hides, wool, fertilizer, soap, curled hair, gelatin, and various other byproducts of the packing industry. Poultry, butter, eggs, and cheese also are distributed.

Business is world-wide. Principal domestic packing plants are located in Chicago, New York, Los Angeles, Kansas City, Columbus, Ga., and six other cities, all in the middle west. Smaller packing units, cheese plants, creameries, curled hair plants, ice plants, and other units are located in various other cities. Recently the Omaha, Neb., plant of the Dodd Packing company was acquired. Foreign plants are in New Zealand, Australia, and South America.

Wilson does not issue interim statements but an idea of present trend of profits was given when directors on June 28 omitted the preferred dividend due at this time. A stated policy of the company is to pay dividends only from current earnings. Omission of the dividend was believed to reflect accumulated losses of the first eight months of the fiscal year, which began Nov. 1, 1937. Only 75 cents, instead of the regular $1.50 was declared on the preferred in March.

Profits were cut in 1937 by a shortage of hogs during the second half of the fiscal year and by the break in meat prices in the late summer of 1937. The fall in prices resulted in heavy inventory losses. The earnings record in recent fiscal years follows:

1937	$283,000,000	$2,515,216	$0.29
1936	253,000,000	4,070,934	1.06
1935	223,000,000	4,122,224	1.09
1932	143,000,000	51,336	*.22
1929	310,000,000	2,304,592	*8.06

Funded debt is about $24,628,500. There are 323,246 shares of $6 cumulative no par preferred stock and 1,993,376 shares of no par common outstanding. Heavy dividend arrearages on the old 7 per cent preferred and the old class A stock were removed under a recapitalization plan adopted in 1935.

The last common payment was a 12½ cent disbursement last December. Previously the common had paid 50 cents a year and the preferred the regular $6 since the recapitalization plan was adopted. Total assets were $90,011,035 on Oct. 31, 1937. Current assets were $43,558,202 and current liabilities were $11,591,724.

THREE CARRIERS REPORT SMALLER LOSSES FOR MAY

But Others' Deficits Continue to Grow.

Yesterday's railroad earnings reports for May showed mixed results. Smaller net losses for the month than for May, 1937, were reported by the Union Pacific, the Chicago and North Western, and the Illinois Central. Larger losses than a year ago were shown by the Southern Pacific, the Wabash, and the Chicago Great Western.

The Kansas City Southern and Delaware and Hudson railroads showed increased net income for May over May of last year.

Union Pacific's net loss of $63,450 for May, compared with a loss of $192,489 for the same month last year. May operations left the road's net income for the first five months of the year at $643,271, against $350,597 in the corresponding 1937 period.

North Western Loss $1,909,459.

The Chicago and North Western reported a loss for May of $1,909,459. This compared with a loss in May, 1937, of $1,944,234. Loss for the five months totaled $9,992,414, against $8,090,798 in the like 1937 period.

Illinois Central's May net loss was $439,726, bringing the five months' loss to $1,514,913. In 1937, the road had a May loss of $605,356, and lost $2,158,502 for the five months.

Much heavier losses for May and the first five months were shown by the Southern Pacific system. The May loss of $1,318,324, compared with loss of $763,193 in May, 1937. Five months' loss was $11,810,980, against $916,088 in the first five months of 1937.

The Wabash had a loss of $520,703 in May, against $381,232 in May, 1937. the Chicago Great Western's net loss of $170,172 for the month, compared with loss of $141,746 in the same 1937 month.

K. C. Southern Net $52,761.

Net income of the Kansas City Southern railroad in May amounted to $52,761, against $50,032 in May of last year. This brought net income for the five months to $149,329, or 71 cents a share on the 4 per cent noncumulative preferred stock, compared with $89,916, or 43 cents a share in the like 1937 period.

Kansas City Southern also reported yesterday its net operating income, before fixed charges, for June. This amounted to $254,693, against $249,407 in June, 1937.

The Delaware and Hudson Railroad corporation showed a profit in May, but had a loss for the first five months of this year. The road's net income of $87,467 in May, compared with $36,041 earned in the same 1937 month. This reduced net loss for the first five months to $711,726, compared with net income of $207,779 in the corresponding 1937 period.

EXPECT NICKEL PLATE TO ASK NOTE EXTENSION

Cleveland, July 18.—(AP)—The New York, Chicago, and St. Louis railroad—Nickel Plate, an important 1,705-mile link in the Chesapeake & Ohio system, is expected to ask holders next week for a three-year extension of its $15,000,000 issue of six per cent unsecured notes, due Oct. 1.

In 1932 and 1935, the C. & O. bought up dissenter's notes totaling $3,583,750 but it is believed unwilling to spend much more to gain another extension for its "little sister." If the line defaulted it might be forced into reorganization.

Directors of both roads meeting here tomorrow are expected to take formal action to be announced when plans are ready for submission to the holders. Nickel Plate was $1,662,184 in the red in the first five months this year, compared with $1,140,099 surplus the same period of 1937.

Egg Futures Lower; Butter Contracts Are Unchanged

October egg futures slipped ⅛ cent a dozen yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange, finishing at 24¼ cents. Cash prices were unchanged to ¼ cent a dozen lower. Butter contracts were unchanged, Novembers closing at 26¼ cents. Purchases by the Dairy Products Marketing association, federally financed price pegging agency, totaled 158,000 pounds at Chicago and 252,000 pounds in other markets. Spot butter was unchanged to ¼ cent lower.

Federal Home Loan Bank Loans Are Higher in June

The Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago yesterday reported advances to member savings, building and loan associations in Illinois and Wisconsin during June totaled $2,304,000. This was a gain of 14 per cent compared with June, 1937, and a new high for the month. Advances for the first six months of the year totaled $4,754,929, which was less than for any corresponding period since 1935.

FORMER ARMOUR RESIDENCE SOLD IN LAKE FOREST

Lolita Armour Mitchell and the Continental-Illinois National Bank and Trust company, trustees, yesterday sold the residence at 295 Vine street, Lake Forest, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Carney for $50,000 cash. Hart & Shaw of Lake Forest coöperated with Hogan & Farwell, Chicago, in representing the buyers. The trust department of the Continental-Illinois National represented the sellers.

The property, comprising a twelve room brick residence and a smaller residence for servants, occupies a three acre tract at the southwest corner of Vine street and Western avenue. It was occupied for several years by Mrs. J. Ogden Armour after she moved from Mellody farm, and prior to completion of her new home on Green Bay road opposite the Onwentsia Country club.

On Dec. 16, 1935, Mrs. Armour placed the property in trust for her daughter, Lolita, wife of John J. Mitchell. The new owners will remodel the house from plans by William Jameson, and move in on Oct. 1. Mr. and Mrs. Carney now live at 1320 North State street. Carney is an attorney with offices at 134 South La Salle street.

SUE TO PREVENT TAX ON EXCHANGE MEMBERSHIPS

The right to assess taxes on memberships in stock exchanges as personal property was disputed in Circuit court here yesterday. Two suits were filed on behalf of twenty-nine members of the New York and Chicago Stock exchanges against County Assessor John S. Clark. The plaintifs, all residents of Cook county, ask that a restraining order be issued against the imposition of these taxes for the years 1937 and 1938.

The suits allege that the stock exchanges are coöperative enterprises affording to its members the facilities of a market place where they can quickly and conveniently buy and sell stocks, bonds, and other securities. Memberships in the exchange, the bills relate, merely confer the privilege of dealing with other members on the exchange.

Therefore, the bill argues, the memberships are not personal property, but personal privileges.

Trade Commission Charges Glass Price Conspiracy

Washington, D. C., July 18.—The federal trade commission has accused four glass companies and two organizations of union glaziers of conspiring to maintain "monopolistic" prices, policies, and sales methods in the St. Louis trade area. One of the things the glass companies had done, the commission charged, was to increase or "load" a bid on a contract for a Public Works administration project by about $14,000. They are alleged to have used this amount to purchase jointly the assets of a competitor.

"Extra Dividend" of Auto Industry.

Technical improvements in the eight years 1929-'37 made it possible for the automobile industry to create an "extra dividend" totaling nearly 2 billion dollars for car purchasers, employés of the industry, and stockholders. This estimate is made by the Automobile Manufacturers' association, to which most of the automobile manufacturing companies belong.

The "extra dividend" represents added values which has been created by the technical strides made by the industry since 1929.

The car buyers' share of the "dividend" is estimated at $738,000,000. It represents the amount by which prices of cars and trucks have been reduced beyond the price parity which existed in 1928 between motor vehicles and all other industrial products. It does not include extra values of increased quality and performance built into cars during the period covered.

Automobile workers during the eight years got $664,000,000 more in wages than they would if their wages merely had equaled the national averages of all industry. Stockholders received $400,000,000 which represented corporate earnings in excess of 6 per cent on the net worth of the industry.

The extra benefits were largely obtained through replacement of expensive processes and inefficient machines and methods by less costly, more productive and better ones, the association said. The better methods and machines were obtained through technical research and engineering experimentation.

COURT EXPLAINS LAW FEE SLASH IN BUILDING CASE

Evan A. Evans, presiding justice of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, yesterday issued a supplemental opinion concerning fees to lawyers who handled litigation involving the 163 West Adams Building corporation. This formerly was the Midland club. In the opinion Justice Evans declared that his attention was called to a "wrong impression" in newspaper articles of July 2 which stated that fees of Attorney Hughes and the law firm of Taylor, Miller, Busch & Boyden had been cut 75 per cent.

"Nothing could be further from my desire than to do injustice to attorneys who have coöperated so generously with the court to secure a reorganization of this property," Judge Evans said.

He explained that the original $100,000 fee was set on the assumption that the building had a value of $3,250,000.

"Later it was discovered that because of the unfortunate construction of the building the commercial value was lessened," Judge Evans continued. He said the attorneys then informed the court that regardless of their legal rights they would let the court fix a fee it thought reasonable. Judge Evans allowed Hughes and the law firm $25,500.

ATLAS FILES NEW PLAN TO REVAMP UTILITIES POWER

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—Atlas corporation filed with the Securities and Exchange commission today a new plan of reorganization for Utilities Power and Light corporation, Chicago.

The plan, a substitute for a previous proposal, provides:

1. Payment in cash for all claims ahead of debentures.

2. Debenture holders to be paid pro rata: Cash for accrued interest, as much more cash as the court finds the utility can pay without impairing work capital, new 4½ per cent ten year debentures equal to 40 per cent of claims, and 2,000,000 shares of new common stock.

3. Present stockholders to receive new common stock in amount of their equity as determined by court. If they have no equity they would be permitted to buy new common stock at a price equivalent to value placed on new common stock in distribution to debenture holders.

The commission called a hearing on the proposal for Aug. 8.

SHOE COMPANY HEAD SEES END OF 'RECESSION'

Binghamton, N. Y., July 18.—(AP)—George F. Johnson, chairman of the board of directors of the Endicott-Johnson corporation, shoe manufacturers, informed the company's 20,000 employés today: "We are running out of the so-called recession into normal conditions."

"We are not expecting a boom," he said. "We do not want any more booms that make us all act foolish. We would like to have something like reasonably steady and normal conditions, and this, we feel, we can rely on for the balance of this year and perhaps well into next year."

Mr. Johnson announced a "decided improvement" in the concern's orders and said "last week's orders were the largest in number of dozens we have had in a year."

FEWER CHECKS ARE CASHED IN CHICAGO AREA

The dollar value of checks cashed in the Chicago federal reserve district—the seventh—showed a decline for the week ended July 13, compared with the preceding week and the corresponding 1937 week. This was shown in the federal reserve bank's report yesterday of debits to individual accounts [checks cashed] in 160 banks in 41 leading clearing house cities of the district.

Debits for the week to July 13 were $986,953,000, a drop of 7.1 per cent from the preceding week, when the total was $1,062,332,000. As compared with the corresponding 1937 week, when the total was $1,218,951,000, the drop was 19 per cent.

IN Beauty Culture

Your success in Beauty Culture, your future earnings, artistry, technique, ability to please and make the most money out of customers will depend largely IN THE KIND OF TRAINING YOU RECEIVE NOW. With its 67 years of knowing how to teach BURNHAM'S knows exactly how to develop that degree of expert skill that fits you for exclusive shops where operators earn $50 a week up.

We Cannot Supply Demand for Burnham Graduates

Right now we have more positions than we can fill. Shop owners want BURNHAM graduates. They know BURNHAM graduates are superbly trained to please patrons and get them to spend more. This ability is due to the unusual, exclusive training methods at BURNHAM'S, where you are also drilled in secrets of beauty shop salesmanship.

INVESTIGATE Why Burnham Training Means Bigger Pay from the Very Start

BURNHAM training means better jobs, bigger earnings. Prestige of being a BURNHAM graduate is priceless. Beauty shop owners know that at BURNHAM'S a girl gets the best. As one of the world's largest beauty schools, BURNHAM'S can afford best teachers and equipment. Beauty shop owners know that at BURNHAM'S girls do every kind of beauty work on living models under personal supervision of experts whose constant watchfulness insures students acquiring the right technique. And they know that the students are also being constantly drilled in beauty shop salesmanship. That's why they want BURNHAM graduates—why we can't meet the demand.

Unbelievably Easy Terms —if you act at once

We must have more students at once to meet the demands of our Beauty Shop friends for more BURNHAM trained operators. Consequently, we're throwing the doors wide open to ambitious girls. Don't let finances hold you back—THEY CAN BE WORKED OUT IF YOU'RE QUALIFIED. Day and evening classes. Before enrolling anywhere, you owe it to yourself to learn how much more Burnham's offers, why more girls enroll with us. To get advantage of the amazing easy term offer, visit us this week any day or any Monday, Wednesday, Friday evening, or phone or mail coupon.
